

VICE-PRESIDENT IS PORTLAND'S GUEST

Mr. Marshall Declares Nation Is Loyal United in Support of Country's Leader.

SEES ALL AMERICA DRY

Distinguished Visitor Not so Optimistic Regarding Nation-Wide Suffrage—Honor Guard Entertain Mrs. Marshall.

Vice-President and Mrs. Marshall were Portland's guests yesterday. At noon Mr. Marshall attended the luncheon of the Portland Ad Club and made a patriotic talk. Later he inspected the local shipyards, attended a public reception with Mrs. Marshall at 3:30 o'clock, and at 8 o'clock delivered a war-time lecture on "National Tendencies" before a large audience at the Armory.

Colonel Samuel White, chairman of the Democratic State Central Committee, presided at the Armory meeting and introduced Mr. Marshall, who will speak at Salem tonight.

Mr. and Mrs. Marshall were met at the Union Depot on their arrival from Pendleton yesterday morning by a large number of prominent Democrats of Portland and vicinity, including Will Moore, Collector of Customs; M. A. Miller, Collector of Internal Revenue, and A. F. Fiegel. Others at the depot included S. C. Bratton, president of the Ad Club, and several members of the organization.

Honor Girls Greet Mrs. Marshall. Miss Allis MacMaster, president, and a delegation of members of the Girls Honor Guard received Mrs. Marshall. The visitors were escorted direct to the Multnomah Hotel, where headquarters were maintained for the day.

Previous engagements made it impossible for United States Senator Chamberlain, Governor Withycomb and Mayor George L. Baker to be at the depot and join in receiving Mr. and Mrs. Marshall.

Based on observations and first-hand information gained in his journey across the continent, Mr. Marshall said the people of the country are united and loyally standing with the President in his prosecution of the war, which, he said, could only result in a decisive victory for the allies. Discussing legislation National in character, Mr. Marshall said it would not be long before the Nation will adopt prohibition, but he was not so sure of equal suffrage.

Suffrage Outlook Dismay. "The Senate has passed the prohibition amendment to the constitution and there is no question but that the House also will approve that measure," said the Vice-President. "It will not then be long until it has been ratified by the necessary three-fourths of the states and placed in effect. I do not expect the Susan B. Anthony equal suffrage amendment will be passed by Congress. This prediction is based on the fact that several Senators from the suffrage states are opposed to this particular amendment."

"Of course, I do not have a vote and I am not personally prejudiced against woman suffrage, but I am prejudiced against the equal suffrage law in my own state of Indiana. It enables any foreigner to vote after a residence of one year in this country, regardless of any other qualification."

Petty Bickerings Discarded. "But these are war times and certainly not the time to resort to petty bickerings in the advocacy of any measure or issue on which the people are divided. Nothing should be brought into our National life at this time that will in any way weaken the energies of the country in successfully waging this world war. If I can subordinate my democracy, and if there ever was a rock-ribbed, die-hard Democrat, I claim that distinction, certainly we can all defer needless agitation of inconsequential hobbies until the pending world conflict for democracy has been brought to a victorious end."

For the same reason, Mr. Marshall declined to make any comment on the Mayoralty election in New York City Tuesday.

Marshall Luncheon Patriotic. The luncheon tendered Mr. Marshall by the Portland Ad Club at the Chamber of Commerce was an intensely enthusiastic and patriotic gathering. The capacity of the dining-room, which accommodated 550 persons, was entirely sold for the strictly democratic 50-cents-per-plate feed. Between 100 and 200 men stood about the room and missed their luncheon in order to hear the distinguished visitor.

The formal introduction of Mr. Marshall was made by A. F. Fiegel, who presented the Vice-President as "a true type of the National tendencies in the United States." The presentation of the guest of honor was preceded by singing "America," two selections by the Ad Club Quartet and a number of humorous personal reminiscences of Mr. Marshall by John Douglas, who was a neighbor of the Vice-President when he was practicing law and living at Columbia City, Ind.

Speaker Captures Audience. Mr. Marshall was in a particularly facetious mood and captured his audience from the beginning of his 20-minute talk when he said it was a historical fact that the state of Indiana had furnished "more first-class second-rate men than any other state." At his own expense he related a number of amusing anecdotes associated with his early life in the Hoosier state. He said he lived in that state prior to the "soda water days" and provoked considerable laughter when he said the first confectioner in Columbia City to install a soda water fountain referred to the temperate beverage as entirely harmless, which he designated "sweetened wind."

Referring to the fact that his ancestry on both his father's and his mother's side extended back to the days of the Revolutionary War, Mr. Marshall said it was an occasion of pride for him today to witness the episode, magnificent self-sacrifice, loyalty and devotion of the American people, regardless of politics, to their country, and it has been shown since the declaration of war against Germany last April.

Politics Chat Aside. "Prior to that time I was a Democrat and when this war shall have ended I expect again to be a Democrat," said the speaker. "As I have said, I have been amazed with the response of the American people to the needs and requirements of their country, but I am more pleased to see they have come to a realization of the fact that with every right there goes a responsibility. We are also learning an even better lesson—that there is a vast deal of difference between what we term our rights and our powers, and we are learning to distinguish between them."

"I greet you as fellow-countrymen and from my chief desire to convey to you his deep appreciation for the unflinching loyalty and devotion Oregon has given to the republic. It is my belief that while William of Germany may think he is going forward with God, there is none in this country but knows that William's God is not the one that spoke peace to humanity, but is a cruel and relentless god who has visited death upon his children."

National Administration Cheered. "Let us continue to stand loyally together, eliminating all political and religious differences and dissension. Let the only dissension among us be dissension as to who shall make the greatest sacrifice that the Stars and Stripes of our beloved country will soon float triumphantly over the world."

When the tumult of applause had died down S. C. Bratton, president of the Ad Club, who presided at the luncheon, presented Mr. Marshall with a copy of "The Key to Knowledge," the author of which, Halvor H. Urdahl, is a resident of this city. The gathering dispersed upon giving three deafening cheers for "our National Administration," proposed by Mayor George L. Baker.

From 3:30 to 4:30 o'clock Mr. and Mrs. Marshall held a public reception in the main lobby of the Multnomah Hotel and shook hands with several hundred people. A. F. Fiegel presented the callers to the guests of honor.

"My husband is the only Democratic official in Multnomah County," announced Mrs. W. N. Gatens, as she grasped the hand of the Vice-President. "May our party do better in the next election," was the comment of Mr. Marshall.

Mr. and Mrs. Marshall were the dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Kinney, old-time friends, at their home in Vancouver, Wash., last night.

The entertainment of Mrs. Marshall during the day was looked after by Miss Allis MacMaster, president of the Girls Honor Guard, the other officers and members of the organization and by prominent Democratic women of this city. At noon Mrs. Marshall was the guest of honor at a luncheon at the University Club, given by the Honor Guard. There were no formal addresses, a general informal discussion being participated in by the 36 who attended. Immediately following the luncheon, Mrs. Marshall was escorted to the Hotel Multnomah, where she joined Mr. Marshall for the public reception at 3:30 o'clock.

Upon returning to the Multnomah Hotel yesterday afternoon following the luncheon at the University Club, Mrs. Marshall called at the desk.

"Are Mr. Marshall's rooms open?" she inquired.

"No, madam, not to the public," replied the obliging clerk.

"I am glad to know it, for I am Mrs. Marshall," responded the Vice-President's wife. The clerk on duty had reported for work only an hour before and had not seen Mrs. Marshall since her arrival at the hotel.

One incident happened at the depot yesterday morning that was not included in the day's programme as officially arranged. But it was thoroughly enjoyed by Mr. Marshall and the stalwart representatives of the Democratic faith who had assembled. Just as Mr. Marshall left his train, a strong-lunged male in the vicinity of the depot yards emitted a chorus of brays that was heard for blocks around.

ORIENTAL STATUS LIKED

UNDERSTANDING REGARDING CHINESE SITUATION HELD WISE.

S. Akamatu, Japanese Consul, and Dr. J. H. Wells Felicitate Over American-Nipponese Agreement.

S. Akamatu, Japanese Consul in Portland, and Dr. J. Hunter Wells, recently returned from 22 years' service in Japan, met yesterday and held a congratulatory meeting over the new agreement promulgated between Japan and the United States as regards the policy of the nations in China and the mutual understanding between this country and the Mikado's.

"We both felt extremely gratified that Japan and the United States had formulated a statement of understanding," said Dr. Wells yesterday after the meeting. "After passing 22 years in Japan as a Presbyterian mission worker and as surgeon in the American Gold Mining Company, I was cognizant of certain conditions, and I am glad now to note that the United States officially has recognized Japan's responsibility and obligations as regards China. There is more than at first can be understood in the 'propinquity' of Japan and China, and Mr. Akamatu felt with me that only good will result from the understanding. It is a relief to know also that the spurious statements circulated as concerns the relations of Japan and the United States at last have been branded officially as false."

Dr. Wells for some time was acting

Government physician while carrying on his work with the mission and the mining company in Japan. He was acquainted personally with several members of the Japanese Commission headed by Viscount Ishii, who acted for the Japanese government in the negotiations.

24 Enlist in State Guard. CENTRALIA, Wash., Nov. 7.—(Special.)—Twenty-four recruits, many of them prominent business men, last night enlisted in Company G, Third Regiment, Washington State Guard, bringing the company's enlistment to 31 and thus preventing its being transferred to some other city. The wholesale enlistments were the result of an appeal made to the business men at the noon luncheon of the Commercial Club Monday to support the company.

While the police were searching in vain for Ethel Morse, 17, who, with her 17-year-old sister, Lily, came to this city last night from Roseburg and lost her way, the girl was sleeping peacefully at the home of Mrs. A. Hergert, an employe of the Crystal Laundry. Mrs. Hergert took the girl to the laundry with her yesterday and turned her over to the manager, P. G. Allen, with the explanation that she had found the child wandering about the streets and had taken her home.

Mr. Allen took the girl to his home in his auto and, while Mrs. Allen made her comfortable, he started a search for L. N. Harriman, who, the girls say, is their brother-in-law. Failing in his search, Mr. Allen took the girl to the Y. W. C. A., where the older sister had been taken the night before by Mrs. A. L. West of the association, who found Lily sitting on a bench in the Park blocks.

Officers of the Y. W. C. A. are trying to locate L. N. Harriman, who is supposed to work in a shipyard. They have also communicated with the child's mother and will care for them until word is received from her.

How to get rid of stomach trouble is a problem that confronts thousands of people, many of whom have suffered untold agonies for years without being able to obtain relief. Recently mention has been made in these columns of a wonderfully effective remedy which is being widely prescribed by physicians, and those who still suffer and have given up hope of getting real lasting relief, are interested to learn that many users of this product report almost instant relief after years of suffering and after all other means had failed. The remarkable popularity of this remedy for indigestion, dyspepsia, gastritis, sour stomach, etc., which is known among druggists and by physicians as Bi-nesia, is said to be due to the fact that a teaspoonful of Bi-nesia taken in a little hot water immediately after eating or whenever pain is felt, instantly neutralizes the acid, stops food fermentation and enables the stomach to proceed with painless normal digestion. No matter how long they have suffered or how many remedies they may have tried, dyspeptic and stomach sufferers will be well advised to get a package of Bi-nesia from their druggist and try this simple and inexpensive preparation at once.

IMPORTANT—The Bi-nesia mentioned above is a harmless but wonderfully effective remedy which you can make at home or any druggist can prepare for you by mixing its unique bicarbonates with one ounce magnesium carbonate. If, however, you wish a guarantee of satisfaction of money back, be sure to ask for an original package of Bi-nesia.—Adv.

PRIZES OFFERED CHILDREN

Plans for Juvenile Exhibits at Next County Fair Made.

Juvenile exhibits at the Multnomah County Fair next year will be in charge of County Superintendent of Schools Alderson. They were placed in his charge yesterday at a meeting in his office attended by H. A. Lewis, president of the County Fair Association; E. L. Thorpe, secretary, and A. F. Miller and A. J. Krueger, a committee named at a recent meeting of the fair board to make suitable arrangements with Superintendent Alderson to handle children's exhibits.

It was decided that wide latitude will be given to exhibits by children at the next fair, and prizes will be offered for exhibits of corn, potatoes, school gardening, poultry, pigs, sheep, judging of dairy herds, baking, home canning, sewing and food preparation, as well as handicraft work. Prizes to the amount of $244 will be given.

Three things you want

Style, comfort and economy in your coat

There's style in the military touches in our young men's overcoats; there's comfort in the easy and free draping; there's economy in the long wearing all-wool and in the sturdiness of fine tailoring.

Ask the merchant who sells our clothes to show you the many style variations in our overcoats; then ask to see the label—it's sewed in and means absolute satisfaction for you.
