PECULIAR ACTS RECALLED

Mr. and Mrs. Elijah Corbett Relate

Incidents Indicating That Woman's Mental Faculties Became Impaired as Early as 1913.

"C. Lewis Mead just called me over the telephone and wanted me to go riding. I don't see why he should be bothering me this way when I have so many friends who might take me riding and when I can pay for anything I want. I guess he is trying to get some of my money later on."

This is a statement made by Mrs. Faling's mind was all right in 1911.

This is a statement made by Mrs. Xarifa Jane Faling in 1912, according to testimony given by Ellijah Corbett, grandson of Elijah Corbett and grand-nephew of the late United States Senator H. W. Corbett, in the Faling will contest before County Judge Taxwell yesterday afternoon. Mr. Mead, under the terms of Mrs. Faling's last will, executed in 1915, is one of two chief beneficiaries of an estate valued at $500,000.

Mr. Corbett's wife, who was Miss Marie Jensen before her marriage, cor-roborated her husband's testimony. She added that Mrs. Faling had once re-ferred to Mr. Mead as a "fortune-Mr. and Mrs. Corbett vers the only ritnesses called resterday afternoon.

he wanted the mortgage shifted to another person on account of Mrs. Fal-ing's apparent weakening of mind. Mrs. Faling's mental condition con-tinued to decline, said Mr. Corbett, until 1913, when it became hopeless. Both Mr. and Mrs. Corbett gave testimony regarding the various forms of hallucination which are said to have obsessed Mrs. Faling.

The 1911 will, as read by Mr. Logan, contains several philanthropic bequests identical with those in the will under contest. The main difference in the two documents is that the 1915 will leaves nearly the entire estate to charity instead of two individuals, who are remembered only slightly. Another difference is that the 1911 will bequeatha William Metzger, the young man whom Mrs. Faling educated, $6000. In the 1915 will he is left but $2000. Dr. E. A. Smith, of Hillsboro, a member of the Washington County insanity board, testified in the morning that Mrs. Faling was hopelessly insane during June, July and August of 1915, when he saw her.
