

SENATOR BRADY, OF IDAHO, DEAD

Heart Failure Attack Ends Fatally—Illness Causes Legislature to Pass Act.

GOVERNOR CAN APPOINT

Idaho Will Now Elect Two United States Senators Next November, for Senator Borah Will Then Be Up for Re-election.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12.—Senator James H. Brady, of Idaho, died at his home here tonight from heart disease. He suffered an acute attack a week ago yesterday while on his way to Washington from Idaho, and had been in a critical state since.

The Senator's wife and several relatives were at his bedside. His two sons, E. E. Brady, of Chandler, Okla., and J. Robb Brady, of Kansas, were on a train from the West trying to reach Washington in time to see their father alive. The train, due today, had not arrived at a late hour tonight.

Senator Brady was born in Pennsylvania 24 years ago, moved to Kansas when a boy and was educated in the public schools and the Leavenworth Normal College. He taught school for three years and later engaged in newspaper work.

Political Life Recalled. He moved to Idaho in 1884 and soon became prominent in Republican politics. He was elected to the Idaho Republican state committee in 1894 and was elected Governor in 1902.

After his term expired he was elected to the Senate by the state Legislature and re-elected by the people in 1912 for seven years.

Senator Brady took a special interest during the last session in war legislation and was a frequent speaker during the debates on the food and war revenue bills.

Democrat to Be Appointed. Senator Brady's death will result in increasing by one the Democratic majority in the upper House of Congress. The Idaho Legislature last January, knowing of Senator Brady's precarious health, passed an emergency law empowering the Governor to fill by appointment any vacancy in the office of Senator. The appointee will hold office until the next regular election next November. Governor Alexander is a Democrat, and is himself an aspirant for Senatorial honors. Former Governor James H. Hawley, Democrat, is an avowed candidate.

Two Senators to Be Elected. Idaho will now elect two United States Senators next November, for Senator Borah will then be up for re-election.

Senator Brady was 55 years of age last June. He was born in Indiana County, Penn., in 1862, but spent his boyhood and his first years as a young man in Kansas. He was graduated from the Otisville, Kans., high school and studied at the State Normal School at Leavenworth.

In 1894, Mr. Brady went to Idaho and made his home at Pocatello. He first appeared prominently in the political life of the state when he became chairman of the Republican State Central Committee in 1894, a position which he held until 1902. He was elected Governor of Idaho November 3, 1902, and served in that office in the years of 1903 and 1912.

Brady Chosen in 1912. On January 24, 1912, the state Legislature elected Mr. Brady a United States Senator to fill out the unexpired term of the late Senator William H. Heyburn. Judge K. I. Purdy served by appointment as United States Senator between the time of Heyburn's death in October, 1912, and the Legislature met and elected Brady in 1912.

On November 2, 1914, Mr. Brady was re-elected to the United States Senate for a term which expires March 3, 1921. He is survived by his widow, who was Miss Irene Moore of Boise, and by two sons, issue of a former marriage.

Senator Brady was a member of many important Senate committees as follows: Military affairs, mines and mining, agriculture and forestry, conservation of natural resources, National banks, expenditure in department of commerce, public lands, public buildings and grounds and was vitally interested in conservation in the West.

On the military affairs committee he was ranking Republican member and had Charles E. Hughes been elected President he would have been chairman of that important committee at the time of his death.

SENATOR SUCCESS IN BUSINESS

Mr. Brady Credited With Being Millionaire When Elected Governor.

BOISE, Idaho, Jan. 12.—Before coming to Idaho in 1894, Senator Brady taught school for three years in Kansas, edited a small newspaper in Kansas for two years, and engaged in general business. After coming West and making his home at Pocatello, Idaho, Mr. Brady became very successful in a business way and was generally credited with being a millionaire at the time he was elected Governor in 1902.

His most successful ventures were both ditch and irrigation systems in the semi-arid tract of Southern Idaho. After successfully concluding his irrigation enterprises, Mr. Brady became interested in water-power sites. His big success in this line was at American Falls, Idaho, where he developed a big plant which was later sold to the Utah Power Company for a large figure.

At the time of his death Senator Brady was the owner of the Mountain Home irrigation project, which waters a large tract of land around the town of Mountain Home, Idaho. He also had other interests scattered about the state, including important real estate holdings at Pocatello and in the northern part of Idaho.

Politically, Senator Brady's first success was in the direction of the campaign for the election of Frank R. Gooding as Governor of Idaho in 1904. Until he concerned himself actively with political affairs, his career was that of the average business man who is successful in a large way.
