

GRIFFITH PLEADS FOR SQUARE DEAL

Six-Cent Fare Is Just and Necessary, Asserts Head of Streetcar Company.

STOCK IS WITHOUT VALUE

Operation of Jitneys, Says Speaker at Healy Board Luncheon, Gives One Section of City Service at Expense of Suburbs.

The right of a public service corporation to fair consideration and treatment, such as is accorded private individuals and concerns, was maintained yesterday noon at the weekly luncheon of the Healy Board, by Franklin T. Griffith, president of the Portland Railway, Light & Power Company, speaking on "Why a 6-Cent Fare Is Just and Necessary."

Every table in the crystal room of the Hotel Benson had its quota of interested listeners and the entry was blocked with auditors. Through Mr. Griffith spoke for more than an hour and a half, there was no sign of a lessening in the tense interest and he was repeatedly urged to continue. At the close he was enthusiastically congratulated by scores on his exposition of the company's stand.

Public Looks Understanding. "When will the public realize that men engaged in public service are not different from other men in their respect for the truth?" asked Mr. Griffith. "When will the public realize that public officials charged with the responsibility of regulation can be honest and fair in their statements, even though such position recognizes the claim of the utilities? Why should a decision we do not understand and do not like forthwith be criticized as dishonest and corrupt?"

Midway in the address a questioner fired at Mr. Griffith the query, "How much is the company's stock worth today?" "In the market it is worth nothing," was the decisive reply. "Its actual value depends on the people of Portland. Under public service regulations, franchise conditions as to service are wholly set aside and the utility is required to give such service as may be deemed necessary or convenient, although that may be many times the service required by the franchise. "Public service regulations are compelled to subordinate their judgment to that of public officials and money invested in public service utilities is subject to the control of the public through its officers, to a far greater extent than it is in the control of the owners."

Dividends Not Possible. "The company will not provide any dividends at all on the stockholders' equity in the property, until such time as increased business, by building up traffic density, shall reduce the average cost and increase earnings without an increase in expenses. "We believe that the people of Portland should be willing that the public service corporation pay reasonable wages and provide proper working conditions for the men in its employ, even though the higher fare is invoked."

In his lengthy discussion of the street railway company's finances, Mr. Griffith declared that the company, in its reports to the Public Service Commission, had attempted to lay only the truth, thoroughly established, before that body, and that its engineers and experts, who toiled for more than three years in inventory and appraisal of the property, were not such as to attract the experts employed by the commission presented a report at variance with the company's, Mr. Griffith said, due to the determination of the state engineers that certain units of the property might have been constructed at lower cost, and the elimination of property held to be not immediately necessary.

Estimates Vary Widely. "In the recent fare investigation," said Mr. Griffith, "the chief engineer of the commission, whose integrity and ability is such that he has been employed by the Canadian government to appraise the Canadian Northern railway system, testified that the street railways of Portland could not now be produced for an amount 40 per cent in excess of the value found by the commission." "It is an American principle that the inhabitants of our cities should have the opportunity to live in comfortable surroundings, which is absolutely opposed to the tenement basis of European cities, which should be eliminated," he stated. "It has been recognized, especially in the West, that close-in residents should pay more than the actual cost of transportation in order that the universal low fare be charged to all parts of the city."

In an American principle that the inhabitants of our cities should have the opportunity to live in comfortable surroundings, which is absolutely opposed to the tenement basis of European cities, which should be eliminated," he stated. "It has been recognized, especially in the West, that close-in residents should pay more than the actual cost of transportation in order that the universal low fare be charged to all parts of the city."

Inventor Lambert Honored. A signal honor was conferred upon Henry M. Lambert, Portland inventor, at the meeting Mr. Lambert is the local man whose invention, a new type of automobile tire, won a special medal and diploma at the Panama-Pacific International Exposition at San Francisco, and to him the complimentary luncheon was tendered.

Mr. W. M. Inglis in City. Mrs. Inglis, wife of Colonel William M. Inglis, in command of the Second Washington, is a patron of the Portland Hotel. She is here looking after property she owns in Portland. Her husband is now in France and she was pleased to learn recently that he has been commissioned Brigadier-General since arriving on foreign soil. Colonel and Mrs. Inglis have a wide acquaintance in Portland.

According to Mrs. Inglis the regiment sailed from this country on December 12 and arrived in France December 27. She has received two letters from the Colonel since his arrival there and he says the voyage was uneventful, no submarines being sighted. On Christmas day a splendid meal was served, including turkey, plum pudding and everything that goes with a regular old-fashioned Christmas meal.

Mrs. Inglis was at Camp Mills for several weeks before the regiment sailed and was the guest of friends nearby.

HOOD RIVER has developed still another new apple—the Swaar, which promises well. It resembles the Yellow Newtown, but of firmer flesh, and may perhaps be more used as a cooking than an eating apple.

The Swaar has been raised in the foothills of Mount Hood. The retail price is $1.30 a box. Yellow Newtowns, now of fine color, $1.25 a box. Rome Beauties, rich red, $1 a box. Winesap, of large size, $2.25 a box.

Amongst less select offerings from Hood River are Ben Davis and Yellow Newtowns, $1.50 a box. Golden Orley, $1.25; Spitzbergen, Gano and Newtown, $1.25 a box. Spitzbergen, $1 to $2 a box.

By the dozen, attractive Yellow Newtowns, Winesap and Orleys can be purchased at 40 cents. Handsome Blus Permaine are 20 cents a dozen, three for 5 cents. Jonathan, good useful fruit, 15 cents a dozen.

The apple market for cleaning up fast with the short term Senatorship. Neither Senator McNary nor Robert N. Stanfield nor S. B. Huston, his opponents, has intimated that he will seek election for both the long and the short terms. They are expected to defer announcement on the subject until it has been officially determined that they can aspire for both terms of the same office.

In his ruling, Attorney-General Brown held that the voters this year would elect two United States Senators—one for the short term extending from next November until the following March and another for the full term of six years beginning next March and holding until March, 1925. But he did not decide the question of whether the same candidate could run for both terms, explaining that this point was not involved in the query he was asked to unravel.

Short Term Hudson's Aim. But this point concerns only the candidates of Senator McNary and Messrs. Stanfield and Huston, who are seeking election as successor to the late Senator Lane. It has nothing to do with the prospective candidacy of Mr. Hudson, who if he does become a candidate, will seek only the short term. It is probable that the Attorney-General will be asked for an opinion to clear up this situation.

Portland lawyers, who have examined the state laws on the subject in conjunction with the Federal constitution as to Senatorial elections, have expressed the belief that there is nothing in the statutes of the state or the United States Constitution to prevent any candidate for the long term from also seeking election for the short term if he so elects.

MISSING GIRL IS FOUND. Frances Boreham, Who Disappeared on Wednesday, Safe With Friends. Frances Boreham, aged 11 years, who suddenly dropped from sight Wednesday after school, was found last night at the Vernon Library. She had been with some of her friends while her parents and the police were trying to find her.

HUDSON MAY RUN

Head of Artisans May Seek U. S. Senatorship.

SHORT TERM CONSIDERED

Former Member of Legislature Is Urged by Friends to Make Race. Election for Two Terms This Year Raises Problem.

H. S. Hudson, of this city, supreme master of the United Artisans for Oregon, may be a candidate on the Republican ticket for United States Senator for the short term. He says his friends are insisting that he make the race and he has the matter under consideration.

"My friends have for several days been urging me to become a candidate for the short term in the United States Senate from Oregon," said Mr. Hudson yesterday, "and I am giving the matter careful consideration. However, I am not prepared at this time to make a definite announcement."

Mr. Hudson was a member of the Oregon Legislature 20 years ago, but in the last 16 years has been actively identified with the fraternal order of Artisans, of which he has been the official head.

Problem Is Presented. The name of Mr. Hudson is the first to be mentioned seriously in connection with the short term Senatorship. Neither Senator McNary nor Robert N. Stanfield nor S. B. Huston, his opponents, has intimated that he will seek election for both the long and the short terms. They are expected to defer announcement on the subject until it has been officially determined that they can aspire for both terms of the same office.

In his ruling, Attorney-General Brown held that the voters this year would elect two United States Senators—one for the short term extending from next November until the following March and another for the full term of six years beginning next March and holding until March, 1925. But he did not decide the question of whether the same candidate could run for both terms, explaining that this point was not involved in the query he was asked to unravel.

Short Term Hudson's Aim. But this point concerns only the candidates of Senator McNary and Messrs. Stanfield and Huston, who are seeking election as successor to the late Senator Lane. It has nothing to do with the prospective candidacy of Mr. Hudson, who if he does become a candidate, will seek only the short term. It is probable that the Attorney-General will be asked for an opinion to clear up this situation.

Portland lawyers, who have examined the state laws on the subject in conjunction with the Federal constitution as to Senatorial elections, have expressed the belief that there is nothing in the statutes of the state or the United States Constitution to prevent any candidate for the long term from also seeking election for the short term if he so elects.

MISSING GIRL IS FOUND. Frances Boreham, Who Disappeared on Wednesday, Safe With Friends. Frances Boreham, aged 11 years, who suddenly dropped from sight Wednesday after school, was found last night at the Vernon Library. She had been with some of her friends while her parents and the police were trying to find her.

Miss Boreham, who lives at 1233 East Thirty-fifth street North, disappeared after being reported by E. T. Felling, principal of the Kennedy School, who reprimanded her for soliciting contributions for war funds without proper authority. Mr. Felling explained yesterday that he heartily approved the principle of the work the girl was doing, but was forced to remonstrate to her parents because of the circumstances surrounding the solicitation.

"I object to the manner in which the parents reported that I criticized the girl's solicitation of war funds," said Mr. Felling. "It made it appear that I was opposed to the principle, which I certainly am not. The girl simply needed correction, and it was my duty to inform her parents in a note, which she apparently opened and read."

GRIFFITH PLEADS FOR SQUARE DEAL

Six-Cent Fare Is Just and Necessary, Asserts Head of Streetcar Company.

STOCK IS WITHOUT VALUE

Operation of Jitneys, Says Speaker at Healy Board Luncheon, Gives One Section of City Service at Expense of Suburbs.

The right of a public service corporation to fair consideration and treatment, such as is accorded private individuals and concerns, was maintained yesterday noon at the weekly luncheon of the Healy Board, by Franklin T. Griffith, president of the Portland Railway, Light & Power Company, speaking on "Why a 6-Cent Fare Is Just and Necessary."

Every table in the crystal room of the Hotel Benson had its quota of interested listeners and the entry was blocked with auditors. Through Mr. Griffith spoke for more than an hour and a half, there was no sign of a lessening in the tense interest and he was repeatedly urged to continue. At the close he was enthusiastically congratulated by scores on his exposition of the company's stand.

Public Looks Understanding. "When will the public realize that men engaged in public service are not different from other men in their respect for the truth?" asked Mr. Griffith. "When will the public realize that public officials charged with the responsibility of regulation can be honest and fair in their statements, even though such position recognizes the claim of the utilities? Why should a decision we do not understand and do not like forthwith be criticized as dishonest and corrupt?"

Midway in the address a questioner fired at Mr. Griffith the query, "How much is the company's stock worth today?" "In the market it is worth nothing," was the decisive reply. "Its actual value depends on the people of Portland. Under public service regulations, franchise conditions as to service are wholly set aside and the utility is required to give such service as may be deemed necessary or convenient, although that may be many times the service required by the franchise. "Public service regulations are compelled to subordinate their judgment to that of public officials and money invested in public service utilities is subject to the control of the public through its officers, to a far greater extent than it is in the control of the owners."

Dividends Not Possible. "The company will not provide any dividends at all on the stockholders' equity in the property, until such time as increased business, by building up traffic density, shall reduce the average cost and increase earnings without an increase in expenses. "We believe that the people of Portland should be willing that the public service corporation pay reasonable wages and provide proper working conditions for the men in its employ, even though the higher fare is invoked."

In his lengthy discussion of the street railway company's finances, Mr. Griffith declared that the company, in its reports to the Public Service Commission, had attempted to lay only the truth, thoroughly established, before that body, and that its engineers and experts, who toiled for more than three years in inventory and appraisal of the property, were not such as to attract the experts employed by the commission presented a report at variance with the company's, Mr. Griffith said, due to the determination of the state engineers that certain units of the property might have been constructed at lower cost, and the elimination of property held to be not immediately necessary.

Estimates Vary Widely. "In the recent fare investigation," said Mr. Griffith, "the chief engineer of the commission, whose integrity and ability is such that he has been employed by the Canadian government to appraise the Canadian Northern railway system, testified that the street railways of Portland could not now be produced for an amount 40 per cent in excess of the value found by the commission." "It is an American principle that the inhabitants of our cities should have the opportunity to live in comfortable surroundings, which is absolutely opposed to the tenement basis of European cities, which should be eliminated," he stated. "It has been recognized, especially in the West, that close-in residents should pay more than the actual cost of transportation in order that the universal low fare be charged to all parts of the city."

In an American principle that the inhabitants of our cities should have the opportunity to live in comfortable surroundings, which is absolutely opposed to the tenement basis of European cities, which should be eliminated," he stated. "It has been recognized, especially in the West, that close-in residents should pay more than the actual cost of transportation in order that the universal low fare be charged to all parts of the city."

Inventor Lambert Honored. A signal honor was conferred upon Henry M. Lambert, Portland inventor, at the meeting Mr. Lambert is the local man whose invention, a new type of automobile tire, won a special medal and diploma at the Panama-Pacific International Exposition at San Francisco, and to him the complimentary luncheon was tendered.

Mr. W. M. Inglis in City. Mrs. Inglis, wife of Colonel William M. Inglis, in command of the Second Washington, is a patron of the Portland Hotel. She is here looking

HUDSON MAY RUN

Head of Artisans May Seek U. S. Senatorship.

SHORT TERM CONSIDERED

Former Member of Legislature Is Urged by Friends to Make Race. Election for Two Terms This Year Raises Problem.

H. S. Hudson, of this city, supreme master of the United Artisans for Oregon, may be a candidate on the Republican ticket for United States Senator for the short term. He says his friends are insisting that he make the race and he has the matter under consideration.

"My friends have for several days been urging me to become a candidate for the short term in the United States Senate from Oregon," said Mr. Hudson yesterday, "and I am giving the matter careful consideration. However, I am not prepared at this time to make a definite announcement."

Mr. Hudson was a member of the Oregon Legislature 20 years ago, but in the last 16 years has been actively identified with the fraternal order of Artisans, of which he has been the official head.

Problem Is Presented. The name of Mr. Hudson is the first to be mentioned seriously in connection with the short term Senatorship. Neither Senator McNary nor Robert N. Stanfield nor S. B. Huston, his opponents, has intimated that he will seek election for both the long and the short terms. They are expected to defer announcement on the subject until it has been officially determined that they can aspire for both terms of the same office.

In his ruling, Attorney-General Brown held that the voters this year would elect two United States Senators—one for the short term extending from next November until the following March and another for the full term of six years beginning next March and holding until March, 1925. But he did not decide the question of whether the same candidate could run for both terms, explaining that this point was not involved in the query he was asked to unravel.

Short Term Hudson's Aim. But this point concerns only the candidates of Senator McNary and Messrs. Stanfield and Huston, who are seeking election as successor to the late Senator Lane. It has nothing to do with the prospective candidacy of Mr. Hudson, who if he does become a candidate, will seek only the short term. It is probable that the Attorney-General will be asked for an opinion to clear up this situation.

Portland lawyers, who have examined the state laws on the subject in conjunction with the Federal constitution as to Senatorial elections, have expressed the belief that there is nothing in the statutes of the state or the United States Constitution to prevent any candidate for the long term from also seeking election for the short term if he so elects.

MISSING GIRL IS FOUND. Frances Boreham, Who Disappeared on Wednesday, Safe With Friends. Frances Boreham, aged 11 years, who suddenly dropped from sight Wednesday after school, was found last night at the Vernon Library. She had been with some of her friends while her parents and the police were trying to find her.

Miss Boreham, who lives at 1233 East Thirty-fifth street North, disappeared after being reported by E. T. Felling, principal of the Kennedy School, who reprimanded her for soliciting contributions for war funds without proper authority. Mr. Felling explained yesterday that he heartily approved the principle of the work the girl was doing, but was forced to remonstrate to her parents because of the circumstances surrounding the solicitation.

"I object to the manner in which the parents reported that I criticized the girl's solicitation of war funds," said Mr. Felling. "It made it appear that I was opposed to the principle, which I certainly am not. The girl simply needed correction, and it was my duty to inform her parents in a note, which she apparently opened and read."

Saturday! Feb. 9 -will be Armenian Life Saving Day! Will anyone refuse to Save a Life? -at a cost of 17c each per day? The week is nearly gone, and not half of the necessary amount has been secured. Every man, woman and child must help to save the lives of 2,500,000 people who are starving to death this very minute. Let's make Saturday the biggest Humanity Day Portland ever saw. We can do it, if each of us will Be a Life Saver! Every cent you give will positively get to them immediately—no delay—no overhead—and no expense for this campaign, as it is paid for by private contribution. Armenian Relief Committee, Ben Selling, Treas., Portland Hotel.

TEACHER IS RELEASED. PROFESSOR DEFELL PROVES HE WAS WRONGFULLY ACCUSED. United States District Attorney Gives Out Statement Declaring He Will Not Prosecute. Professor J. Hartman DeFell, formerly of the University of Oregon, was released yesterday from detention in rooms of a Portland club, where he had been ordered to remain during the past two weeks, while under investigation by the Federal authorities. He said he would seek to discover just who was to blame for his plight. The order releasing Mr. DeFell became suspicious directed at him were founded unwarranted, was one of the last acts Clarence Reames, retiring United States Attorney, performed in his official capacity yesterday. Mr. Reames gave out a statement, the pertinent part of which follows: "Investigation today has disclosed that Mr. DeFell's application for life insurance, the original record signed by him at the time he entered the United States at New York, and the original records of McGill University at Montreal, all show that he was born in Dorpat, Russia, on May 27, 1886. His father, who was a professor of music, had also confirmed the date as May 27, 1886, and has furnished proof of that date. "The evidence has been very conflicting, but I am of the opinion that the professor was born at Dorpat, Russia, on May 27, 1886, for which reason there will be no prosecution by this office against him."

PORTLAND BONDS INVITING. City Takes Entire Issue of $60,870.24; Several Bids Received. Portland local improvement bonds are holding their own as far as value is concerned in the bond-buying world. This was shown in bids opened yesterday for an issue of $60,870.24 in the usual 10-year 5 per cent bonds. The city took the entire issue for use in the water bureau sinking fund. The bids as received were: Security Savings & Trust Company, par and $100 premium for the entire issue; L. Wise, 102.25 for $4000; 103.1 for $4000; 104.1 for $1500; and 104.5 for $1500; Citizens' Bank, 102.25 for $15,000; Morris Brothers, 104.10 for all; Lumbermen's Trust Company, 102.17 for all; Keeler Brothers, 101.05 for all; G. L. and J. A. McPherson, par and $100 premium for all; United States National Bank, one-fourth of 1 per cent premium for all.

NOTICE! Spend your money today, Saturday—ARMENIAN LIFE-SAVING DAY—with business concerns that display in their window the following sign: Dan Barclay, comedian from Ziegfeld's "Follies" company, is going to be featured in some Essanay comedies. Read The Oregonian classified ads.

LIFE-SAVING DAY! Today we are giving a percentage of our entire gross receipts to the Armenian Relief Committee to help SAVE A LIFE! Conrad Ludwig, alien enemy, was arrested yesterday in Washington County with 20 sticks of dynamite, 30 feet of fuse and two-thirds of a box of caps in his possession. This was telephoned to the office of the United States District Attorney by Sheriff J. C. Applegate, who effected the arrest. Under the explosives act passed by Congress in October, no person, alien or citizen, may have explosives in his possession without an accompanying permit, explained Robert R. Rankin, now acting United States Attorney. At the same time Mr. Rankin announced his intention of inaugurating wholesale prosecutions of Oregon residents disregarding the new regulations and the President's proclamation bearing on the matter. Under provisions of the enemy alien act the Federal authorities have the power merely to intern Ludwig. He is not to get off so easily as this, declared Mr. Rankin. "This is to be the first prosecution Read The Oregonian classified ads."

DAILY METEOROLOGICAL REPORT. PORTLAND, Feb. 8.—Maximum temperature, 54 degrees; minimum, 43 degrees. River reading at 8 A. M., 13.8 feet; change in last 24 hours, 0.8 foot rise. Total rainfall (5 P. M. to 5 P. M.), none; total rainfall since September 1, 1917, 28.29 inches; annual rainfall, 27.49 inches; excess of rainfall since September 1, 1917, 0.80 inch. Sunsets, 7:24 A. M.; moonset, 2:23 P. M. Barometer (reduced to sea level) at 5 P. M., 30.21 inches. Relative humidity at noon, 55 per cent.

FORECAST. With a clear sky; rain; increasing southerly winds. Oregon—Rain; increasing southerly winds becoming fresh gale along the coast. Washington—Rain; increasing southerly winds; fresh gale along the coast. Idaho—Saturday fair. Storm warnings continued along the Washington coast and on Puget Sound. EDWARD L. WELLS, Meteorologist.