

SYMPHONY SEASON TO BE COMPLETED

Portland Orchestra to Give Concerts Despite Deficit of Approximately $3000.

FINANCIAL AID ACCEPTABLE

Contributions to Fund to Help Pay for Remaining Concerts and to Insure Success Will Be Received at First National Bank.

The Portland Symphony Orchestra will complete its present concert season by the unanimous agreement of its members, faced with a serious deficit in funds, though it is predicted that this will be at the personal sacrifice of the musicians who comprise the organization.

Four concerts of the six already have been given this season and the fifth is scheduled for tomorrow, Sunday, afternoon at the Auditorium, at 2 o'clock, when a programme will be presented that is believed will prove to be most popular of the series. Tickets are now on sale at Sherman, Clay & Co.

More Funds Needed. The orchestra is now engaged in its seventh season, and in other years has undertaken the work with a surpluss of funds, the subscriptions of public-spirited citizens and music lovers. But in this concert season it is confronted by a deficit of approximately $3000, which cannot be hoped to be met through the receipts of the remaining concerts, however successful.

There is no city in the United States, it is said, whose symphony orchestra are self-supporting, and the aid of those who have the interests of the work at heart is elsewhere counted upon to continue it. Nor has any other important work in progress will be acceptable. Contributions to the symphony fund, that will insure the complete success of this season, as others have been, may be made at the First National Bank, which is the orchestra's depository.

Good Programme Provided. Sunday afternoon's programme will present again, by response to many requests, the "New World" Symphony, that American musical classic composed by Dvorak, and based upon the sweet melodies of the Southern negro. It was first presented in this city at the last music festival.

Of additional interest is the fact that the "Merry Wives of Windsor" overture will be given, from the opera by Nicolai, the same opera which is to be presented in the near future by the Portland Opera Association.

Other numbers will be the prelude to the third act of "Lohengrin"; a suite of three numbers, "March Grottesque," "An Ideal" and "Dance Espagnole"; the intermezzo from "Cavalleria Rusticana" and the "Toccata Serenade," by Meyer-Helmund.

YOUNG ROBBER CONFESSES

Youthful Highwayman Has Revolver Concealed in Wooden Leg.

Ragnar Tyvok, the young, one-legged highwayman who was arrested Thursday night by Police Inspector Howell at Nineteenth and Washington streets, waived preliminary examination yesterday and will be held for trial. Tyvok, accused of holding up William Gibbons and Leslie Dondos on the Canyon road Thursday night and Arnie Evans and Miss Esther Johnson at Nineteenth and Irving streets Tuesday night, confessed to both crimes.

When Tyvok was searched at the police station after his arrest, he was asked what he had done with his revolver. He said he had thrown it away. Another search revealed the fact that he had a small nickel-plated revolver ingeniously concealed in his wooden leg.

Tyvok, who is about 23 years old, was released from the state reformatory at Monroe, Wash., in April, 1917, having served a sentence there for robbery.

DOMESTIC NEWS

SAN FRANCISCO MATRON WHO IS VISITING HERE WITH RELATIVES.

Last night was gala with dancing parties, in which the younger contingent, particularly the school sets, made merry. Colonel Leader's lecture given at the Auditorium called forth a tremendous throng of men and women, as well as the Army and Navy men, with a large representation of shipbuilders who were special guests of the committee arranging the lecture. It was given under the auspices of the Association of Collegiate Alumni, for the benefit of the women's building at the University of Oregon. An honorary escort for Colonel Leader, representing prominent Army and civilian men, were seated upon the stage, and the house was packed to capacity.

Mrs. J. N. Griffin, of Astoria, a charming and popular matron, is spending some time in Portland as the house guest of Mrs. E. Z. Ferguson, at the Hotel Apartments. Her number of delightful little functions are making her visit pleasant.

Congratulations are being showered upon Mrs. Edna Lindberg, upon the arrival of a son, born March 15. He has been named in honor of his father.

Pi Beta Phi Alumni Club will give a luncheon today at the University Club at 3 o'clock. All Pi Betas in Portland are invited to attend.

J. K. Gill, Frances Gill, Mrs. Joseph N. Teal, Miss Ruth J. Teal, F. S. Doernbecker and Miss Doernbecker, of Portland, are attending at the Hotel Del Monte, Del Monte, Cal.

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Withrow entertained Mrs. and Mrs. Raymond Robert Smith (Edna Lindberg) upon the arrival of a son, born March 15. He has been named in honor of his father.

Mrs. E. C. Little, of San Francisco, for the past three weeks has been visiting her father, Governor T. T. Geer, at his home in Rose City Park.

Mrs. D. L. Herman, of Seattle, and her daughter, arrived in Portland, having come down from the Sound City Saturday. Miss Herman will study violin with Professor South, as well as art at the Portland Art Institute. Mrs. Herman is a childhood friend of Judge and Mrs. F. H. Whitfield, of 1322 Alameda drive, and she and her daughter will spend several months in Portland.

WOMEN'S PATRIOTIC SERVICE

By Edith Knight Holmes

Lincoln High School yesterday sent in over $100 to the Salvation Army fund.

The Daughters of the American Revolution of Multnomah Chapter have organized a permanent team to work on all drives and patriotic enterprises. Mrs. Robert Farrell is the chairman. The women have done notably fine work in the Salvation Army drive.

The Aviation Auxiliary of Portland will hold a social meeting Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock, at Mrs. A. J. Windnagle's residence, 295 East Forty-sixth street. All members and those interested are invited to attend. There will be a programme consisting of music, dancing and reading.

Fish, chowder and soup; clams and crabs, Finnan haddock, and other fish, will be discussed and demonstrated today at 2:30 P. M., at Mrs. J. D. Spencer's meeting in the Powers Building, Company's building. The public is invited.

Miss Harriet Leach, the lovely Portland girl, who made a success in the East on the Orpheum circuit, helped yesterday in the Salvation Army drive and did good work.

George Wright Women's Relief Corps yesterday presented Miss Foster's class, Woodmere School, with a handsome silk flag. Mrs. Margaret M. covering the presentation speech, and George Crawford, one of the school boys, made an eloquent and clever response. Professor Dickson spoke briefly, and other numbers were presented pleasingly.

HOW TO GROW WATERMELONS

The watermelon requires considerable room and unless there is an abundance of space available it should not be planted in the garden. It is a heat-loving plant and the seeds should not be planted in the open until the ground is warm. This will be about one month after the last hard frost. They do best in a sandy soil, and require plenty of well-rotted manure for the soil development. The usual method is to plant them in hills made up with plenty of well-rotted manure, about ten feet apart each way. Some are planted in rows, and should be placed in each hill, and when the plants are well established they should be thinned to four plants in a hill. For full directions as to the control of insects and diseases affecting the watermelon, see Farmers' Bulletin 826, entitled "Control of Disease and Insect Enemies of the Home Vegetable Garden."—United States Department of Agriculture.

WOMEN'S CLUBS

It was a real old-fashioned election party at the Portland Woman's Club yesterday. Mrs. C. B. Simmons was re-elected, but before the final results were announced about 6 P. M. there was great excitement and everyone showed the greatest interest.

Mrs. Francis J. Drake, who had been Mrs. Simmons' vice-president for the past year, was her opponent for office and she put up a good front with 55 votes to Mrs. Simmons' 74. The only other contest was among the director nominees. Mrs. Aaron Tiller and Mrs. Grace Watt Ross were the successful candidates, but the vote was close. The rivalry for the presidency was inspired by the friends of the candidates, who were busy setting votes for the polls closed. Some associate members, it was said, became active members so that they could vote, and those who had been non-voters paid up and cast their ballots.

In addition to the election, there was an interesting lecture by Mrs. Jack Genzly, who spoke on Russia, and some delightful music by Otto Wedermeyer.

The club voted to give $25 to the Salvation Army war relief fund. Following is the result of the election: President, Mrs. C. B. Simmons, 76; Mrs.

Solving the Problem of the Children's Home Lunches.

Next to the problem of giving the child a lunch box filled with the things that are wholesome and what it likes to eat is the problem of what to prepare for the children when they come home in the middle of the day.

It is a good plan when cooking breakfast cereals to prepare more than enough for that meal. The leftover cereal can then be used at lunch time either in soups, puddings, pancakes or muffins. These four are simple enough for children, and yet they contain ample nourishment for the midday meal. Here are some suggested recipes for using leftover cereals in preparing the main luncheon dish:

Hominy Souffle—One cupful of cooked hominy, one cupful of grated cheese, two eggs, quarter cupful of hot milk, salt, paprika, rind of half a lemon, grated.

Beat cold hominy with a fork until smooth. Add cheese and seasonings. Beat yolks of eggs until thick and light and stir into the mixture. Then fold in stiffly beaten egg whites, pour into buttered baking dish and bake for about 20 minutes in a hot oven.

Farina Pancakes—One cupful of cooked farina, one cupful of sweet milk, one scant teaspoonful of salt, one cupful of flour, one egg, two teaspoonfuls of baking powder, half teaspoonful of salt.

Beat farina and egg together until smooth. Beat milk, four table-spoonfuls of melted butter, four table-spoonfuls of baking powder, three table-spoonfuls of sugar, one egg.

Stir together sugar, salt, baking powder and flour. Beat egg until light, add rice and milk, then the dry materials. Beat butter in last. Pour into greased muffin pans and bake in a hot oven for 25 minutes.

Oatmeal Soup—Three table-spoonfuls of butter, one medium-sized onion, half cupful of oatmeal, one teaspoonful of salt, one quart of water, one pint of milk.

Peel and chop onion fine. Place in double boiler with butter and cook 15 minutes. Then add oatmeal and boiling water. Cook directly over flame for 10 minutes. Then place in double boiler and cook for about two and one-half hours. Rub through colander and add milk and salt.

Peanut butter, something children usually like, can be used as the basis for a sweet hot cereal. Add a little peanut butter muffed with a glass of milk is a complete meal, containing as they do the protein, starch and the sweet flavor which children demand as well.

Peanut butter can also be combined with milk and seasoning into a delicious peanut soup. Also melted peanut butter added to the plain cereals, such as oatmeal, rice, farina and cornmeal, adds just the flavor which will make the children like the cereal that they might otherwise reject.

DOMESTIC SCIENCE

By Lilian Tingle

It sounds as if you were keeping your meat in an unsuitable place. Possibly, too, it is not well cured or well dried. Is it smoked or merely salted? One way would be to scrape away any mold that has already formed, plunge quickly into boiling water, hang up to dry, then either smoke (if not smoked already) or brush thoroughly with one or two coats of "liquid smoke," covering to the satisfaction of the consumer.

For unsmoked meat rub again with salt. For short-time keeping the meat when well surface dried can then be hung in a dark, dry, well-ventilated cellar or storeroom; but for longer keeping it would be best to rub in pepper (to keep away insects) and to wrap closely in paper, covering this with muslin, burlap or canvas. Be sure, of course, that the meat is thoroughly cured and surface dry before wrapping. The muslin or canvas cover may then be covered with yellow wash or with ordinary whitewash to which glue is added. Each piece should be hung so that it does not come in contact with other pieces and should never be stacked in piles.

Yellow wash (for coating the outside of ham or bacon bags for keeping)—Three pounds of sulphur, 10 lbs. of glue, 10 pound lead chromate (chrome yellow), 4 pound flour. Half fill a pail with hot water and mix in smoothly the flour beaten smooth with a smaller quantity of cold water. Dissolve the chrome yellow in one quart water and add this and the glue to the flour. Bring to the boil and add the sulphur (in water), slowly stirring constantly. Make the day before using, stir frequently while using and apply with an ordinary whitewash brush.

WAR STAMPS

OREGON children are doing big work for Uncle Sam in the thrift stamp and war savings stamp campaign. They are earning money and investing it in "baby bonds" rather than in candy, gum and the like, without which they are getting along nicely. Moreover, they find that in making some little self-sacrifices they are adding something to their lives that was not there before. A happy feeling! Glad feeling, as Pollyanna might put it.

That is what the Government wants to do. The Government wants to make the children like the "jobs" undertaken by Oregon children to earn thrift stamp money, according to reports received at the office of the state director.

Following are some of the "jobs" undertaken by Oregon children to earn thrift stamp money, according to reports received at the office of the state director:

"I clean my brother's room and receive 25 cents, and sew buttons on my uncle's clothes, for which I receive a good price—and I buy thrift stamps with the money." "Every Monday night I take care of my sister's two children, and, although they are cross, I persevere. Each week I get 25 cents with which I buy a thrift stamp." "I wash dishes and tend the baby, feed the chickens, run errands and stay at home when my mother wants to go downtown. Mother gives me a quarter twice a week and I buy thrift stamps. I am a little girl 10 years old." "I read two popular weekly magazines and a monthly magazine and buy thrift stamps with my profit. I now have four war savings stamps." "I deliver handbills for a motion picture theater man near my home, for which I am paid well, and I buy thrift stamps."

SAVE WHEAT, IS PLEASED

CONSUMPTION MUST BE CUT IN HALF, SAYS W. K. NEWELL.

Assistant Food Administrator for Oregon Tells of Need of Economy Until New Crop Arrives.

W. K. Newell, assistant Federal Food Administrator for Oregon, told yesterday of the conditions which must force the husbanding of wheat supplies upon the people of the United States. During the next five and one-half months citizens of this country must cut consumption of wheat to one-half what it has normally been, he declared. Mr. Newell has just returned from Washington, D. C.

It was decided at the conference with Mr. Hoover, Mr. Newell said, that all the cards are to be laid on the table—in short, that the people of the country are to be informed plainly of the food situation. "With regard to wheat, we know very definitely what confronts us. After setting aside what must absolutely be sent to the allies and making allowance for seeding requirements, we will have for consumption just 110,000,000 bushels. This must feed us from the present time until the new crop of the Southern states comes on the market in August.

"Now we normally consume 42,000,000 bushels of wheat a month. At that rate the supply would run us out in about three months. If we can spread the supply over the five and one-half months, which is the aim of the Food Administration, we will have a little less than half our accustomed wheat ration."

Mr. Newell also gave warning that regions which again restrict their use of meat to smaller consumption may be expected most any time.

TWO HELD FOR ROBBERY

MAN AND WOMAN ACCUSED OF OPERATING TOGETHER.

Snatching of Purse From Mrs. E. A. Pierce on Street Results in Chase and Capture.

A couple of alleged purse-snatchers, giving their names as Jessie Black and Francisco Scorio, but who are said to have registered at a downtown hotel as man and wife, were arrested yesterday by Police Inspectors Hamersley and Graves after the pair, it is said, had robbed Mrs. E. A. Pierce, wife of Dr. Pierce, of Hillsdale, of her purse containing about $25.

Mrs. Pierce was walking along the street at Eleventh and Clay streets when she was accosted by the man and woman, who drew the purse from her handbag. A motorist was attracted to the scene and joined with Mrs. Pierce in giving chase to the pair. The woman was captured in the basement of a house nearby and held until the officers arrived.

Police Inspector Graves pursued Scorio through the streets downtown and succeeded in capturing him in a hotel. In one of the two suitcases found in their room was a complete cocaine outfit.

When the two were searched at the police station no money was found on their persons, but it is believed that one of the pair had cached the money before the officers arrived.

RESPONSE IS LIBERAL

PORTLAND DONATES NEARLY FORTY TONS OF OLD CLOTHING.

Banking Headquarters Will Be Opened Today Preparatory to Shipping Articles to Belgium.

While detailed statements are lacking, every indication last night pointed to the American Red Cross used clothing campaign on behalf of the Belgian Relief commission being a success. The campaign ends today.

Packing headquarters will be opened this morning in the old Marshall-Wells building, Fifth and Oak streets. Within a day or two all clothing at fire stations and street-cleaning barns will be hauled to this building, sorted, packed and shipped. Direct donations of clothing will be taken there today and Monday.

Reports to Edgar W. Smith, chairman of the campaign, pointed to Portland having come close to raising its 40-ton allotment.

Out at the Irvington clubhouse there is another ton, partly due to the work of the auxiliary in that section, but in no small measure, said Mr. Smith, to the energetic campaign carried on by W. J. Hofmann, president of the club. The campaign ends today.

GRANGER TO MAKE RACE

H. C. Wheeler, Pleasant Hill, Announces Candidacy for Legislature.

EUGENE, Or., March 22.—(Special.)—H. C. Wheeler, of Pleasant Hill, master of the Lane County Pomona grange, yesterday announced his candidacy for the State Legislature on the Republican ticket. Others who have announced for the Republican nomination are David Graham, of Eugene; W. S. Roberts, of Fox Hollow, and James Fullerton, of Eugene.

None of the members of the House from Lane County during the last session of the Legislature has so far announced his candidacy. It is regarded as certain that E. L. Beck, candidate for Speaker at the last session, will file, and it is probable that Allen Eaton may also be a candidate, seeking election for a fifth term.
