

DRY-FARM DISPLAY ARRIVES AT SHOW

Tillman Reuter, World's Champion, Explains Methods Used.

3 DAIRY LECTURES SLATED

Exhibitors Discuss Supervision and Scoring—Seattle Chamber of Commerce to Come, Probably on November 21.

Jefferson County is getting its display in shape at the Manufacturers and Land Products Show, the last county to arrive with an exhibit, but the first to interest to visitors who have an active interest in agriculture.

One wouldn't guess, unless canny enough to comment on the somewhat smaller size of the products, that the vegetables, fruits, corn and other grains so bountifully displayed were grown on Central Oregon land that does not know the taint of irrigation.

Tillman Reuter, in charge of the exhibit, grew most of the display on his farm near Madras, where he has practiced the science of dry farming for some years; so long, in fact, that he is known as the "dry-farm pioneer" of the state.

Subsurface Packer Used.

"You must start by preparing the soil thoroughly," says Mr. Reuter in explaining his method. "Fall plowing nature will pack. When we plow in the Spring we use subsurface packers to press down the bottom of the furrow to prevent the evaporation of moisture by winds. Waiting several days to let the soil form a crust, we then pass on a drag harrow. This is done in order to maintain a crummy surface with a fine mulch beneath. After a rain this prevents the soil from running together and also retards the blowing of the soil. Last and most important, it acts as a protection to the moisture both by casting shade from the small clods and by destroying capillary attraction to a large extent. Work the soil as often as possible before you plant, until the proper time."

And there you have the simple recipe whereby anyone may go forth and glean ducts from the ground, whether it rains in the summer or not.

The exhibitors at the show held a meeting yesterday afternoon, when matters pertaining to scoring and general supervision of exhibits were discussed with reference to the future.

Orchestra on Programme.

Under the auspices of the education dairy food exhibition, a series of three lectures have been announced. The first, "The Economic Use of Dairy Products in the Home," will be by Miss Grace Johnson, assistant professor of domestic science at Oregon Agricultural College, Thursday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

The remaining lectures will be given on Saturday. In the afternoon at 3 o'clock Miss Edna Groves, supervisor of domestic science in the Portland schools, will discuss "Milk, a Food." At 8:30 o'clock that night Mrs. J. D. Spencer, of the Portland Woman's Club, will speak on "Practical Uses of Butter, Cheese and Skim Milk as an Economy in the Home." Saturday is dairy day at the show.

Tonight the programme will feature the Columbia Ladies' Orchestra, Marie Waunda, saxophone soloist, and Charles Dainson, steel guitar and ukulele.

An invitation has been extended by Colonel David M. Dunne, superintendent of the show, to members of the Seattle Chamber of Commerce to attend the exhibition. An acceptance has been received and the date tentatively set for Wednesday, November 21.

MANY STUDENTS SURPRISE

English College Man Says Oxford Has but 300 of 3500 Attendance.

UNIVERSITY OF OREGON, Eugene, Nov. 12.—(Special.)—Two University of Oregon students are to be elected every three years for Rhodes scholarships, under recent modifications of the method of award, according to announcement made by Dr. G. H. Parkin, representative of the Rhodes fund trustees, who visited on the campus last week.

During the war all scholarships of the trust he administers have been suspended. When they are resumed 22 will be awarded annually to students of American colleges and universities.

Dr. Parkin expressed his surprise at the manner in which Western universities are maintaining enrollment, up to or nearly as large as during normal times. When he left England a few weeks ago many universities there had closed their doors to students and in many institutions the number of students and instructors was barely large enough to keep them running, he said.

Oxford, which in normal times has an enrollment of 3500, has now a scant 300 students in attendance, according to Dr. Parkin.

The passive Americans' view of the war strikes Dr. Parkin. "In England everyone is vitally alive to the fact that the life of our country is at stake," he said. "Here people do not seem to realize that thousands of men are dying every day in the trenches in France."

Professor Irving E. Vining, of Columbia University, will deliver an address at the Elks' Temple here at the annual memorial exercises December 2. Preparations are being made by a committee in charge for a fine musical programme.

Professor Vining to Speak.

KLAMATH FALLS, Or., Nov. 12.—(Special.)—Professor Irving E. Vining, of Columbia University, will deliver an address at the Elks' Temple here at the annual memorial exercises December 2.

Preparations are being made by a committee in charge for a fine musical programme.

RIGHT LIVING ADVOCATED

J. C. ELLIOTT SPEAKS ON DISEASE PREVENTION.

Lecturer to Address Churches of Sunnyside District This Afternoon and Tonight.

To prevent disease J. C. Elliott, who is giving a series of lectures in Sunnyside Methodist Church, advocates right living. A large audience gathered last night to hear Mr. Elliott, who is here under the auspices of the various churches of the Sunnyside district.

Mr. Elliott said, in part: "Prevention of disease rather than cure is the watchword of all medical and scientific circles. It is the dominant note in the Government of the United States. Our Government expends millions for prevention of disease. Sanitation and prevention of disease is the first principle of the armies of the nations of the world today, both in peace and war."

"The conservation of our food supply and prevention of disease are correlative principles. Much of the disease and suffering of our Nation and millions of preventable deaths are caused by the overeating of the American people."

Today at 3:30 o'clock Mr. Elliott will speak on "The Secret of Health and the Preservation of the Body" and tonight his topic will be "Scientific Breathing for Health."

Continuing, it reads: "I believe that the importance of our industry is such and that the necessity for the highest possible production of copper during this war time means so much to our Nation, which is in a struggle for its life, that our patriotism, loyalty and fealty to our country and to our Government should be of such high character that we should be willing to submit to whatever injustice pursuing that course would mean rather than by any act of ours to weaken, in the most infinitesimal degree, the strength of our Nation at this time."

"I advise that only in cases where an employer may be so unfair, unjust and unsympathetic as to deny the appeals of our Government in this hour of its great need that the question of a strike be considered at all and I earnestly appeal to our members to comply with the requirements of this proclamation so as to avoid doing anything at this time which may injure the cause of humanity for which our country is now waging battle for the common people of all nations on earth."

"While we must not surrender our right to ask for justice or to strike, if necessary, yet if any act of ours shall result in the stoppage of production, let it be undertaken after the issues have been placed before the proper Government representatives and after they have advised us that they are unable to bring about an adjustment. Let us be ready and willing at all times to meet our employers half way and should they fail to co-operate with us to the end that the country may have the maximum uninterrupted output of copper during the period of war, let the responsibility rest with them and not with the workers."

Continuing, the letter said: "I advise that only in cases where an employer may be so unfair, unjust and unsympathetic as to deny the appeals of our Government in this hour of its great need that the question of a strike be considered at all and I earnestly appeal to our members to comply with the requirements of this proclamation so as to avoid doing anything at this time which may injure the cause of humanity for which our country is now waging battle for the common people of all nations on earth."

"While we must not surrender our right to ask for justice or to strike, if necessary, yet if any act of ours shall result in the stoppage of production, let it be undertaken after the issues have been placed before the proper Government representatives and after they have advised us that they are unable to bring about an adjustment. Let us be ready and willing at all times to meet our employers half way and should they fail to co-operate with us to the end that the country may have the maximum uninterrupted output of copper during the period of war, let the responsibility rest with them and not with the workers."

Continuing, the letter said: "I advise that only in cases where an employer may be so unfair, unjust and unsympathetic as to deny the appeals of our Government in this hour of its great need that the question of a strike be considered at all and I earnestly appeal to our members to comply with the requirements of this proclamation so as to avoid doing anything at this time which may injure the cause of humanity for which our country is now waging battle for the common people of all nations on earth."

"While we must not surrender our right to ask for justice or to strike, if necessary, yet if any act of ours shall result in the stoppage of production, let it be undertaken after the issues have been placed before the proper Government representatives and after they have advised us that they are unable to bring about an adjustment. Let us be ready and willing at all times to meet our employers half way and should they fail to co-operate with us to the end that the country may have the maximum uninterrupted output of copper during the period of war, let the responsibility rest with them and not with the workers."

Continuing, the letter said: "I advise that only in cases where an employer may be so unfair, unjust and unsympathetic as to deny the appeals of our Government in this hour of its great need that the question of a strike be considered at all and I earnestly appeal to our members to comply with the requirements of this proclamation so as to avoid doing anything at this time which may injure the cause of humanity for which our country is now waging battle for the common people of all nations on earth."

"While we must not surrender our right to ask for justice or to strike, if necessary, yet if any act of ours shall result in the stoppage of production, let it be undertaken after the issues have been placed before the proper Government representatives and after they have advised us that they are unable to bring about an adjustment. Let us be ready and willing at all times to meet our employers half way and should they fail to co-operate with us to the end that the country may have the maximum uninterrupted output of copper during the period of war, let the responsibility rest with them and not with the workers."

Continuing, the letter said: "I advise that only in cases where an employer may be so unfair, unjust and unsympathetic as to deny the appeals of our Government in this hour of its great need that the question of a strike be considered at all and I earnestly appeal to our members to comply with the requirements of this proclamation so as to avoid doing anything at this time which may injure the cause of humanity for which our country is now waging battle for the common people of all nations on earth."

"While we must not surrender our right to ask for justice or to strike, if necessary, yet if any act of ours shall result in the stoppage of production, let it be undertaken after the issues have been placed before the proper Government representatives and after they have advised us that they are unable to bring about an adjustment. Let us be ready and willing at all times to meet our employers half way and should they fail to co-operate with us to the end that the country may have the maximum uninterrupted output of copper during the period of war, let the responsibility rest with them and not with the workers."

Continuing, the letter said: "I advise that only in cases where an employer may be so unfair, unjust and unsympathetic as to deny the appeals of our Government in this hour of its great need that the question of a strike be considered at all and I earnestly appeal to our members to comply with the requirements of this proclamation so as to avoid doing anything at this time which may injure the cause of humanity for which our country is now waging battle for the common people of all nations on earth."

"While we must not surrender our right to ask for justice or to strike, if necessary, yet if any act of ours shall result in the stoppage of production, let it be undertaken after the issues have been placed before the proper Government representatives and after they have advised us that they are unable to bring about an adjustment. Let us be ready and willing at all times to meet our employers half way and should they fail to co-operate with us to the end that the country may have the maximum uninterrupted output of copper during the period of war, let the responsibility rest with them and not with the workers."

Continuing, the letter said: "I advise that only in cases where an employer may be so unfair, unjust and unsympathetic as to deny the appeals of our Government in this hour of its great need that the question of a strike be considered at all and I earnestly appeal to our members to comply with the requirements of this proclamation so as to avoid doing anything at this time which may injure the cause of humanity for which our country is now waging battle for the common people of all nations on earth."

"While we must not surrender our right to ask for justice or to strike, if necessary, yet if any act of ours shall result in the stoppage of production, let it be undertaken after the issues have been placed before the proper Government representatives and after they have advised us that they are unable to bring about an adjustment. Let us be ready and willing at all times to meet our employers half way and should they fail to co-operate with us to the end that the country may have the maximum uninterrupted output of copper during the period of war, let the responsibility rest with them and not with the workers."

Continuing, the letter said: "I advise that only in cases where an employer may be so unfair, unjust and unsympathetic as to deny the appeals of our Government in this hour of its great need that the question of a strike be considered at all and I earnestly appeal to our members to comply with the requirements of this proclamation so as to avoid doing anything at this time which may injure the cause of humanity for which our country is now waging battle for the common people of all nations on earth."

"While we must not surrender our right to ask for justice or to strike, if necessary, yet if any act of ours shall result in the stoppage of production, let it be undertaken after the issues have been placed before the proper Government representatives and after they have advised us that they are unable to bring about an adjustment. Let us be ready and willing at all times to meet our employers half way and should they fail to co-operate with us to the end that the country may have the maximum uninterrupted output of copper during the period of war, let the responsibility rest with them and not with the workers."

Continuing, the letter said: "I advise that only in cases where an employer may be so unfair, unjust and unsympathetic as to deny the appeals of our Government in this hour of its great need that the question of a strike be considered at all and I earnestly appeal to our members to comply with the requirements of this proclamation so as to avoid doing anything at this time which may injure the cause of humanity for which our country is now waging battle for the common people of all nations on earth."

"While we must not surrender our right to ask for justice or to strike, if necessary, yet if any act of ours shall result in the stoppage of production, let it be undertaken after the issues have been placed before the proper Government representatives and after they have advised us that they are unable to bring about an adjustment. Let us be ready and willing at all times to meet our employers half way and should they fail to co-operate with us to the end that the country may have the maximum uninterrupted output of copper during the period of war, let the responsibility rest with them and not with the workers."

Continuing, the letter said: "I advise that only in cases where an employer may be so unfair, unjust and unsympathetic as to deny the appeals of our Government in this hour of its great need that the question of a strike be considered at all and I earnestly appeal to our members to comply with the requirements of this proclamation so as to avoid doing anything at this time which may injure the cause of humanity for which our country is now waging battle for the common people of all nations on earth."

"While we must not surrender our right to ask for justice or to strike, if necessary, yet if any act of ours shall result in the stoppage of production, let it be undertaken after the issues have been placed before the proper Government representatives and after they have advised us that they are unable to bring about an adjustment. Let us be ready and willing at all times to meet our employers half way and should they fail to co-operate with us to the end that the country may have the maximum uninterrupted output of copper during the period of war, let the responsibility rest with them and not with the workers."

Continuing, the letter said: "I advise that only in cases where an employer may be so unfair, unjust and unsympathetic as to deny the appeals of our Government in this hour of its great need that the question of a strike be considered at all and I earnestly appeal to our members to comply with the requirements of this proclamation so as to avoid doing anything at this time which may injure the cause of humanity for which our country is now waging battle for the common people of all nations on earth."

MOYER URGES MEN TO BACK COUNTRY

Appeal Made to Patriotism of Copper Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers.

NATION'S INTEREST FIRST

Head of Organization Asks Men to Avoid Strikes and Trust to Government in Settling Differences With Employers.

DENVER, Colo., Nov. 12.—In an open letter to "all men working in and around the copper mines, mills and smelters of the United States and Canada," made public tonight, Charles H. Moyer, president of the International Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers, appeals to the loyalty of working men to assure a maximum production and thorough co-operation with the Government in fulfilling the country's needs.

In reference to the recent settlement of copper strikes in Arizona, the letter says, "the Government's action in settling the strikes indicates that it is willing to do justice to the men in our authority and at the same time asks nothing from the owners of these industries that they cannot do on a basis of honesty and fairness."

Continuing, it reads: "I believe that the importance of our industry is such and that the necessity for the highest possible production of copper during this war time means so much to our Nation, which is in a struggle for its life, that our patriotism, loyalty and fealty to our country and to our Government should be of such high character that we should be willing to submit to whatever injustice pursuing that course would mean rather than by any act of ours to weaken, in the most infinitesimal degree, the strength of our Nation at this time."

"I advise that only in cases where an employer may be so unfair, unjust and unsympathetic as to deny the appeals of our Government in this hour of its great need that the question of a strike be considered at all and I earnestly appeal to our members to comply with the requirements of this proclamation so as to avoid doing anything at this time which may injure the cause of humanity for which our country is now waging battle for the common people of all nations on earth."

"While we must not surrender our right to ask for justice or to strike, if necessary, yet if any act of ours shall result in the stoppage of production, let it be undertaken after the issues have been placed before the proper Government representatives and after they have advised us that they are unable to bring about an adjustment. Let us be ready and willing at all times to meet our employers half way and should they fail to co-operate with us to the end that the country may have the maximum uninterrupted output of copper during the period of war, let the responsibility rest with them and not with the workers."

Continuing, the letter said: "I advise that only in cases where an employer may be so unfair, unjust and unsympathetic as to deny the appeals of our Government in this hour of its great need that the question of a strike be considered at all and I earnestly appeal to our members to comply with the requirements of this proclamation so as to avoid doing anything at this time which may injure the cause of humanity for which our country is now waging battle for the common people of all nations on earth."

"While we must not surrender our right to ask for justice or to strike, if necessary, yet if any act of ours shall result in the stoppage of production, let it be undertaken after the issues have been placed before the proper Government representatives and after they have advised us that they are unable to bring about an adjustment. Let us be ready and willing at all times to meet our employers half way and should they fail to co-operate with us to the end that the country may have the maximum uninterrupted output of copper during the period of war, let the responsibility rest with them and not with the workers."

Continuing, the letter said: "I advise that only in cases where an employer may be so unfair, unjust and unsympathetic as to deny the appeals of our Government in this hour of its great need that the question of a strike be considered at all and I earnestly appeal to our members to comply with the requirements of this proclamation so as to avoid doing anything at this time which may injure the cause of humanity for which our country is now waging battle for the common people of all nations on earth."

"While we must not surrender our right to ask for justice or to strike, if necessary, yet if any act of ours shall result in the stoppage of production, let it be undertaken after the issues have been placed before the proper Government representatives and after they have advised us that they are unable to bring about an adjustment. Let us be ready and willing at all times to meet our employers half way and should they fail to co-operate with us to the end that the country may have the maximum uninterrupted output of copper during the period of war, let the responsibility rest with them and not with the workers."

Continuing, the letter said: "I advise that only in cases where an employer may be so unfair, unjust and unsympathetic as to deny the appeals of our Government in this hour of its great need that the question of a strike be considered at all and I earnestly appeal to our members to comply with the requirements of this proclamation so as to avoid doing anything at this time which may injure the cause of humanity for which our country is now waging battle for the common people of all nations on earth."

"While we must not surrender our right to ask for justice or to strike, if necessary, yet if any act of ours shall result in the stoppage of production, let it be undertaken after the issues have been placed before the proper Government representatives and after they have advised us that they are unable to bring about an adjustment. Let us be ready and willing at all times to meet our employers half way and should they fail to co-operate with us to the end that the country may have the maximum uninterrupted output of copper during the period of war, let the responsibility rest with them and not with the workers."

Continuing, the letter said: "I advise that only in cases where an employer may be so unfair, unjust and unsympathetic as to deny the appeals of our Government in this hour of its great need that the question of a strike be considered at all and I earnestly appeal to our members to comply with the requirements of this proclamation so as to avoid doing anything at this time which may injure the cause of humanity for which our country is now waging battle for the common people of all nations on earth."

"While we must not surrender our right to ask for justice or to strike, if necessary, yet if any act of ours shall result in the stoppage of production, let it be undertaken after the issues have been placed before the proper Government representatives and after they have advised us that they are unable to bring about an adjustment. Let us be ready and willing at all times to meet our employers half way and should they fail to co-operate with us to the end that the country may have the maximum uninterrupted output of copper during the period of war, let the responsibility rest with them and not with the workers."

Continuing, the letter said: "I advise that only in cases where an employer may be so unfair, unjust and unsympathetic as to deny the appeals of our Government in this hour of its great need that the question of a strike be considered at all and I earnestly appeal to our members to comply with the requirements of this proclamation so as to avoid doing anything at this time which may injure the cause of humanity for which our country is now waging battle for the common people of all nations on earth."

"While we must not surrender our right to ask for justice or to strike, if necessary, yet if any act of ours shall result in the stoppage of production, let it be undertaken after the issues have been placed before the proper Government representatives and after they have advised us that they are unable to bring about an adjustment. Let us be ready and willing at all times to meet our employers half way and should they fail to co-operate with us to the end that the country may have the maximum uninterrupted output of copper during the period of war, let the responsibility rest with them and not with the workers."

Continuing, the letter said: "I advise that only in cases where an employer may be so unfair, unjust and unsympathetic as to deny the appeals of our Government in this hour of its great need that the question of a strike be considered at all and I earnestly appeal to our members to comply with the requirements of this proclamation so as to avoid doing anything at this time which may injure the cause of humanity for which our country is now waging battle for the common people of all nations on earth."

"While we must not surrender our right to ask for justice or to strike, if necessary, yet if any act of ours shall result in the stoppage of production, let it be undertaken after the issues have been placed before the proper Government representatives and after they have advised us that they are unable to bring about an adjustment. Let us be ready and willing at all times to meet our employers half way and should they fail to co-operate with us to the end that the country may have the maximum uninterrupted output of copper during the period of war, let the responsibility rest with them and not with the workers."

Continuing, the letter said: "I advise that only in cases where an employer may be so unfair, unjust and unsympathetic as to deny the appeals of our Government in this hour of its great need that the question of a strike be considered at all and I earnestly appeal to our members to comply with the requirements of this proclamation so as to avoid doing anything at this time which may injure the cause of humanity for which our country is now waging battle for the common people of all nations on earth."

"While we must not surrender our right to ask for justice or to strike, if necessary, yet if any act of ours shall result in the stoppage of production, let it be undertaken after the issues have been placed before the proper Government representatives and after they have advised us that they are unable to bring about an adjustment. Let us be ready and willing at all times to meet our employers half way and should they fail to co-operate with us to the end that the country may have the maximum uninterrupted output of copper during the period of war, let the responsibility rest with them and not with the workers."

Continuing, the letter said: "I advise that only in cases where an employer may be so unfair, unjust and unsympathetic as to deny the appeals of our Government in this hour of its great need that the question of a strike be considered at all and I earnestly appeal to our members to comply with the requirements of this proclamation so as to avoid doing anything at this time which may injure the cause of humanity for which our country is now waging battle for the common people of all nations on earth."

"While we must not surrender our right to ask for justice or to strike, if necessary, yet if any act of ours shall result in the stoppage of production, let it be undertaken after the issues have been placed before the proper Government representatives and after they have advised us that they are unable to bring about an adjustment. Let us be ready and willing at all times to meet our employers half way and should they fail to co-operate with us to the end that the country may have the maximum uninterrupted output of copper during the period of war, let the responsibility rest with them and not with the workers."

Continuing, the letter said: "I advise that only in cases where an employer may be so unfair, unjust and unsympathetic as to deny the appeals of our Government in this hour of its great need that the question of a strike be considered at all and I earnestly appeal to our members to comply with the requirements of this proclamation so as to avoid doing anything at this time which may injure the cause of humanity for which our country is now waging battle for the common people of all nations on earth."

"While we must not surrender our right to ask for justice or to strike, if necessary, yet if any act of ours shall result in the stoppage of production, let it be undertaken after the issues have been placed before the proper Government representatives and after they have advised us that they are unable to bring about an adjustment. Let us be ready and willing at all times to meet our employers half way and should they fail to co-operate with us to the end that the country may have the maximum uninterrupted output of copper during the period of war, let the responsibility rest with them and not with the workers."

Continuing, the letter said: "I advise that only in cases where an employer may be so unfair, unjust and unsympathetic as to deny the appeals of our Government in this hour of its great need that the question of a strike be considered at all and I earnestly appeal to our members to comply with the requirements of this proclamation so as to avoid doing anything at this time which may injure the cause of humanity for which our country is now waging battle for the common people of all nations on earth."

"While we must not surrender our right to ask for justice or to strike, if necessary, yet if any act of ours shall result in the stoppage of production, let it be undertaken after the issues have been placed before the proper Government representatives and after they have advised us that they are unable to bring about an adjustment. Let us be ready and willing at all times to meet our employers half way and should they fail to co-operate with us to the end that the country may have the maximum uninterrupted output of copper during the period of war, let the responsibility rest with them and not with the workers."

Chesterfield CIGARETTES

of IMPORTED and DOMESTIC tobaccos—Blended

A new combination—mild, yet they "Satisfy"!

Yes, this new cigarette is more than just good-tasting, it delivers a new and important thing to smokers—

Chesterfields "reach home," they let you know you are smoking—they "Satisfy"!

Yet, they're mild!

Don't be surprised—the new blend of Imported and Domestic tobaccos does it. And the blend can't be copied.

Let Chesterfields give you new cigarette enjoyment.

Logan's Myers Tobacco Co.

They "Satisfy"!—and yet they're Mild!

Wrapped in Tin Foil—keeps them Fresh

RIGHT LIVING ADVOCATED

J. C. ELLIOTT SPEAKS ON DISEASE PREVENTION.

Lecturer to Address Churches of Sunnyside District This Afternoon and Tonight.

To prevent disease J. C. Elliott, who is giving a series of lectures in Sunnyside Methodist Church, advocates right living. A large audience gathered last night to hear Mr. Elliott, who is here under the auspices of the various churches of the Sunnyside district.

Mr. Elliott said, in part: "Prevention of disease rather than cure is the watchword of all medical and scientific circles. It is the dominant note in the Government of the United States. Our Government expends millions for prevention of disease. Sanitation and prevention of disease is the first principle of the armies of the nations of the world today, both in peace and war."

"The conservation of our food supply and prevention of disease are correlative principles. Much of the disease and suffering of our Nation and millions of preventable deaths are caused by the overeating of the American people."

Today at 3:30 o'clock Mr. Elliott will speak on "The Secret of Health and the Preservation of the Body" and tonight his topic will be "Scientific Breathing for Health."

FIRE CHANGE PROTESTED

MONTAVILLA RESIDENTS ASK COUNCIL TO LEAVE STATION THERE.

Commissioner Bigelow Declares New Power Vehicles Could Go Through Mud and Give Better Service.

It is up to City Commissioner Bigelow to demonstrate to the people of Montavilla and other districts that powerful new automobile fire engines can go into the streets where ordinary trucks and automobiles cannot.

A large delegation of Montavilla residents appeared before the City Council yesterday and protested against the plan of Commissioner Bigelow of cutting out the Montavilla fire station, with its present horse-drawn apparatus, and installing new and powerful motor-driven apparatus in the Mount Taber station over the hill from Montavilla.

The chief complaint was that the motors could not get through the dirt streets during wet weather, so it would be essential to retain the horse-drawn apparatus. Commissioner Bigelow declared that the motor-driven machines equipped with heavy chains will go into places that horse-drawn machines cannot go. He promised to demonstrate this to the satisfaction of the objectors. The demonstration may be held today.

The chief complaint was that the motors could not get through the dirt streets during wet weather, so it would be essential to retain the horse-drawn apparatus. Commissioner Bigelow declared that the motor-driven machines equipped with heavy chains will go into places that horse-drawn machines cannot go. He promised to demonstrate this to the satisfaction of the objectors. The demonstration may be held today.

The chief complaint was that the motors could not get through the dirt streets during wet weather, so it would be essential to retain the horse-drawn apparatus. Commissioner Bigelow declared that the motor-driven machines equipped with heavy chains will go into places that horse-drawn machines cannot go. He promised to demonstrate this to the satisfaction of the objectors. The demonstration may be held today.

The chief complaint was that the motors could not get through the dirt streets during wet weather, so it would be essential to retain the horse-drawn apparatus. Commissioner Bigelow declared that the motor-driven machines equipped with heavy chains will go into places that horse-drawn machines cannot go. He promised to demonstrate this to the satisfaction of the objectors. The demonstration may be held today.

The chief complaint was that the motors could not get through the dirt streets during wet weather, so it would be essential to retain the horse-drawn apparatus. Commissioner Bigelow declared that the motor-driven machines equipped with heavy chains will go into places that horse-drawn machines cannot go. He promised to demonstrate this to the satisfaction of the objectors. The demonstration may be held today.

The chief complaint was that the motors could not get through the dirt streets during wet weather, so it would be essential to retain the horse-drawn apparatus. Commissioner Bigelow declared that the motor-driven machines equipped with heavy chains will go into places that horse-drawn machines cannot go. He promised to demonstrate this to the satisfaction of the objectors. The demonstration may be held today.

The chief complaint was that the motors could not get through the dirt streets during wet weather, so it would be essential to retain the horse-drawn apparatus. Commissioner Bigelow declared that the motor-driven machines equipped with heavy chains will go into places that horse-drawn machines cannot go. He promised to demonstrate this to the satisfaction of the objectors. The demonstration may be held today.

The chief complaint was that the motors could not get through the dirt streets during wet weather, so it would be essential to retain the horse-drawn apparatus. Commissioner Bigelow declared that the motor-driven machines equipped with heavy chains will go into places that horse-drawn machines cannot go. He promised to demonstrate this to the satisfaction of the objectors. The demonstration may be held today.

The chief complaint was that the motors could not get through the dirt streets during wet weather, so it would be essential to retain the horse-drawn apparatus. Commissioner Bigelow declared that the motor-driven machines equipped with heavy chains will go into places that horse-drawn machines cannot go. He promised to demonstrate this to the satisfaction of the objectors. The demonstration may be held today.

The chief complaint was that the motors could not get through the dirt streets during wet weather, so it would be essential to retain the horse-drawn apparatus. Commissioner Bigelow declared that the motor-driven machines equipped with heavy chains will go into places that horse-drawn machines cannot go. He promised to demonstrate this to the satisfaction of the objectors. The demonstration may be held today.

The chief complaint was that the motors could not get through the dirt streets during wet weather, so it would be essential to retain the horse-drawn apparatus. Commissioner Bigelow declared that the motor-driven machines equipped with heavy chains will go into places that horse-drawn machines cannot go. He promised to demonstrate this to the satisfaction of the objectors. The demonstration may be held today.

The chief complaint was that the motors could not get through the dirt streets during wet weather, so it would be essential to retain the horse-drawn apparatus. Commissioner Bigelow declared that the motor-driven machines equipped with heavy chains will go into places that horse-drawn machines cannot go. He promised to demonstrate this to the satisfaction of the objectors. The demonstration may be held today.

The chief complaint was that the motors could not get through the dirt streets during wet weather, so it would be essential to retain the horse-drawn apparatus. Commissioner Bigelow declared that the motor-driven machines equipped with heavy chains will go into places that horse-drawn machines cannot go. He promised to demonstrate this to the satisfaction of the objectors. The demonstration may be held today.

The chief complaint was that the motors could not get through the dirt streets during wet weather, so it would be essential to retain the horse-drawn apparatus. Commissioner Bigelow declared that the motor-driven machines equipped with heavy chains will go into places that horse-drawn machines cannot go. He promised to demonstrate this to the satisfaction of the objectors. The demonstration may be held today.

The chief complaint was that the motors could not get through the dirt streets during wet weather, so it would be essential to retain the horse-drawn apparatus. Commissioner Bigelow declared that the motor-driven machines equipped with heavy chains will go into places that horse-drawn machines cannot go. He promised to demonstrate this to the satisfaction of the objectors. The demonstration may be held today.

TEUTONS WANT BELGIUM

ADMIRAL VON TIRPITZ STANDS STRONGLY FOR ANNEXATION.

Question of Protectorate Decisive Issue of War, Declares Former Minister of Marine.