PRESIDENT OF THE ASSOCIATION COLLEGIATE ALUMNAE, WHO ARE SPONSORS FOR COLONEL LEADER'S LECTURE FRIDAY, MARCH 22.

FOUNDED by close friends and relatives numbering about 150, Miss Helen Minsinger last night became the bride of Adolph Neu. The wedding was a charming and unusually pretty affair and it was solemnized at 8:20 o'clock at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. Minsinger, Rev. Edward H. Pence officiating. William Hoops played the wedding march and Mrs. Lulu Dahl Miller presided the ceremony with a delightful vocal selection. The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Edna Minsinger as maid of honor and Miss Katharine Schnabel as bridesmaid. Norman Mataschek attended the bridegroom at best man.

Mrs. Forrest Fisher

The service was read before an improvised altar in the library, built of Dorothy Perkins roses and Easter lilies. Spring flowers flanked the sides of the altar, the ensemble making a charming foil for the attractive bride party. All about the room, in the drawing and dining-rooms, were quantities of Opheila roses in baskets and standards. The supper table also was decked with a broad low basket of the Opheila roses and similar blossoms were effectively arranged about the house.

The bride who is a charming girl was lovely in a gown of Georgette white satin, trimmed with silver lace being draped on the skirt and bodice. A full court train of the satin was further trimmed with pleatings of chiffon and bowknots of ribbon and orange blossoms. The tall veil also was decked with clusters of the orange blossoms and it was arranged in a semi-circle, the front of the coiffure being handed with a little spray of the orange blossoms. The bridal bouquet was a shower of white orchids and white sweet peas.

Miss Minsinger was charming in a gown of pale pink satin and tulle and she carried a shower bouquet of Opheila roses.

Miss Schnabel wore a lovely gown of pastel green tulle and satin and also carried a shower bouquet of the Opheila roses.

Mrs. Minsinger's gown was a charming creation of black net embellished with jet.

Mrs. Neu wore a handsome gown of grey chiffon and satin, with a little silver trimming.

Following the ceremony an informal reception was held and the latter part of the evening was passed in dancing. A buffet supper was served, the table being presided over by Mrs. W. F. Greer and Mrs. Jasper Greer. A group of intimate friends of the bride assisted in serving.

For traveling Mrs. Neu chose a handsome model of black velvet, velvet champagne, worn with black straw hat and a corsage of Parma violets. Mr. and Mrs. Neu will spend a few weeks in Del Monte and upon their return they will make their home in Irvington.

Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Jewett were dinner hosts last night complimenting Miss Shanna Cumming and her fiancé, Lawrence R. Wheeler. The table was artistically appointed and covers were placed for 12 of the younger married contingent.

Mrs. M. C. Cuthbert who makes her home at the Multnomah Hotel, entertained with a card party and supper last night in the hotel, the guests numbering eight.

The "sacrifice boxes" for the benefit of the Neighborhood House are meeting with great success. Those who have not returned their boxes may send them to Mrs. Joseph Goodman, 74 Twentieth street North. The plan includes the sacrifice of some little luxury and the placing of a small sum of money in the sacrifice box.

The Red Cross Circle of the East Side Christian Church meets every Thursday in the church parlors from 10 until 5 and does its full quota of work under the capable direction of the chairman, Mrs. Lester W. Morick. All kinds of sewing and knitting are provided, so that every woman may choose the kind of work that she most likes. The women of the congregation are urged to get in touch with the circle and those who cannot spend the entire day in Red Cross work may come for the length of time they can spare.

The Housekeepers' Alliance was established in the city of Washington long before the war. It was educational in spirit. Conference and study classes were held. Co-operation among home-makers as well as co-operation between employer and employe was advanced in short, its aim was to promote welfare of and to contribute to better efficiency in the home.

WAR GARDENS

By PROF. A. G. B. BOUQUET

Flowing Land for Vegetables.
WHEN and how should soil be plowed for a good vegetable garden was one of the questions asked at Meier & Frank's auditorium last Friday afternoon, when the first lecture of a series on various phases of vegetable growing was given. This question cannot be answered in a general way to suit all conditions because of the various kinds of soil in which vegetables are being grown. Each gardener, therefore, must be governed by his or her individual conditions. There are, however, certain definite general things to be observed by all.

1. Do not hurry the Spring plowing. Be ready, it is true, to take advantage of an opportune moment if possible, but it is probably more soils that are plowed wet than those which are plowed when they are actually right. Plowing too early or too wet will result in many difficulties in the work later. The soil will never be in the best condition, inasmuch as it will be somewhat lumpy and never will hold moisture as well as that soil which has been plowed in the right condition. The wet plowing will show during the whole growing season and will be a source of trouble, which can be eliminated by plowing when the soil is in a friable state.

2. Plow as early in the Spring as is consistent with the best condition of the soil for so doing, that is, early Spring plowing is to be advised when the weather is opportune and the soil will crumble. Early Spring plowing will have a tendency to enable the garden to hold moisture better during the growing season, inasmuch as the Spring rains can be more or less conserved when the ground has been broken. Some soils can be plowed 24 hours after a rain, but there are more soils that cannot be handled as rapidly, but bottom lands that are not sandy usually should not be plowed until well along in the Spring. The question, therefore, of plowing individual vacant lots will be one that will be governed entirely by prevailing conditions. If the soils contain a predominance of clay or silt and, therefore, are classified as heavy or medium heavy soils, it will not be possible to prepare these until there has been a season of settled dry weather, which will enable the excessive soil moisture to pass below the plowing depth. One of the best ways

In Our Mothers' Days
Silk Underwear was wild extravagance, but since the introduction of KAYSER
Italian Silk
UNDERWEAR

It has become a wise economy, for it launders as perfectly and wears as long as any cotton lingerie.

And how much it adds to the appearance of your pretty thin waist to have an envelope chemise or camisole of this soft, lustrous silk, with its Yal. lace or crocheted edging at neck and arms, and its dainty ribbons to tie it. Every piece of this lingerie expresses that absolute refinement that is a vital part of the real lady.

Another point of practical advantage is the skillful way in which each garment of the "Kaiser Italian Silk Underwear" is cut to fit the figure, and give that slender silhouette that cannot be obtained with bulky cotton garments.

The prices, too, are extremely moderate, considering the quality of material used, and the care with which every smallest detail is carried out.

At last, a silk union suit that fits

AT last, a silk union suit that fits perfectly — one that will not gap or bind.

The front and back of the ordinary silk union suits are identical in width. Marvelfit Union Suits (patented) are tailored fuller in the front, and so insure more comfort by fitting correctly over the bust. They are made of Kaiser Italian Silk.

The Marvelfit flaps, both back and front, overlap and remain closed, regardless of the position of the wearer. The seat has been relieved of all uncomfortable strain by adding a full six inches to its width. The reinforcements are enlarged to protect thoroughly where the wear and friction are greatest. The shoulder straps are brought higher on the back and nearer together, preventing disagreeable slipping at the shoulders.

Kaiser Marvelfit Italian Silk Underwear fits well and wears well. It is therefore economical.

Know it by the Kaiser Marvelfit Italian Silk label

One blue star on the label indicates the lighter weight silk — three stars the heavier weight. —Julius Kayser & Co., New York.
