

LIBERTY REGULATION FOUGHT BY WOMAN

Mrs. Katherine McCord Seeks Immunity From Arrest in Injunction Suit Filed.

UNFAIRNESS IS CHARGED

Four Attacks Two City Ordinances as Unjust and Discriminatory and Asks That Court Declare Regulations Null and Void.

Another effort to defeat the Portland liberty regulation ordinance was started yesterday by Mrs. Katherine McCord, woman litigator, who filed suit in the Circuit Court for an injunction enjoining the city officials, including Chief of Police Johnson, from arresting her again or from filing further criminal charges against her in the Municipal Court as a result of her operations as a liberty operator.

The injunction is sought on the grounds that two of the liberty regulation ordinances passed by the City Council are unconstitutional in that they are "unfair, unjust and discriminatory," and contrary to the constitution of the state of Oregon and the United States.

The plaintiff sets forth that early in 1918, the Council passed an ordinance regulating for hire automobiles and vehicles, and provided that no person should be licensed to operate such vehicles unless he or she was a resident of the city of Portland. In July of the same year, she says, this ordinance was amended to exclude these provisions of the law so far as it pertains to machines used by general directors and hotels.

She alleges that general directors and hotels are allowed to operate machines and buses for hire without license and without furnishing the $2500 bond as required by the initiative "anti-liberty" ordinance passed by the people of Portland last June. Because of this alleged discrimination, she asserts, the city of Portland should be permanently enjoined from attempting to prosecute her for conducting her business for hire.

The plaintiff asks that the Circuit Court declare the ordinance regulating machines as passed by the Council null and void. She also seeks a permanent injunction from arrest and prosecution. During the pendency of her suit she asks for a temporary injunction.

The plaintiff asserts that she has put all her capital into the motor vehicle which she uses and that she is endeavoring to earn a livelihood with her for-hire car. If the city of Portland is not restrained from arresting her and prosecuting her, she alleges she will be deprived of her liberty and property without due and legal process of law.

Mrs. McCord has been arrested by the city authorities on several occasions because of her persistent efforts to operate a for-hire machine contrary to the city ordinance. She is said to be one of those who had the "anti-liberty" ordinance tested several months ago in the Circuit Court, at which time Judge Tucker upheld the city ordinance, and held that the so-called "Pro Line" was operating in violation of the law under a subterfuge that it was a "social" club for members only.

WOMEN WHO ARE SHORT OF BREATH

May Have Anemia Without Knowing It.

Read the Story of This Fall River Woman Who Found a Means of Restoring Her Blood and Has Been Well Ever Since.

The "stairway test" for anemia or thin blood is so called because sufferers from this disease invariably get out of breath from slight exertion such as walking up a flight of stairs.

This breathless condition, which, when accompanied by pallor of the face and lips, is very characteristic of anemia, is caused by the lack of red corpuscles in the blood. It is the business of these corpuscles to take up the life-giving oxygen from the air we breathe and carry it throughout the body.

Overexertion causes a greater demand for oxygen than normal breathing can supply and so we breathe fast after a hard day of exercise. In anemia the capacity of the blood to carry oxygen is reduced and therefore very slight exertion has the same effect on the patient as hard exercise on a well person.

You can build up the blood, as is shown by the experience of Mrs. Fred Heywood, of No. 121 Almy street, Fall River, Mass. She says: "I became pale, haggard looking and all run down. The trouble came on me slowly and it was some time before I realized that I had anemia. I had to stay at home from work for about two months, but was not confined to bed. I was so short of breath that I would have to rest on going upstairs. I had terrible headaches and dizzy spells. My appetite was poor and I couldn't keep anything much on my stomach. I was weak and thin and my friends were worried about me."

"My mother brought me some of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, as she had read about them in the paper. Soon after I began taking them everyone noticed a change for the better in me and I kept on using them until I was in good health. I went back to my work and haven't been sick since. I advise every woman having anemia to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills."

When the blood lacks red corpuscles it is a scientific fact that a course of treatment with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills will cause them to increase. This can be demonstrated by a microscopic examination and anyone can prove it by looking in a mirror for an increase in red blood shows quickly in the cheeks and especially in the lining membranes of the eyelids.

"Building Up the Blood" is a booklet full of useful information. Every mother and every growing girl should have one. It is sent free on request to the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y. Your own druggist sells Dr. Williams' Pink Pills or they will be sent by mail, postpaid, on receipt of price, fifty cents per box, six boxes for $2.50. Do not pay more—Adv.

Farnum Real "Potato Patriot."

Bill Farnum, hero of "The Heart of a Lion" and other photoplay successes, is a real "potato patriot." He's not a vacant lot or a back-yard farmer, for he's lucky enough to have a real farm on the shores of Sag Harbor Bay, near New York.

Bill is one of the few really practical actor-farmer folk, and he has acres of potatoes and other vegetables under cultivation—or rather he had last year and will have within a few weeks—all carefully planted and looked after by the owner.

Mr. Farnum's place is situated about two miles from Sag Harbor proper, on the shores of Sag Harbor Bay, which is an arm of Shelter Island Bay. The Farnum lands roll back from the water's edge, with the beautiful residence, the artistically arranged out-buildings and beautiful flower gardens in the foreground.

The potato fields and the truck garden are in close proximity to the house, with the exception of a newly plowed field farther away, which Mr. Farnum has planted with potato seedlings for public use.

Immediately in the rear of the house—the front when coming from the village—are Mr. Farnum's smaller vegetable gardens, where he may be described as a "potato patriot" in the truest sense of the word. Mr. Farnum says: "The beauty of this is, this work really has to be done, and I am doing it."

His farm, as he calls it, is Mr. Farnum's chief delight. He loves every member of his feathered flock, the family cow—which, by the way, is a registered pedigree Jersey—even to the squirrel that has his home in the yard, and "Komo," the family Boston terrier.

Prepare for Liberty Drive.

Douglas Fairbanks last week had a conference with Mary Pickford and Charlie Chaplin to discuss matters pertaining to the third Liberty loan drive.

The mentioned screen stars have been asked by Secretary McAdoo to tour throughout the country to boost the new Liberty loan, and Fairbanks called the meeting specially for this purpose.

After they had finished their talk, Fairbanks invited them to a pre-view of his new picture, "Mr. Fix-It," which was followed by tea on Douglas' opulent studio stage.

These screen stars feel particularly flattered that the Government should select them for this work. Each star will be accompanied by a professional speaker, who will introduce them at the various meetings.

Aid Red Cross Benefit.
A squad of film players, headed by Douglas Fairbanks, Constance Talmadge, Juanita Hansen, Edna Purviance, Louise Huff and Olive Thomas, contributed to the success of a recent Red Cross cafeteria dinner at the Hotel Maryland, Southern California, the other day.

and Jeff" film comedies are soon to be distributed by Fox, has joined the British army with the rank of Captain.

Beth Ivens, a Ball Lake girl who appears with Annette Kellermann in "Queen of the Sea," claims just about everything in sight when it comes to ancestry. Descendant of chief-of-staff of William the Conqueror at the battle of Hastings, and kinship to James Fenimore Cooper, Ulysses S. Grant and Senator King, of Utah, are in the list.

"I would advise a screen-struck girl to marry and have two or three children," says Theda Bara, the William Fox star. "It's a hard life and one cannot help meeting with many unpleasant things. In my studio I don't believe in familiarities and we preserve a certain dignity and formality. As long as I have worked with Mr. Edwards' director, it is always 'Mr. Edwards' and 'Miss Bara,' but you don't always find it so."

There are many Japanese actors working in pictures, but World Pictures claim the credit of having the only regular Chinese motion picture actor. He responds to the name of Li Qung and is supporting Kitty Gordon in "Her Great Moment," which will be released in the near future.

William S. Hart, known everywhere in the world where there are motion picture playhouses as "Bill" Hart, is soon to be seen in a new celluloid product from the Thomas H. Ince-art-craft studios, called "The Tiger Man." The offering will introduce Hart once more in his familiar and likable role of a Westerner who does things in a big, smashing, crashing manner and like all other Hart pictures, the new screen product will display a novel set of novel features. In "The Tiger Man" Hart will have beautiful Jane Novak as his leading actress, while the rest of the cast will include a score of the ablest of the Ince photoplayers.

Wheeler Oakman, leading man for Edith Storey, Metro's star, is now wearing khaki and undergoing training at Camp Kearney, San Diego, for a part in the world war "over there." Mr. Oakman enlisted as a private in the regular Army last week.

Mr. Oakman comes of a long line of fighters. He is a second cousin of the late General Wheeler (Fighting Joe), after whom he was named. His father fought on the Northern side in the Civil War and he has a brother, Chester Oakman, a graduate of Annapolis, who is now in command of a United States destroyer conveying American Army transports through the submarine zone.

Geraldine Farrar has been annually retired from the Metropolitan Opera Company, because the directors of that institution have decided that no artist may sing within the classic walls of the M. and also appear on the screen. And once again the Metropolitan has denied the rumor. "We wish," they say, quite thoughtfully, "we wish and we hope to keep Miss Farrar with us for many years to come. The only thing is that we naturally feel we have some claim on the services of our artists and must give our consent before any other appearance are made or contracts signed." Well, well—that's over and done with for another year.

Work has been started on a big patriotic picture by Vitagraph for the State Defense Council of New York. In this picture the country will, for the first time, get an idea of the conspiracies against our country. Corinne Griffith and Webster Campbell will play the leads.

"Mr." La Varnie, a comedienne at 54, is the "sax" at the Paramount-Mack Bennett comedy studios. She arbitrates all the little tiffs between the girls and advises about the various details of costuming and hair dressing. She is first aid to the injured, physically and mentally.

Roscoe "Fatty" Arbuckle is now in the poultry business on a small scale. He has built a chicken yard near his dressing-room, in which chickens, ducks and turkeys frolic to their hearts' content. Fatty's trainer cares for the birds and the Paramount comedian declares he will teach them to do tricks for the screen. The ducks in "A Country Hero" were quite a bit and this has suggested the idea to the comedian.

Frank McIntyre, the celebrated minstrel man, visited Bill Hart at his studio in California recently and after the two joined in a typical handclasp they sat around exchanging wild tales of their early successes, when Hart, as a boy, learned to punch cows for his father and McIntyre was just a plain 'singin' ducky' down in Texas.

UNIT GETS ORDERS

Base Hospital No. 46 Will Mobilize Tomorrow Morning.

MEN TO SEE FOREIGN DUTY

Members Living Out of Town Are Directed to Remain at Present Addresses Until Transportation Is Sent Them.

Mobilization of Base Hospital 46 starts tomorrow morning at Portland Academy, Thirteenth and Montgomery streets. Orders to report for duty immediately were mailed yesterday to all enlisted men of the unit living in this city. Members living out of town have been ordered to remain at their addresses until transportation to Portland is sent them.

It is expected that mobilization will be complete by the end of the week. The unit will then proceed to Camp Lewis, American Lake, and will proceed to Portland, Or., reporting on arrival to Captain Otis B. Wight, Medical Reserve Corps, Portland Academy, Thirteenth and Montgomery streets, for the purpose of mobilization, upon the completion of which they will proceed in command of Captain Wight, to Camp Lewis American Lake, Washington, reporting upon arrival to the Commanding General for temporary duty at the base hospital at that camp.

The Quartermaster Corps will furnish the necessary transportation from their present locations to Portland, Or.

BUGLAR IS SENTENCED

Man Who Held Up Negro Porters in Yards Gets Two Months in Jail.

John Barton, who held up a car full of negro porters in the terminal yards in South Portland, March 5, and was almost beaten to death by his intended victims before the police arrived, was sentenced to two months' imprisonment by Municipal Judge Rossman yesterday morning. He was charged with impersonating a police officer.

Barton drove to the scene of his attempted robbery in a taxicab, representing himself as a plain-clothes policeman, and enlisting the aid of the driver, John McDaniels, in entering the car in which the porters were sleeping.

A state charge of burglary was at first placed against him, but was later changed to the city charge of impersonating an officer in order to avoid the necessity of detaining the porters as witnesses.

Relieving Freight Congestion

THE collapse of the railroads in handling freight has not only imperiled many businesses but actually has threatened in some instances the life of communities.

The truck is adaptable either to long distance hauling or to short hauling with many stops. It meets widely different conditions in different industries, each peculiar, each individual and each presenting its own difficulty.

Whether your situation requires trucks for long hauls or short hauls, we know that the Pierce-Arrow will fit your needs, for we have scores of installations in which Pierce-Arrows are more than meeting every demand made upon them.

This isn't a unique condition. It is being duplicated in many sections of the country, both over greater and lesser distances. OR—

FOR INSTANCE:

The Westfield Storage Warehouse at Westfield, N. J., is delivering regularly to dozen Connecticut towns, as distant as Hartford (90 miles); to many New York State towns, as distant as Troy (306 miles); to as many Pennsylvania towns, as distant as Allentown (180 miles); to as many New Jersey towns, as near by as Haddonfield (60 miles). In other words, these trucks are operating in four states over a 500 mile diameter, economically and profitably.

FOR INSTANCE:

Nor is this unusual. On a different scale, it is being done in the Pacific Northwest, in the Southwest, in the Middle West, in New England—in short everywhere, under varying road and climatic conditions, always overcoming different but difficult obstacles.
