of 120,700 tons.

In the Oregon district during Peb-Fuary six vessels were launched of the aggregate tonnage of 36,500 tons. Two of them, the schooner Thistle, at St. Helens, and the steam schooner John Kiernan, at the Kiernan & Kern yard, Portland, were for private account. There were aix ships launched during the month at wooden yards, totaling 13,000 tons, and two steel ships, repre-senting 17,600 tons.

The steel steamers are for the Government and four of the wooden steam-ers for the same account represent 15,500 tons, so the district's share to help win the war was 33,100 tons. Thus Oregon alone in February launched one-seventh as much tonnage KALAMA, Wash., March 10.—(Special.)—With the sudden death of E. Hettum yesterday, Kalama lost one of its most picturesque figures, as well as one of its shrewdest business men. Mr. Hettum, who was a native of Assyria, came to Kalama 25 years ago with a pack of merchandlse on his back, and from such a humble beginning rose to be one of the most substantial of Kalama's merchants. He owned the largest general merchandise store in town and also was proprietor of the Majestic Theater.

In his native country Mr. Hettum had the Albany High School and attended Albany College two years before enter-ing the University of Oregon. He served several years in the local company of the Oregon National Guard.

Work on Wooden Bottoms to Be Ex pedited by Training of More Apprentices, Is Declaration of Organized Labor Official.

SEATTLE, March 10 .- Any fears that the wooden building programme in the Puget Sound district is threatened with a tie-up through a shortage of caulkers and refusal of caulkers to teach apprentices their trade, as outlined in statements made by the Shipping Board last week, are groundless, according to Edward Rowan, business agent of they remained until picked up by the the Shipwrights' and Caulkers' unions of Seattle, in a statement to the Associated Press tonight. Mr. Rowan as serted that he spoke officially for both unions. "Shipbuilders of Washington are going to go down the line to aid the Government's shipbuilding programme, Mr. Rowan declared. "We want to prove to the Nation that we are just as loyal and patriotic Americans as can be found in the country, "We don't want it understood any longer that we are trying to hold back the ship programme. To prove this we shall immediately do our utmost to as caulkers. We have already put on a number of apprentices and will put on more, besides beadiers and reamers, "We shall likewise do our utmost to co-operate with the building trades,

There are plenty of carpenters that can be trained as caulkers."
William Pigott, supervising director for the Shipping Board of wooden ship-building in the Puget Sound district expressed pleasure over the announce-"I have full confidence that the ship wrights and caulkers will co-operate in every way with the Government," he said. "I am positive that hereafter we
