

PORTLAND GIRL TO WORK IN FRANCE

Miss Shirley Eastham Plans to Help Red Cross in Carving for Wounded.

DEPARTURE WILL BE SOON

Local Young Woman Will Leave in January for War Zone With International Woman's Hospital Unit for Foreign Service.

Miss Shirley Eastham, who, after completing a course in Red Cross work in Portland, left several weeks ago for New York to finish her training, will sail in January for France, where she will be attached to the first woman's hospital unit for foreign service, organized by the New York Infirmary for Women and Children.

Miss Eastham, who has been active and prominent in social affairs, took up active Red Cross work immediately on America's becoming involved in the war. She finished the course given by the Red Cross in Portland, and spent a period of actual hospital training in Good Samaritan and St. Vincent's Hospitals.

The unit has received as voluntary gifts, four automobiles, two motor ambulances and a motor truck. The unit will be exclusively for women, comprising 12 women physicians, 21 nurses, an assistant for each nurse, several aides, and several orderlies, such as electricians, women who have specialized in chemistry or physics and sanitation.

Distinction attaches to the unit because it is the first woman's hospital unit ever organized in America for work in the war zone. It is to be known officially as the International Unit for Foreign Service of the New York Infirmary for Women and Children.

Are you sure your glasses aren't crooked? We find many cases of serious headaches that are the gradual result of merely a little accidental bending of frames—so slight the wearers didn't suspect it, but enough to derange the line of vision, and thus overstrain the eyes. Our advice to any wearer of glasses is to drop in occasionally and have us make sure your glasses are straight and properly adjusted. We make no charge for this little service, no matter where you got your glasses, and your eyes will be much more comfortable, much less apt to bring on headaches. COLUMBIAN OPTICAL CO. FLOYD F.
