Number 13 Boot of One of Convict Trio Gives Posses Clew to Fugitives.

PARSON FINDS FOOTPRINT

Rev. F. W. Snyder, of Methodist Church at Molalla, Makes Discovery When Assisting Officers in Man Hunt.

OREGON CITY, Or., Nov. 12.—(Special.)—The clear footprint of a number 13 boot, cut distinctly in the mud where "Big Sam" Taylor had jumped the fence near the Holcomb schoolhouse about three miles east of Oregon City, today gave Parole Officer Keller and Sheriff Wilson a fresh clew in the manhunt which has been carried on in Clackamas County for six days in search of the three negro convicts who escaped from the penitentiary last Tuesday night.

The officers, with bloodhounds and a big posse of officers took up the chase and followed the convict's trail for nearly four miles over a rough, mountainous country. Without their prey they returned at 4 P. M. to change their wringing-wet clothes, eat the first meal of the day and start out on the night's vigil. The officers believe they have better than a 50-50 chance to capture the convicts before morning and at 7 o'clock tonight every bridge across the Willamette and Clackamas rivers within a radius of five miles of Oregon City was guarded by armed men and officers were stationed at every road.

Guards Open Fire. The first definite information that the negroes were in the Baker's Bridge country, which is about five miles east of Oregon City, came last night, 7 o'clock, when the hunted men sought to cross the Baker's bridge. Guards opened fire and the trio fled into the underbrush and timber that runs clear to the bridge. An almost impossible climb was made up the dizzy heights of a precipice, the officers learned this morning, after giving up an ineffective search for their men Sunday night.

Rev. F. W. Snyder, of Molalla, who has been with the searchers for the last five days, only ceasing long enough Sunday to preach to his flock at the Methodist Episcopal Church, found the fence near the Holcomb school early today and discovered the negro Sam's heavy footprint in the soft ground. The evidence was indisputable, as the prisoner has the record of possessing the largest foot in the penitentiary.

Negroes Closely Followed. The posse and dogs took up the trail from that point. All day the negroes were trailed and at times the hounds were in close pursuit. The country between Parkplace and the Baker's bridge is unusually rough and mountainous, and progress was slow in the game of "hide-and-seek." Searchers joined the search armed with shotguns, old-fashioned Winchester and some with a wild assortment of "shootin' iron." Tonight at least 20 men are guarding bridges and patrolling the roads which lead from the hill country. The hunt has created intense excitement about Oregon City. The fugitives' remarkable vitality is a source of admiration, as they have made no food raids since their appearance in the Beaver Creek country last Friday. There is considerable speculation as to how they are living.

BENEFACTOR IS HONORED

Hood River Masons Hold Annual Tieman Celebration.

HOOD RIVER, Or., Nov. 12.—(Special.)—Last night, with the huge hall crowded, the Masonic Lodge paid its annual tribute to the late Arthur H. Tieman, who bequeathed his entire fortune to the lodge to be used for the construction of the building, and the members simultaneously participated in a patriotic celebration. An invocation was pronounced by Rev. M. L. Hutton, pastor of the Riverside Congregational Church. Accompanied by Mrs. Nickelson, J. R. Nickelson rendered popular melodies. A patriotic address was delivered by Rev. L. L. Hutton, followed by E. L. Smith, the lodge's first master, who has been a Mason for 59 years. Captain George H. Wilbur, commanding officer of the Hood River Artillery, was here from Fort Canby to be the honor guest of the evening.

OYSTER EXPERIMENTS FAIL

No Hope Held Out for Propagation of Bivalves at South Bend.

SOUTH BEND, Wash., Nov. 12.—(Special.)—E. L. Kellogg, who for the past year has been at the head of the bay studying the oyster for the Olympia Oyster Company and for the Bureau of Fisheries, has completed his investigations, and in his report to the Commissioner of Fisheries says he has put in the bay a large number of native oyster, as is done by the oyster company near Olympia, but with poor success, owing to the strong current and sediment, which smother the oysters. He says there are limited areas on the bay where proper cultural methods probably would bring small returns and the growing of the native oyster made stable and moderately profitable. Mr. Kellogg sees no future for native oysters, and Eastern oysters are little better.

PLEDGE RETURNS SHOW VARIANCE

No County Has Yet Completed Report of Two Weeks' Conservation Drive.

CLACKAMAS RECORD POOR

Wasco Said to Be Nearer 100 Per Cent Mark Than Any Other District of State—Few Chairmen Enumerate Slackers Found.

While no county organization of the state has yet completed its returns on the two weeks' canvass for enrollment of families in the National food administration reports which are approaching final totals are now fast coming into the office of Chairman Arthur M. Churchill, director of the state drive.

The returns vary from highly gratifying figures, exceeding all expectations, to figures that leave much to be desired, the director said yesterday. Latest compilations showed these county totals: Baker 3196, Clackamas 2543, Coos 1790, Douglas 2332, Gilliam 618, Jackson 4971, Josephine 1700, Morrow 326, Umpqua 2650, Wasco 2636.

Jackson 95.7 Per Cent. Few of the county chairmen have accompanied their reports with figures on slacker families. Jackson County reports but 182 in its total of 4253. This gives it a 96.7 per cent record, nearly exceeding the advance estimate of the leaders there, who had set the goal at 94 per cent. Reports are yet incomplete from 13 school districts of Jackson. Completion of returns from 48 districts in Douglas County is awaited. The Riddle district signed up 72 families without encountering a refusal. Wasco County is said to be nearer the 100 per cent record at present than any other of the state. Preliminary returns and messages from Lane and Marion lead Mr. Churchill to expect the showings from them.

One District 27 Per Cent.

Clackamas County workers have returned one of the most "spotted" and unsatisfactory preliminary reports yet to reach headquarters. While seven districts enrolled every home and other achievements recorded above 90 per cent, a number fell below 60 per cent. One district makes a showing of but 27 per cent and another of but 40 per cent. In justice to units where success has been reported, it is said, the fact that canvasses and follow-up efforts may materially better the showings must not be forgotten.

District managers in Portland were yesterday getting near to final totals in several instances. Their reports will be turned in during the next two days, and for the most part, are expected to show creditable achievements.

General Allenby reports that the Turks are organizing behind the northern branch of the Wadi Sukseir, stretching southeast and covering Beit Jibrin and Hebron. British mounted troops have, however, made some progress to El Time, while a night attack by Scottish troops against the enemy's right flank resulted in the capture of machine guns.

HUN DISCONTENT GROWING

Decline in Morale of Officers and Men Held Unquestionable.

CANADIAN ARMY HEADQUARTERS IN FRANCE, Nov. 12.—Increasing discontent among the enemy forces is indicated in statements made by captured prisoners, while the decline in the morale of the officers is unquestioned. One officer stated that when we attacked on Saturday all the other officers in his battalion ran back to the shelter, some 300 yards behind the front line, leaving the warrant officers, non-commissioned officers and men to carry on the fight. In another instance no fewer than 11 officers were captured in one dugout. With such conduct growing discontent is reported among the rank and file. The statements of prisoners lead to the conclusion that the whole fabric of German arms is held together by little more than iron discipline.

SUFFRAGETTES STILL HIKE

Police Judge Finds Militants Guilty, but Suspends Sentence.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12.—The 41 militant suffragettes of the women's party who staged a demonstration before the White House Saturday were found guilty in the Police Court of obstructing traffic. The court, however, blocked the expected wholesale reinforcement of the women now serving jail terms for similar offenses by suspending all sentences. This afternoon a militant force of 21, including Mrs. William Kent and 26 others who had been in court, appeared in front of the White House with banners and were arrested. They were released on bond to appear tomorrow. Mrs. Harvey W. Wiley, wife of the pure food expert, was the only defendant to note an appeal from the court's decision today, and she did not join the afternoon expedition.

RISE FAILS TO SATISFY

Tacoma Streetcar Men Not in Accord With Arbiters' Findings.

TACOMA, Wash., Nov. 12.—(Special.)—That with few exceptions the streetcar employees of the Tacoma Railway & Power Company are dissatisfied with the wage schedule included in the finding of the arbitration board at Seattle last week was the statement today of Fred Morgan, business agent of the union in Tacoma, who also announced that approximately 12 plant men have quit individually during the past week because of better wages offered them in other employment. "I do not know what the sentiment of the union is regarding the finding of the arbitration board, but I know that many of the men have expressed individual disapproval of the standard because it does not meet with what they believe they are entitled to," Mr. Morgan said.

When he placed the suitcase in the taxi, he and the chauffeur, Daniel Costello, were both arrested. Costello was released on his promise to appear as a witness when Tracey was required to deposit $250 bail.

SECOND CAR OF FRY COMING FOR OSWEGO LAKE.

Last Season's Planting Said to Have Been Successful and They Are 6 to 9 Inches Long.

Portland is to have a "fisherman's heaven" right in her own back yard, according to plans of the State Fish and Game Commission now under way and the householder who spends his time worrying about the price of steak can speed an evening hauling in his morning's breakfast on a hook and line before long. Today the Commission's fish car "Rainbow" will carry a carload of steelhead trout and salmon to Oswego Lake. This will be the second planting there. Last year the Commission transported a carload of infant fish, which have since attained a length of from six to nine inches. The efforts of the Commission to stock Oswego Lake with game fish has so far been successful and the lake promises to be a fine fishing resort if sportsmen and others will observe laws regarding the taking of fish in the lake. Regulations included in the latest edition of Oregon fish and game laws provide a closed season from May 15 to June 15, perpetual
