SHIP PLANT SITE IS CLOSE SECRET

Persons Purporting to Know Plans Reticent to Give Out Information.

BOARD APPROVES PROJECT

Unverified Reports Indicate That Capitalists Behind Move May Have North Portland Site

Under Consideration.

While all Portland people who know the inside plans for the gigantic ship-building programme to be launched in or near Portland by the Atlantic & Pa-eific Shipbuilding Company under an agreement with the Federal Shipping Board, are just as reticent to divulge way plants not only denied having given any options, but denied as well having any information concerning the new project. Several men handling the financial affairs of several plants also denied having any information, among these being bankers. North Portland May Be Site.

That North Portland harbor is in-voiced in the plan is indicated by the fact that C. C. Colt, president of the Union Meat Company, is familiar with the details of the project. He refused to discuss the subject yesterday fur-ther than to admit that he knows of the plans. the plans. Some time ago Mr. Colt appeared before the Port of Portland Commis-sion and obtained an agreement from that body to keep North Portland har-bor clear. The representation when this agreement was obtained was that the harbor was to be used in connecthe harbor was to be used in connec-tion with industry involving several millions of dollars. Since then the na-ture of the project has not been di-vulged and the new ship programme may be the answer. Mr. Cott refused yesterday to discuss the subject.

The tentative plans for the big plant

The tentative plans for the big plant were announced some time ago without any names or locations being mentioned. Following that announcement rumors were spread that the interests said to be behind the project were not substantial. It is understood that since then affairs have changed and the proposition is now backed by strong financial interests.

Project Approved by Board.

It is the common report, as yet un-verified, however, that the financial power behind the project is the Dupont power behind the project is the Dupont Interests, of Delaware, and latest advices are that the proposition is absolutely assured of going through, now that the proposal has been O. K.'d by the Shipping Board.

Mentioned in connection with the poposition is Lester W. David, formerly interested in the Monarch Mill in North Portland harbor.

The Standifer Construction Corporation plant is the only shipbuilding con-

Mr. Foster reviewed the history of the Non-Partisan League movement from its first-appearance in North Dakota in June, 1915, when disguised as a farmers' co-operative organization, it swept the state under the leadership of A. C. Townley, who now heads the National body. He told of the secretive ness of the league's operations in North Dakota, when a company of 75 organizers, touring the state in automobiles, enrolled approximately 20 per cent of the producers of the state as members before public announcement was made that such an organization had been formed.

"So quietly did the organizers work

"So quietly did the organizers work so quietly did the organizers work in enlisting this membership," said Mr. Poster, "that the farmers in one township did not know that the movement had interested their neighbors in the adjoining township.
