Railroads Issue Orders Directing That Official Time Be Altered at Stroke of Clock to Conform With Mandate.

An unparalleled filching, of wha losophers and business men agree is most precious commodity known, occur throughout America tomorrow morning, promptly at 2 o'clock. For at that hour, impelled by an act of Congress, loyal Americans will turn their clock hands precisely one hour

Who does not remember that admon! Who does not remember that admonitory verse of childhood, launched something after this fashion—"Lost, somewhere between sunrise and sunset, one golden hour, set with 60 silver minutes?" But this hour will disappear between the dark and the daylight, and it will not be lost. For the purpose of the daylight saving plan is to gain one hour of activity, at a crucial period in National history, in every cial period in National history, in every day that lies between the calendar dates of March 31 and October 1. It is a war measure, just as surely as food conservtion, Government control of railways, and conscription of man-power are war measures. There is no denying that when it is 7 o'clock in the morning by the new time, and the factory whisties are summoning to in-dustry, that it will be but 6 o'clock by all the solar calculations. But there is comfort in the fact that when the quit-ting whisties toot gladly, each toller will have an extra hour of daylight for his own devices. Perhaps he will spend it in the war garden.
