William Bither Solves High Cost of Shaving.

When Tenant Barber Raises Nickel on Each Shave, Owner Raises Rent 60 Cents a Month.

MACOMA, Wash., Dec. 2 .- (Special.) -I William Bither has solved the high cost of shaving so far as he personally is concerned. He stepped from a chair today in the barber shop owned by Eddie Quinn, who is his tenant. He "Three isn't enough; make it four,"

"What, another tax?" ejaculated

"No; it's 20 cents a shave now," ex-plained the barber. Quinn got his 20 cents, but he nearly dropped it on the floor when Bither came back with this announcement: "I get shaved 12 times a month here, Eddie. Twelve times 5 cents is 60 cents. That's correct, isn't it?" "Yes, sir, 12 times 5 cents equals 60 cents," agreed Quinn.

"Well," began Bither in a low voice, to prepare Quinn for the shock, "your rent is just 60 cents more every month."

Every barber shop in Tacoma has added a nickel to the price of shaves.

In the mill of war Armenia has been ground cruelly.
