At the time Representative Johnson brought this subject before the House, he did not expect there would be any opposition. The Government is being hard-pressed to get all the spruce and fir which it needs for the building of airplanes and which it needs to supply the airplane wants of the allies.

The Government itself, has a vast quantity of this necessary timber tied up in forest reserves, and under exist-quantity of this necessary timber tied up in forest reserves, and under existing law, this reserved timber can only be cut after 10 days notice, unless the cutting is to be done by the Government itself. Mr. Johnson knew that the 20-day notice was an obstacle to the prompt getting out of timber for airplane use, and he sought by his amendment to dispense with that bit of red tape, in order that big concerns which have contracted to cut spruce. which have contracted to cut spruces and fir for the Government may go into the National forests and with a mini-mum amount of hinderance, get out the all-essential timber for which the Govrament is relying upon them very ultra-conservationists in House lost so time in jumping at the amendment of Representative Johnson. They could see no reason why a man cutting spruce for the Government should not be obliged to give 30 days' notice, and they pretended to see in the Johnson amendment, the scheme to rob the people. Just how they were going to be robbed, these members did not know, but they were theroughly satis-

Officers and enlisted men in camp were warned today against picking up unexploded shells on the artillery range and authorities at camp repuested that publicity be given the re-quest so that civilians who ventured out on the range might not jeopardize heir lives by tampering with the shells.

The shells often are hidden in the grass or partly buried and one not familiar with their construction will lose his life, for a slight touch on certain parts of a shell's structure is apt to cause an explosion which would blow the curious person to pieces. The shells are grathered up by experienced men when they can be found, but occasionally one of the unexploited shells. becomes lost. casionally one of the unexploded shells

The $50,000 Butte building, the athletic structure donated to the camp by A. J. Davis, of Butte, Mont., is nearing completion and with the installation of electric fixtures and wiring will be ready for occupancy. No date for the formal dedication has been set, but Captain T. G. Cook, camp athletic director, said today this would be some time this month. He plans to have Mr. Davis present to formally turn over the building to Major-General Greens, who will accept it for the camp, and a big athletic programme may be arranged to follow this ceremony.

The first part in the machine gun training at Camp Lewis will be a problem in barrage fire, which will be worked out tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock, on a sector of No Man's Land near the Malloy ranch.
