British Authority Writes Rev. R. W. Rogers, in Portland.

NEED OF MONARCHY SHOWN

Professor W. Maclellan Dixon, of Glasgow University, Asserts England Only Wants Assurance That Food May Be Had.

Rev. R. W. Rogers, who has held important pastorates in and around San Francisco, is passing a few days in Portland and is in receipt of an interesting letter from Professor W. Maclellan Dixon, of Glasgow University, who is one of Lloyd George's right-hand men, in regard to Great Britain's attitude toward the internationalization of the seas and the significance of her monarchy. Dr. Rogers wrote Professor Dixon personally in regard to these widely-discussed subjects and received the following reply, which was mailed November 14, but did not reach him until the first of this week here at Portland: My Dear Sir: I should very gladly write you also, but that we are practically in the same of war and so pressed for time that it is difficult to do or think of anything but our immediate tasks. As to the internationalization of the seas, as we understand it, they are absolutely internationalized or free to all nations in times of peace, and as history clearly shows, largely owing to Britain's efforts in the past. She has always contended for that freedom. In times of war she claims, of course, to exercise her power there, as Germany claims to exercise hers on land, but only in times of war and against her enemies or those assisting them. It is obvious that, in a country which lives by the sea and is absolutely dependent

MYSTIC ACT IS CLEVER

"WIRELESS GIRL" BIG FEATURE OF HIPPODROME BILL.

Acrobatic, Comedy and Musical Numbers Help to Make Show One of Best for the Season. If you are a follower of the mystic and an investigator of psychic phenomena, go to the Hippodrome this week and enjoy Jean Dawn's act. Jean will mystify you and your investigating will go for naught, for how on earth she receives the thought messages sent out by the audience and verified in each individual instance is beyond conjecture. Jean is called the "wireless girl," but she is more clever than the wireless, for it has a sending and receiving station and Jean uses only her clever head and no apparatus whatsoever. She completely bamboozles the know-it-alls in the audience, and when the curtain falls the applause is deafening. Her partner is a keen chap named Jack Allen, who is billed as "the operator." He plays the piano by wireless, again mystifying the folk out in front, by playing requested numbers, sent him by thought transmission. Adanae Trio, which transferred backwards spell Canada, but have nothing to do with the nativity of the trio, is a clean-cut, interesting, musical novelty. Their featured number is a medley of airs, patriotic, popular and classical, played on the saxophone, and merging finally into a beautiful rendition of the sextette from "Lucia." This trio also features the French horn, the cello and the pleasing little ocarina, and in all their offerings melody predominates. A pair of dusky chaps, Kelly and Davis, offer a capital act in which they are billed as "Assassins of the Blues." If they win their title because they are first-class murderers of blue devils and can put sadness and gloom clear off the map, they are surely entitled to the name, for they are certainly gloom chasers with their comedy patter exchange and eccentric stepping. A pleasing number is that of the Alvas Duo, a girl with a big, cooing-shouting voice and a man who understands melody, too. They specialize in a stirring war song set to comedy, and together they amble delightfully along harmony lane. Opening the bill is an acrobatic number of unusual merit presented by Beatrice Sweeney and Jessie Benton, billed as "Dainty Divers of Gymnastics Beautiful." Their act is artistic, as well as exceedingly interesting as a study in physical culture. Another act of physical prowess, and one that is sensational in its developments, is the athletic surprises offered by the Lavine Trio, Edna Goodrich, Nat Goodwin's third wife, featured in the fascinating and dramatic photoplay, called "Reputation."

FOOD SURVEYS NEGLECTED

Attention Called to Time Limit of January 10 for Replies.

Many grocers and others concerned in the National war emergency food survey campaign have neglected to make an inventory of their stocks of foodstuffs and forward the same to the Bureau of Markets, Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C. This requirement applies to every grocer, hotel, restaurant, cafeteria and anyone who carries a stock of foodstuffs of the value of $200 or more. These inventories must be made out and mailed to Washington not later than January 10. Blanks for making the required inventories may be obtained from L. M. Jeffers, 210 Worcester building, who is in charge of the local headquarters. Value of County Agent Proved. CASTLE ROCK, Wash., Jan. 2.—(Special.)—Among some of the interesting figures in County Agent Keyes' report for the first six months, the following show the need and work of a county agent for the farming community: Nine hundred letters were written, 154 farm visits were made, 94 calls at the office were made by persons looking for information and the agent co-operated in 41 meetings of 1547 farming people.

PULLMANS BACK AGAIN

FIVE SLEEPERS PROVIDE FOR PASSENGERS ON NIGHT RUN. Service Not Up to Standard on Account of Trouble From Storm, But Improvement Promised.

The demand for a night service between Portland and Puget Sound was met last night by the railroads in adding five Pullmans to the express train leaving Portland at 10:30 P. M. The O.-W. R. & N. Co., the Great Northern Railway and the Northern Pacific Railway co-operated in establishing the service and each line has a share of the reservations for disposal. These are the only Pullman cars now in service between Portland and Puget Sound cities, flood conditions and water trouble along the line making it inadvisable to add to the weight of trains when possible to avoid it. Four of the sleepers are run to Seattle and one to Tacoma. The Pullman equipment was added to the run as the result of the conference the past two days at Seattle, where officials of the Northwest lines studied the situation. When the three trains a day to Puget Sound replaced nine daily trains, no provision was made for night trains, and Pullman cars were eliminated from the run, due chiefly to the soft tracks. The night train was an express train, only, carrying mail, parcel post and express and the passenger cars are added to it. Schedules now being made are far from satisfactory, however, as the night train, southbound, which left Seattle at 10:30 Wednesday night, and was due in Portland at 7 o'clock yesterday morning, did not arrive until 12:15 P. M. yesterday. Northbound, the trains are making just about as slow time, but it is expected that when track conditions re-

HOW THIS NERVOUS WOMAN GOT WELL

Told by Herself. Her Sincerity Should Convince Others.

Christopher, Ill.—"For four years I suffered from irregularities, nervousness, and was in a run down condition. Two of our best doctors failed to do me any good. I heard so much about what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound had done for others, I tried it and was cured. I am no longer nervous, am regular, and in excellent health. I believe the Compound will cure any female trouble."—Mrs. ALICE HELLER, Christopher, Ill. Nervousness is often a symptom of weakness or some functional derangement, which may be overcome by this famous root and herb remedy, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, as thousands of women have found by experience. If complications exist, write Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass., for suggestions in regard to your ailment. The result of its long experience is at your service.
