

ALL-STAR BOXERS ARRANGED BY CLUB

Clever Boxers Scheduled to Meet at Northwest Club Wednesday Night.

FAST BOUTS ARE PROMISED

Bronson to Meet Farren for Lightweight Championship of Pacific Coast—Other 135-Pounders of Class on Programme.

The greatest aggregation of lightweight stars ever gathered in one boxing hall will be presented by the Northwest Athletic Club at the Eleventh-street playhouse tomorrow night.

Tommy Simpson, the Oakland manager and promoter, who is handling Jimmy Duffy, the Oakland shadow, got in touch with Joe Flanagan, manager of Most Bronson in Pacific Coast, who looks after the business of Frankie Farren, yesterday, and got both managers to agree that the winner of tomorrow night's fight will be given Jimmy Duffy a crack at the Pacific Coast lightweight title.

Duffy is in fine fettle for his second fight with Frankie Sullivan, the Los Angeles battler, in the semi-final. Although Duffy does not expect to have a walkaway, he is confident that he will dispose of Sullivan in some manner that he did Frankie Tucker, at the last boxing show here. The boys whose first name is Frankie seem to be a mark for Duffy.

Sullivan is Ready.

The cattle-warred veteran from the Southland is ready for the fast-acting youngster from Oakland and is prepared to make a grand try to slow up Jimmy's career in the pugilistic realm.

Sullivan has been training hard and faithfully for this bout and says that he is in the best shape that he has been in since he has been boxing in the North.

Remains the two top-line lightweight bouts there are two other ones between the 125 pounders that are attracting more than passing attention among the flatie folk.

Joe Benjamin will make his return bid for the lightweight, meeting Jack LaBell, of Minneapolis. Barring his knockout at the hands of the former Spokane boxer has held his own in all of his fights at the lightweight limit.

An effort was made the other day to match McLean with Morris Wood, of New York, one of the claimants of the crown. One Ed Cole, who conducts a big outdoor rink at the home of the "federal" at Washington Park, Brooklyn, thought it opportune to arrange the match. He had an agreement with Nate Lewis, McLean's manager, to race, and then approached Wood.

There he struck a snag. Wood demanded a guarantee of $300 for himself, no matter what the result of the race was, and also spoke of a 50 per cent purse to go to the skaters. That killed the match right there. It has been some time since outdoor skating races have been held in Brooklyn and the match would be a pure gamble now.

However, it is good, interesting sport, and no doubt the people would turn out to see such an event in that city, but Cole couldn't see his way clear to guarantee any money. So unless Wood changes his mind the thing is off as far as he is concerned.

These are the days of guarantees. Everyone thought that the fighters had that field in themselves, but when it came to a quarter of a mile, a half mile, a mile, two miles and three miles. He is hitting it for the "world's championship," which is going to get a nice cut of Wood again. Wood insists that he was never beaten for the professional title, and contends that inasmuch as he is still in the game neither McLean nor anybody else has a right to call himself champion until he has been defeated.

McLean and Lamy to Compete for World's Title at Saranac Lake, N. Y., February 7 and 8. Wood Claims to Hold Crown.

In these arctic days throughout the East the skaters have a great opportunity, meaning those who make money out of the sport. The ice skating game has had a great revival of late and championship matches are all the rage now. Bobby McLean, of Chicago, has laid claim to the title which has brought down a storm of challenges upon him.

Johnny O'Leary, former lightweight champion of Canada, and at one time one of the best lightweights in the game, thinks that he is the best skater out with the country's best boxers who have fought in this city.

BASKETBALL RULE OPPOSED

Pennsylvania Coach Objects to Extension of Courts Beyond Baskets.

Lon Jourde, coach of the University of Pennsylvania basketball team, is opposed to the new rule of the game whereby the ends of the court are extended to form a curved space beyond the baskets at each end of the floor.

Personally I am much opposed to the new rule," he said, "and I believe that the majority of coaches agree with me."

Interpretation meeting, which was held recently in New York, the question of the extension when baskets were on a wall was brought up.

"SAMMIES" IN BAD REPUTE

General Foltz Is Commended for Frowning on Appellation.

TACOMA, Wash., Feb. 4.—(Special.)—About 30 letters have been received at divisional headquarters, Camp Lewis, complimenting Brigadier-General Frederick S. Foltz, commanding the 91st Division, on his suggestion that the use of the word "Sammies" be discontinued in referring to American soldiers.

The general did not commit himself, but thinks the word "Yank" is very acceptable. One letter from Pasadena, Cal., calls attention to the fact that in West Point slang "Sammies" means "mosses." This originated when General Sammy Mills ordered the use of the thick, black molasses in the Army rations.

The general trend of most of the letters is that the word "Sammies" sounds effeminate, and one writer says to call them plain Americans, and nothing else.

UTILITIES REPORT PROFIT

Centralia Light and Water Plants Show Good Gains.

CENTRALIA, Wash., Feb. 4.—(Special.)—Both the municipally owned light and water plants of Centralia made substantial profits in 1917, according to the annual report of City Clerk Mabel Lee, just compiled. The water plant's net profit, the light department being $12,625.56.

The warrant indebtedness of the city was reduced $5722.25 during the year.

HISTORIC HOUSES ARE USED

Soldiers of Second Washington Quarters in Napoleon's Barracks.

CENTRALIA, Wash., Feb. 4.—(Special.)—Members of Company M, 161st United States Infantry, formerly the Second Washington, now in France, are quartered in barracks that were used by Napoleon's soldiers, according to a letter received from a member of the company by his father here today.

At the time of writing, January 6, the regiment had not received any mail since it left Camp Mills.

Car Shortage Now 134.

SALEM, Or., Feb. 4.—The Southern Pacific Company today reported to the Oregon Public Service Commission car shortage on its Oregon lines totaling 134 cars. Of these 89 closed and 45 open cars.

Exhibition Matches Will Displace Tournaments.

FAMOUS PAIRS BREAK UP

Old Star Combinations Separated by War—Oulmet-Gulford Team May Be Thing of Past Due to Enlistment.

Teaming up of prominent golfers in exhibition matches for patriotic causes will probably take the place of tournaments even more completely this year than was the case last Summer.

The Shawnee Country Club, of New York, is open for a new professional and caddy master this season. Alfred Eplbek, who was the "pro" there for two years, has signed with the Albany Country Club, taking the berth vacated by Eddie Towne, who has enlisted.

BAR ASSOCIATION ELECTS

Lewis County Lawyers Form War Savings Stamp Society.

CHEHALIS, Wash., Feb. 4.—(Special.)—The Lewis County Bar Association held its annual meeting here today. Officers were elected for the ensuing year as follows: J. H. Jahnke, Centralia, president; H. E. Grim, Chehalis, vice-president; A. A. Hull, Chehalis, secretary; Ben Rhodes, Centralia, treasurer. The officers, together with H. Forney, of Chehalis, constitute the executive committee.

Hereabouts great teams could be made up. Gil Nicholls and Alec Smith at one time were regarded as well high Golf Club beginning April 1, and Jack Macfarlane and George Fotheringham will be any other likely combination might easily be formed even though a number of the leading amateurs are away. A novelty in this respect would be a Junior team, consisting, say, of A. L. Walker, Jr., and Richard A. Haight.

Thus far only possible amateur pairs have been mentioned, though the professionals are likely to do their share. Jim Barnes, the Whitmarsh man, who won the Western open title last Summer, is likely for a consistent several times last year, and they proved to be a formidable combination.

Amateurs Are Mentioned.

What is needed in future, in more system, but after last season's experiences this is likely to be brought about. These exhibitions will serve to inject interest and variety into country club golf, which in the absence of tournaments is apt to lapse into a sort of a rut.

It is seldom that golf professionals spend their time in other ways than either playing or teaching the game, for those with berths in the Northern clubs in the Summer season there are usually tournaments and most of them migrate to the South with the cold weather. Now word comes that Jim Donaldson, who will be at Norwood Golf Club beginning April 1, and Jack Hutchison, winner of the patriotic open at Whitmarsh Valley last year, have taken up English billiards for recreation. George O. Simpson, of the Oak Park Country Club, is another who has forsaken the links for billiards.

CAMP LEWIS HAS STARS

MANY PROFESSIONAL BALLPLAYERS AMONG SOLDIERS.

Fast Games in Prospect When Divisional Team Meets League Clubs at Cantonment.

TACOMA, Wash., Feb. 4.—(Special.)—Of the more than 20,000 men at Camp Lewis, 95 per cent are baseball fans and submerged in the different units are stars of the professional game.

Leonard Walleit, former Victoria Bees' manager, and Lieutenant "Death Valley" Jim Scott, ex-White Sox heater, undoubtedly will be the leaders of the team. They will see to it that regimental teams will have their training also and baseball will be brought to every man at camp.

Here are some of the boys now in khaki, who will answer the call: "Red" Oldha, San Francisco pitcher; Louis Gusto, Cleveland first baseman; Charles Mullen, infielder and former manager of the Lincoln Western League club; Walter Maiks, the eccentric South-paw, who has taken a whirl at major, Pacific Coast and Northwest league ball; "Red" Baldwin, Portland catcher; "Cooney" McGinniss.

Other players are already lining up their team and have four men of Class AA experience available. Howard Morduff, speedy Coast League outfielder, is slated for an outlander's berth. This is another of the "Swedish" Jacobson, big California blonde, is another hurler calculated to work. He appeared with the Vernon club and was in independent ball. Corporal Heinz is another leaguer who is expected to show form.
