

WEST IS WARNED

Columbia Professor Declares State Prussianized.

"EAST CANNOT GRASP IDEA"

William M. Sloane Tells Ad Club Tendency on Coast Is to Look to State for All—Says Peace May Not Last.

Germany has one of the worst forms of socialism in the world and Russia has the other extreme brand, neither of which are desirable, and Americans are far more Prussianized than they think in that they are looking to the state now for practically everything which formerly was done through other agencies, according to William M. Sloane, professor of history in Columbia University. He spoke at the noon luncheon of the Portland Ad Club in the Crystal room of the Hotel Benson yesterday.

"Democracy Safe for the World" was the subject upon which the distinguished teacher spoke, and he declared that if the world is to be safe after the close of the war, it is to be a real peace, men and women must begin to think deeply upon world problems.

"It may not be that when peace comes it will be a lasting peace," said Professor Sloane, "but we should remember that the last period of European peace was the longest ever recorded; it lasted a little more than a generation. If we obtain a peace that will last, say, two generations, we shall have done nobly; if one that lasts three, it will be because the world lies panting on its back and cannot get itself together."

"Whatever may come when the arms of the nations are laid aside, democracy is going to be on the defensive, and we must be prepared to see that it is made safe. It often occurs that the bitterness of peace at the close of a war is more bitter than that of war itself, hence we must leave nothing undone to safeguard our ideals.

"We should also be careful in this country, lest we be Prussianized to an extent that will overwhelm us. While you in this Western country have socialized your democracy to an extent which we of the East scarcely can grasp, you have also Prussianized it to a great degree. There is a tendency to look to the state for everything, such as caring for the child, pensions and many such things, which, in reality, are just what the Prussian system has installed in Germany. That is not going to solve our problems and we must beware of it. Then there is that other form of socialism, such as Russia has, which is virtual anarchy; we must take care not to allow our democracy to shift from one extreme to another, and must see that it is kept safe for the whole world."

Trixie Friganza, the vaudeville star, and the Ad Club quartet gave entertaining features during the luncheon.

EX-DRUG CLERK BLAMED

GRAND JURY INDICTS ROBERT MANES FOR MANSLAUGHTER.

Defendant Is Charged With Having Filled Prescription Wrongly, Causing Child's Death.

Robert Manes, formerly employed as clerk by L. H. Schultz, druggist at East Thirteenth street and Spokane avenue, was indicted by the grand jury yesterday for involuntary manslaughter as a result of the death of 4-year-old Rene B. Wright July 25. The specific charge against Manes is that in filling a prescription for Mrs. Call Morahorst, intended for the child, he delivered a box containing morphine and hyocine tablets which he had mislabeled catemol. The poison was administered to the child, who died immediately. A not true bill was returned against Mr. Schultz, Manes' employer. Two indictments were returned against both Bert B. Travis and Moise Shulman. They are charged with a statutory offense and with contributing to the delinquency of a minor. Another indictment charging involuntary manslaughter was reported against H. L. Pannam for the death of Anna Peterson June 22, in an automobile accident.

Other true bills returned by the grand jury yesterday were: W. T. James, larceny of an automobile belonging to the Oregon Humane Society; Jerry Smith, larceny, and John O'Connor, assault with a dangerous weapon. Seven secret indictments and four not true bills were included in the final report of the October grand jury, which was discharged by Presiding Judge Kavanaugh.

TREBLE REFUND IS DENIED

Damage Suit Based on Excessive Rate Charge Won by Company.

Circuit Judge Tucker yesterday denied the defendant in the suits of Roy P. Clark and Emma Cash against the Portland Railway, Light & Power Company, their day of varied damages in treble the amount paid for heat and light service in excess of the rates prescribed by the Public Service Commission. The company at the hearing a month ago offered testimony showing that it revised its schedule of rates as soon as approved by the commission and did not conform to the ruling of the Commission and immediately tendered to patrons so overcharged the excess amounts collected. The court found that the company had not willfully and intentionally overcharged its patrons and for that reason was not liable under the law for the damages sought to be recovered. J. G. Arnold, representing the claimants, whose claims aggregate $48,000, said yesterday the litigation would be taken to the Supreme Court.

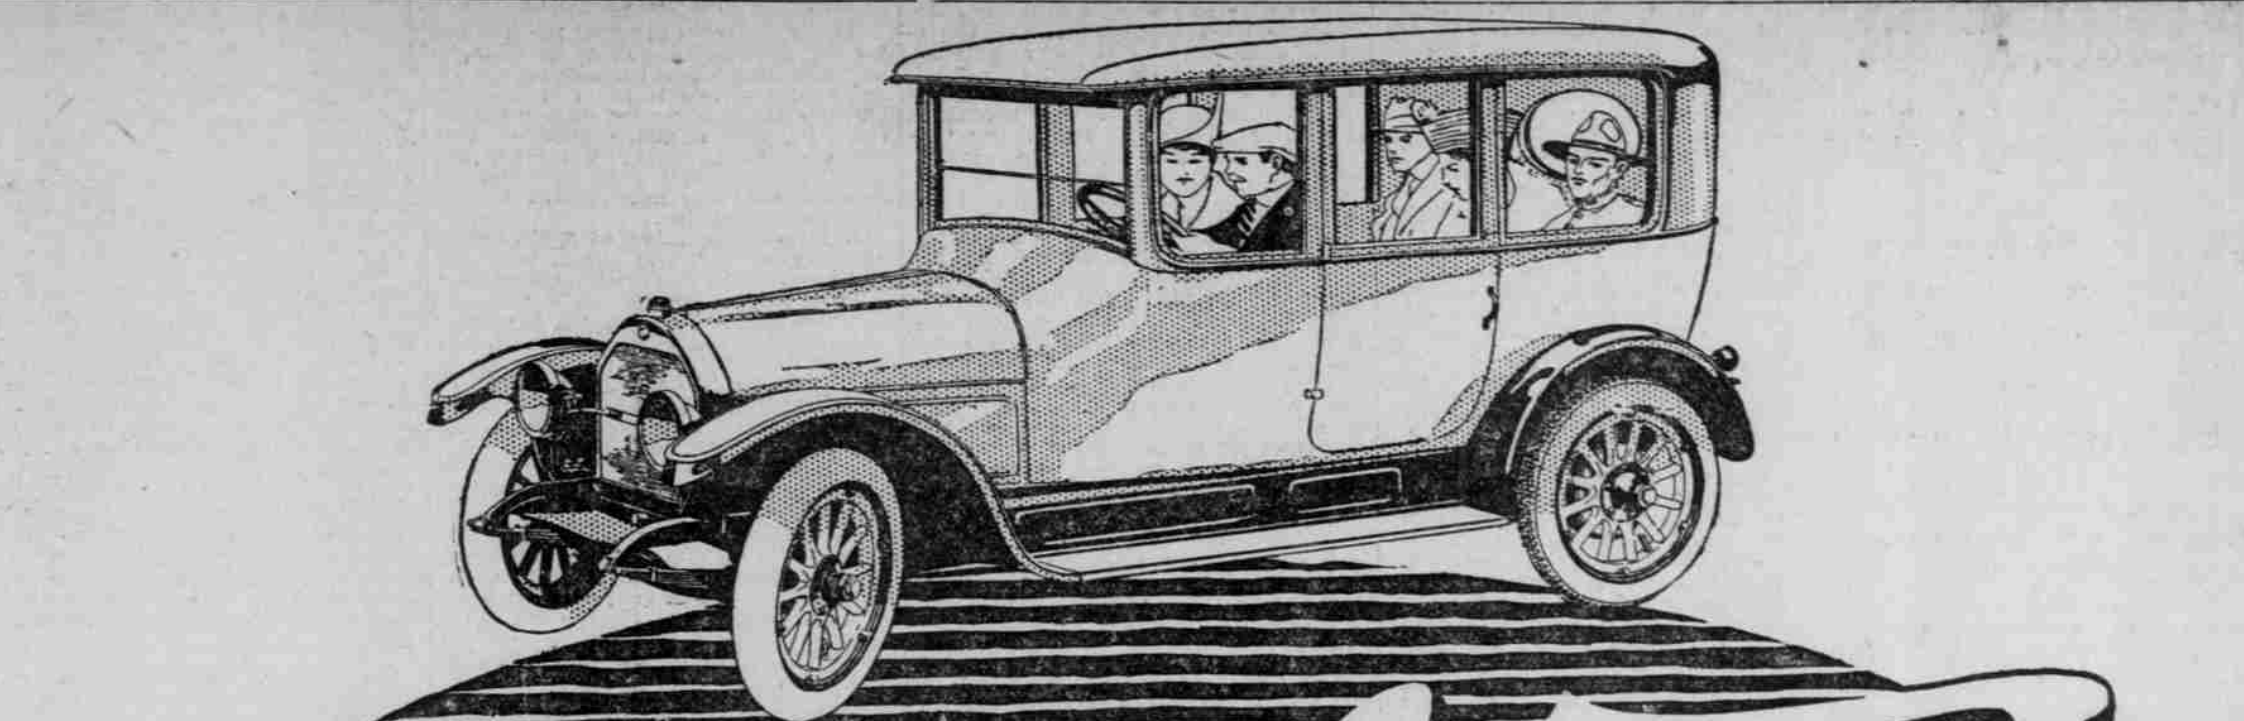

TAXES TO BE EXPLAINED

Chamber of Commerce Attorney Will Dissect Revenue Law.

To have a clear and concise resume and explanatory outline of the war revenue law in its every detail, so that business men and others affected may have questions readily answered concerning this important subject, the executive board of the Portland Chamber of Commerce yesterday assigned this task to its attorney, Chas. A. Bell. At the same time it accepted an offer of Alex McRae to handle the expert accountant features of the statute. An office will be opened in the Chamber of Commerce to accommodate the public within a day or so. The executive board also authorized the president, Henry Ladd Corbett, to appoint a committee to represent the Chamber of Commerce relative to the Ad Club's proposed investigation of the Portland Railway, Light & Power Company's position regarding the appeal of the corporation's president for relief in a financial way. The committee will be named soon.

YES! MAGICALLY! CORNS LIFT OUT WITH FINGERS

You simply say to the druggist man, "Give me a quarter of an ounce of Frezone." This will cost very little but is sufficient to remove every hard or soft corn from one's feet. A few drops of this new ether compound applied directly upon a tender, aching corn should relieve the soreness instantly, and soon the entire corn, root and all, dries up and can be lifted out with the fingers. This new way to rid one's feet of corns was introduced by a Cincinnati man, who says that, while frezone is sticky, it dries in a moment, and simply sh-peels up the corn without inflaming or even irritating the surrounding tissue or skin. Don't let father die of infection or lookjaw from whitening at his corns, but clip this out and make him try it.—Adv.

Gorrell, secretary of the National Cannery Association, on various vital topics pertaining to the canning industry. THE DOCTOR'S ADVICE

The questions answered below are general in character, the symptoms or diseases are given and the answers do not apply in any case of similar nature. Those wishing further advice, free, may address Dr. Lewis Baker, College Bldg., College-Elwood streets, Dayton, Ohio, enclosing self-addressed stamped envelope for reply. Full name and address must be given, but only initials or fictitious names may be used in my replies. The prescriptions can be filled at any well-stocked drug store. Any druggist can order wholesale.

Answer: I think you for your confidence and advise that five grain arbo-line tablets is the reliable obesity medicine, which I always prescribe. In sealed tubes with directions. Any druggist can supply you. James J. asks: "For several months I have not been feeling well. My skin is pale, my tone is low, I have headache, am sleepless, nervous and bothered with chronic constipation. Please help me." Answer: You need a laxative blood-cleansing treatment in the form of three-grain sulphur tablets (not sulphur). Overcome the tendency to constipation and gradually your good health and pure blood will return. "Bloodless" writes: "I sign after my name 'bloodless' because that seems to be my condition. I am pale, thin and chilly all the time. My appetite is lacking, but even when I eat a great deal I do not gain in weight." Answer: I would advise plenty of exercise and a persistent use of three-grain sulphur tablets to increase your blood and flesh. They tend to improve digestion and the proper absorption of nourishment. A gain of a pound or two a week is not unusual. Mrs. F. G. writes: "I hesitate to ask advice as my case is so unusual. In a word, I am tired and worn out all the time. Rest does not refresh me. I have been married over a year and formerly did not know what it was to be tired or nervous. Sometimes I feel hysterical. I fear I will become a nuisance to my husband if this continues." Answer: Your nervous system has been depleted. You need a tonic invigorating medicine that will aid in supplying more food energy to your nerves. Take three-grain cathartic tablets regularly for several months.
