170 AMERICAN LIVES LOST ON TUSCANIA

Official Advices Show Few Dead in Addition to Those Already Buried.

SEVERAL NAMES IN DOUBT

Report Made Available of Victims of U-Boat and Home Addresses, Those Interred Recorded by Number.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 12 .-- War Department advices indicate that very few American soldiars lost their lives in the destruction of the liner Tus-canis in addition to the 164 reparted today as buried on the Scottish coast.

The latest reports place the American loss at not more than 170 of the 2175 who were on board the ship, although the list of rescued still is far from Seven additional survivors were offi-cally reported tonight, reducing the department's list of those not recorded as saved to about 280. The Associated Press list of the unreported, made up by checking both official and unofficial advices against the Tuscania's pas-senger list, was reduced to 171. The War Department is exchanging daily long cablegrams with the embassy at London in an effort to com-plete the survivors' roll and untangle names garbled in transmission.

Some Still Unidentified.

Of the 164 American dead who have been buried in Scotland, it was not pos-sible to identify 23 of the soldiers, who scholers, who undoubtedly were distiguted beyond recognition and had nothing on them by which to determine who they were. Of the names of the 131 soldiers sent from Scotland, 122 have been definitely located on the list compiled by the Associated Press of men whose names summared on the massenger list but who appeared on the passenger list but who have not been reported as survivors. Six of the ISI names show similarity with others on the missing list, but three of them show no similarity.
