"Widespread organization of real estate boards in the United States and the swift increase of memberships of these boards," said Paul A. Cowgill, secretary of the Portland Realty Board, vesterday, "constitutes one of the most gratifying phases of the movement towards concerted action. There are comparatively few cities in which there is not a Realty Board now.

"Next above the local boards are the state and interstate associations which have become big factors in many commonwealths. Above these state or-ganizations is the powerful body known as the National Association of Real Estate Boards whose jurisdiction in-cludes Canada as well as the United States. This notable system of co-operation has resulted in vast good."

DOCTORS SEEM LESS PATRIOTIC THAN OTHERS IN DRAFT.

Churge for Services in Conducting Registration.

As a class, physicians are accused exhibiting more selfishness in de-inding pay for services in connection the draft than any other group This statement comes from an official too high in the draft system to permits divulgence of his name. or miss divulgence of his name.
"It would seem harsh to intimate that our doctors are less patriotic than our awyers or the general run of draft board members," stated the official, but the fact remains that the doctor who is not asking pay is the excep-tion. I think draft workers will uni-versally agree that in the work with the questionnaires the lawyers per-formed a much more disagreeable and thankless task than the doctors go through in the routine of physical ex-aminations. The lawyers asked nothing tors are filing claims for pay."
