Material. Stored Away on Completion of One of Jetty Projects Along Coast, Rushed to Assist Big Work in Lumber Camps.

Railroad equipment, such as steel ing reason. rails, frogs, switches and even rolling stock, formerly in use on projects of the Corps of Engineers, U. S. A., in the first and second Portland districts, will drive to obtain spruce for aeroplane stock, Colonel Zinn, Corps of Engin-eers, U. S. A., in charge of the discharging her cargo of the discharge her car lots here recommended to Washingon that the railroad gear be sold to home assisting in spruce production, it needed for logging camps and certain millyard purposes. The mat-ter was so arranged and in disposing of the equipment the purchaser pays a reasonable market value and, as all of is available for prompt shipment he does not have to wait the same as if delivery was depended on from Eastern plants, as well as the shipments being ubject to certain changes in market

Little railroad equipment or plant machinery that had been operated in emection with jetty projects has been allowed to become unelens. As jettle ere under way at the mouth of the Columbia, property on the south jetty ras shifted across to the north side and impressed into service and when the north jetty was completed almost a year ago, the equipment was assigned Government work, only that discarded as no longer fit being dis-crs to Prevent Withdrawal.

To induce shippers to accord the Emerald line of steamers more patronage in the way of southbound business, the Chamber of Commerce is calling attention of a number of firms to a statement from the San Francisco headquarters of the fleet, to the effect the vessels would be withdrawn unless more business was obtainable here.

STATE GUARD REMEMBERED

Men on Night Duty Get Warm Quarters at Some Plants.

In appreciation of the fact that the system of using military guards on the waterfront may become permanent for the period of the war, most plants are providing quarters for the men, so that those off post during the night may have a place to keep warm, and during rainy conditions dry their uniis. Some have even added to the ome of the guards by having hot coffee during the night.

As the Oregon State Guard force is operating under the general plan of the police department for protecting waterfront, Rarbormaster Speier has interested himself in the welfare of the men and obtained concessions in the way of quarters. As the placing Repairs Are Made.

MARSHFIELD, Or., Jan. 20.—(Special.)—The vessel atanding offshore Monday in tow of a steam schooner was gone Tuesday when daylight appeared, and the schooner with the cargo had passed on southward. It was believed that the northbound craft supposed to have been the Santa Monica, had her engines rigged up by Monica, had her engines rigged up by seven o'clock and was able to navigate. The G. C. Lindauer, Captain Michel-sen, met the stram schooner Johan Poulsen nine miles south of Cape Bianco at 10:30, and it was de-termined she had the Santa Monica in charge until the latter's repairs were made. The tog Klihyam, of the Port of Banden, searched about the coast from 11 Monday night until 4 e'clock Tuesday morning, and then came in to Coos Ray, finding nothing of the Santa Monica.

Students Denied Admittance Elsewhere to Have Change.

Navigation and seamanship are to be taught by Nautical Expert Schwarz and taught by Nautical supert Schwarz and Chief Feoman Gibbons, attached to the Portland branch of the United States Hydrographic Office, according to announcement made yesterday. Mr. Schwarz says pupils will be enrolled who have had no experience at sea, as well as those who have not had sufficient time on shipboard to admit them to the United States Shipping Board's nautical school, which is maintained at the Oregon building. The latter fits men for examination as deck officers.

Students are to be started on the fundamentals of navigation, the course e begin with arithmetic and the rudiand carried ments of seamanship, and co ments of seamanship, and carried through the technical features. Mr. Schwarz says a number of men have indicated their desire to take up such studies, being interested either in following the sea in merchant ships or mental to the sea in merchant ships

COAST SERVICE IS ARRANGED

Yaquina Bay Vessels.

In a circular issued by the Chamber of Commerce, from the office of Seq-retary Dodson, it is announced that the Columbia Navigation Company has established a service from Portland to Bandon, using the gasoline schooner Roamer, and from Portland to New-port, Waldport, Toledo and Taft with the gasoline schooner E. L. Smith. The plan is for a weekly service at present.

The line, it is said, will be permanent if patronage is dependable, and the ompany will provide carriers to meet equirements above the present ton-age. The Roamer and E. L. Smith will reach communities at present without direct service with Portland, and a large amount of merchandise will no doubt be carried during the comstock, formerly in use on projects of the Corps of Engineers, U. S. A., in the first and second Portland districts, will play a large part in getting out spruce for the Army, as it has been arranged that such gear, for which there is no longer a necessity by virtue of the fact the projects have been completed, can be disposed of to contractors getting out spruce.

About 15 tons of rails were loaded yesterday at the Government moorings, the material having been stored there on the completion of one of the jetty projects along the coast. Other outlits there have been sold to spruce camps in the vicinity and more has been moved from The Dalles-Cellio Canal, where considerable track was in service during the construction of that waterway.

Lisually the Government offers such property for sale after condemnation or after specific projects have been declared finished, but in the present big drive to obtain spruce for acroplane stock, Colonel Zinn, Corps of Engine.
