War, Started by Germany, Is Democracy's Last Fight, and to Win It Capital and Labor Must Work Together Day and Night -WILSON.

President Wilson, in his address before the American Federation of Labor, emphasized these facts and conclusions:

If we are true friends of freedom we will see that the power and productivity of this country is raised to its absolute maximum and that absolutely nobody is allowed to stand in the way of it.

Our duty must be to stand together night and day until the job is finished.

While we are fighting for freedom we must see, among other things, that labor is free; that conditions of labor are not rendered more onerous by the war, but also that instrumentalities by which conditions of labor are improved are not blocked or checked.

To stand together means that nobody must interrupt the processes of our energy.

The horses that kick over the traces will have to be put in a corral.

Nobody has a right to stop the processes of labor until all methods of conciliation have been exhausted. And I am not talking to you alone. You are reasonable in a larger number of cases than the capitalists.

Everybody on both sides has got to transact business, and settlement is never impossible when both sides want to do the square and right things.

A settlement is hard to avoid when the parties can be brought face to face.

It is hard to hate a man you know.

Let us show ourselves Americans by showing that we want to co-operate with all other classes and all other groups in a common enterprise which is to release the spirits of the world from bondage. would be willing to set that up as the final test of an American. That is the meaning of democracy.

I want to say to every man who joins a mob that I do not recognize him as worthy of the free institutions of the United States.

I want to utter my earnest protest against any manifestation of the spirit of lawlessness anywhere or in any cause.

The fundamental lesson of the whole situation is that we must not only take common counsel, but that we must yield to and obey common counsel.

The war was started by Germany. On that statement I am willing to await the verdict of history.

What I am opposed to is not the feeling of the pacifists, but their stupidity. My heart is with them, but my mind has a contempt for them. I want peace, but I know how to get it, and they do not.

This is the last decisive issue between the old principles of power and the new principles of freedom.

Germany is determined that the political power of the world shall belong to her. There have been such ambitions before. They have been in part realized. But never before have those ambitions been based upon so exact and precise and scientific a plan of domination.

Any man in America, or anywhere else, who supposes that the free industry and enterprise of the world can continue if the pan-German plan is achieved and German power fastened upon the world, is as fatuous as the dreamers of Russia.

PRESIDENT RETURNS HOME

No Speeches Made at Stations Along

Way, but Hands Are Shaken. WASHINGTON, Nov. 12.-President Wilson returned to Washington tonight, having been absent less than 30 hours on his trip to Buffalo to address the convention of the American Federation of Labor.

At several stations on the return trip the President appeared on the rear platform of his car and shook hands with the crowds. At most of the places he was urged to speak, but declined, answering an appeal at one town by Mob Spirit Denounced.

The President took occasion also to denounce the mob spirit, which, he said, "is displaying itself here and there in this country," He declared that "if our men have not self-control they are not capable of that great thing which we call democratic government."

A pledge of loyalty to the Govern-ment was contained in the annual re-port of the executive council of the federation, which was submitted to the convention today. This report, according to the usual procedure, was re-ferred to committees named by Mr.

Gompers, and its several sections will be taken up by the convention as soon as reported back.

At the afternoon session Secretary

Morrison read a telegram from Frank J. Hayes, president of the United Mine Workers of America, denying a report that Hayes or the mine workers in-tended to lead a fight against Presi-

Government.

Charles Lamb Quoted.

There is a great deal of human nature, of very pleasant human nature, in that say-ing. It is hard to hate a man you know. I must admit purenthetically that there are some polliticians whose methods I do not be-lieve in, but they are joily good fellows, and if they only would not talk the wrong kind of politics with me I would love to be with them. And so it is all along the line in serious matters and things less seri-ous. We are all of the same clay and apirit and we can get together if we desire to get together. Therefore my counsel to you is this: Co-operation is Urged.

Co-operation is Urged. Co-operation is Urged. Co-operation is Urged. Let us show ourselves Americans by show-ins that we do not winnt to go off in separ-to camps or groups by ourselves, but that we want to co-operate with all other classes and all other groups in a common enter-prise which is to release the spirits of the sorid from bondage. I would be willing to set that up as the final tost of an American. That is the informed as to suppose, as some groups in Russia apparently suppose, that any reform planned in the interest of the people can

Charles Lamb Quoted. I always like to remind myself of a de-lightful saying of an Englishman of a past generation, Charles Lamb. He was with a group of friends and spoke very harship of some man who was not present. I ought to say that Lamb stuttered a little. And one of his friends said: "Why, Charles, I didn't know that you knew so and so."
