

DRAFT PLOT LEADS TO CHICAGO WOMAN

Mrs. Emma Fewer Arrested in Portland, With $10,000 Bail Demanded.

FEDERAL OFFICERS SILENT

Prisoner, Said to Be Wealthy, Taken into Custody at Local Rooming-House and Held Pending Her Removal to Illinois.

Mrs. Emma Fewer, of Chicago, was arrested in Portland yesterday and lodged in the County Jail in default of $10,000 cash bail, pending her removal to the United States Court of Illinois to answer a charge of participating in a plot to substitute some man, supposedly drafted into the Chicago Army, for Mrs. Fewer.

Details of the alleged plot are withheld by the Federal officials in Portland. It was intimated, however, that Mrs. Fewer, who is said to be wealthy, is alleged to have paid some person a sum of money to substitute himself as a National Army conscript in the place of some relative.

Arrest Follows Inquiry.

Mrs. Fewer has told the Federal authorities that she is willing to return to Chicago without the formality of extradition proceedings, and her departure in the custody of a Deputy United States Marshal, is dependent on advice from the United States Attorney at Chicago. Authority to return her is expected to reach Portland at any time.

The arrest of Mrs. Fewer by Charles Robinson, of the Department of Justice, followed an investigation of several weeks. She was located at a modest lodging-house at 275 1/2 Eleventh street where she is said to have been in hiding. She had $200 in currency, a quantity of gold and silver, three diamond rings and other jewelry on her person when arrested. She was fashionably dressed and appeared to be a woman of some refinement, say the officials. She is about 40 years old.

Woman Appears Calm.

Information first received by the Federal officials in Portland was to the effect that Mrs. Fewer was in hiding at Albany. A search was made for her there, and then word was received that she was in Salem. Several days ago it was learned that she had come to Portland, and after a search of several days she was located in the Eleventh street house. She took her arrest calmly as though she had been expecting to be apprehended.

The only information forthcoming from Federal authorities yesterday of authentic nature was that she was arrested by order of the United States Attorney at Chicago and held for an alleged violation of Section 12 of the Selective Service Law. This section reads: "The Selective Service Law strictly prohibits assistance... for men called for military duty. The obligation to render military service is personal and cannot be transferred."

No Effort for Bail Made.

This is said to be the first attempt yet brought to light where persons are alleged to have substituted themselves for those called under the draft. Mrs. Fewer, it was said, will make no effort to obtain her temporary release in Portland under the $10,000 bail which has been set. She told the jailers and Federal officials that she would be able to obtain the $10,000 bail ten minutes after she reached Chicago.

MRS. FEWER SALOONKEEPER

Woman Wanted for Violating Five-Mile Zone Anti-Liquor Order.

CHICAGO, March 21.—(Special.)—Mrs. Emma Fewer, who was arrested in Portland and who will be brought to this city for trial, is said by Federal authorities to be a saloonkeeper.

FOR A CLEAR COMPLEXION

The Glow of Health Through Transparent Skin Is Impossible Without Pure, Rich Blood.

Nothing worries a schoolgirl more than pimples and eruptions, but most girls of that age have them. The blemishes may be due to indigestion resulting from improper diet. If so, they will quickly disappear when the proper food is adhered to. If they are accompanied by pallor and listlessness you must look to the condition of the blood.

When a girl's color fades, when her cheeks and lips grow pale and she gets short of breath easily and her heart palpitates after slight exertion or under the least excitement it means that she is suffering from thin blood. Headache and backache often accompany this condition and nervousness is frequently present.

Because eruptions on the faces of schoolgirls are so common they seldom receive the attention from parents that they require. Some girls are naturally pale, but an unnatural pallor is an almost certain sign of anemia or thin blood.

CAR SHORTAGE IS MENACE TO MILLS

Reports Indicate That Many Plants Will Close Unless Relief Is Forthcoming.

ALL YARDS ARE CONGESTED

Situation Appears Worst Around Puget Sound and Grays Harbor. Mills at Aberdeen and Everett Cease Operations.

Despite recent reassuring statements of railroad traffic men, the lumber industry of Western Oregon and Western Washington is facing a serious predicament because of car shortages. This is the conclusion drawn by officials of the West Coast Lumbermen's Association from data gathered in a canvass of the situation.

Almost every district in the territory west of the Cascades reports being affected by the shortage. The situation seems worst around Puget Sound and Grays Harbor. One mill at Aberdeen, Wash., is closed and one at Everett, Wash., is about to close, the reports show, because unable to get the cars needed to move their output.

Until a few days ago the mills along the Southern Pacific in the Willamette River Valley were getting fairly good car service, but they are found to be suffering now in common with the others. The survey of the situation by the West Coast Lumbermen's Association reveals that several important plants will be forced to close soon unless relief is forthcoming. Other disclosures of the survey have been summarized by the association in the statements which follow.

Portland Mills Are Short.

There is not a mill along the Columbia, on Willapa Harbor, Grays Harbor or Puget Sound that has enough cars. One mill on the Lower Columbia with a requirement of 35 cars per week above its Government movement, reports an average of only 11 cars per week. One that mill in Portland reports a receipt of only two cars a day to handle its commercial orders.

Mill at Hoquiam and Aberdeen Complain Quite Generally.

Mills at Hoquiam and Aberdeen complain quite generally. In addition to the one plant at Aberdeen that was forced to close, others report that they are crowding their yards with little hope of relief unless they can get cars. One of the biggest mills in Tacoma was compelled a few weeks ago to refuse an order from an important customer in Pennsylvania, as it could not get the cars. The situation at Everett and Bellingham is a repetition of conditions elsewhere in Western Washington.

"It will be only a matter of time until we will be forced to close," says one of the big Seattle producers. A Puget Sound mill writer, "We need fully five cars a day to handle our orders, but during the past month we have had only 21 cars." A mill in Southwest Washington reports: "We are operating on one side only, owing to lack of cars."

Washington Plants Affected.

Also from Southwest Washington: "In the last two weeks cars have become very scarce and we are receiving practically nothing. Unless steps are taken by the Government to give us immediate relief, it will be only a short time until we are compelled to shut down." From Grays Harbor comes the report: "Lack of cars is our chief complaint. Under normal conditions we use three or four cars daily and at the present time we are not getting half that number."

A Portland mill writes: "Unless we get cars in the next two weeks we will have to close." From a Lower Columbia River mill comes the following word: "Our mill was closed one day last week for lack of cars. We may be forced to close indefinitely soon." From a Willapa Harbor mill comes the chief trouble we have had has been lack of cars. Other mills report varying degrees of distress and difficulty in getting equipment.

The constant accumulation of stock leads directly to another very serious problem, the increasing amount of capital that is tied up in the plant. Many mills report that they are required to carry an investment almost 100 per cent above normal, merely on account of the abnormal accumulation of stock.

Your country needs the wheat

Serve the new barley breakfast food it's delicious, wholesome, sustaining!

"THE re-discovery of barley comes as a veritable God-send," said a man who is deeply interested in conserving the Nation's food. Truer words were never spoken. For now that we must deny ourselves the wheat our soldiers need, we can find in barley the ideal food to take its place. Unusually nourishing, unusually delicious is the new cereal, Cream of Barley. Your family would love this "different," more tasty breakfast food even if it weren't so patriotic to eat it. Tomorrow start serving Cream of Barley for breakfast. Notice how this creamy, nut-flavored cereal delights your husband, how your children beg for "just a little bit more." Serve it day after day and watch your children grow constantly healthier and more energetic. You will say that Cream of Barley is the food you have long been wanting, for it is wonderfully delicious, wonderfully satisfying and best of all, thoroughly patriotic.
