AMERICANS FIRST, SAYS WILL H. HAYS

Whether a Man Is Democrat or Republican Now Declared of Secondary Importance.

LIFE OF NATION AT STAKE

Republican National Chairman Urges Generous Subscriptions to Liberty Loan as Duty and Privilege of Every Loyal Citizen.

Americans first and Republicans or Democrats second; this is the feeling of citizens today, dectared Will H. Hays, chairman of the Republican National Committee, in his address yesterday afternoon at the liberty loan rally in the Heilig Theater.

Edward Cookingham, chairman of the state liberty loan committee, emphasized this note when he introduced Judge Samuel White, chairman of the State Democratic Committee, who, in turn, presented Mr. Hays.

"The men who appear before us to-day come not as Republicans or Demo-crata" he said, "but as patriots and brothers."

Judge White spoke briefly of the high endeavor in which the Nation is engaged and urged a common effort to attain the desired goal.

Political Parties Stand Together. "We must be brought to realize it is going to take the full man power of the Nation and tax our resources to make the world safe for decent people to live in," he said. 'Both great political parties today are standing together, fighting for the life of the Nation. Partisanship has been cast aside. All honor to the great leaders of the Republican party, who are so local to a publican party, who are so loyal to a Democratic President. I take great pleasure in introducing to this broad, liberal, patriotic audience Hon. Will H. Hays, chairman of the Republican Na-tional Committee."

"Fewer profiteers and more volun-teers are needed," said Mr. Hays, dur-ing the course of an intensely patriotic appeal to good citizenship. He urged generous subscriptions to the liberty loan as a duty and a privilege. "Give until it burts, and then give until it stops hurring," he advised.

Peace to Come Through Victory,

War Must Be to Blitter End.

War Nust Be to Bliver End.

We might just as well, as intelligent men and women, prepare for just that kind of a conflict. This same Fruesia fedght before for thirty years, and the man that does not recognize the necessities, the dangers of the mement, is either ignorant of what is going on about him or is willfully trying not to see. Everyone must make this an individual matter; whether or not we buy this extra suit of ciothes, or eat that extra real, right down to the individual as to every section, what will be the result and effect on the sum total in this we do and that we do not do?

that we do not do?

The audience was keenly responsive and cheered the patriotic words expressed. Mr. Hays said in part:

We will continue to fight, by the eternal until victorious American arms have forever ended the intolerable arrogance of seismifically trained brutainty. We will have peace, but only a peace by victory and saver a peace by compromise bargaining.

The President of the United States wrote a declaration of the war aims of this country. I think it is a Magna charts for the freedom of the world, a magnificent wonderful instrument. Sarrifice, yes, And why not sacrifice?
When we think of this country and what it stands for, its glorious past, its magnificent present and its sublime future, of the snapshsh, the bearthrobs, the bleeding and the dying which it took to conceive and preserve it—we must be stirred to the depths of our souls and moved with an imperiabable determination to keep it where our forefashers, with God's help, have placed it.

We Must Have Less Profiteering and More Volunteering in This Country." Declares Speaker, Who Scores I. W. W. and Ilk.

Patriotism was the keynote of the address by Will H. Hays, chairman of the Republican National Committee, and other exercises incident to the luncheon of the Progressive Business Men's Club at the Multnomah Hotel yesterday noon. Mr. Hays paid a tribute to the patriotism of Oregon's citizenship for their enthusiastic and instant response to the country's every war-time appeal. "There is in the country today for every one but one real business and that is to win the war," was the opening sentence of Mr. Hays and it was greeted with thunderous applause by the 500 luncheon guests. "On the question of the war, there is only one side; on that side, absolutely supporting the country's cause, shall stand every political party and every member of every political party entitled to any consideration whatseever.

"To win the war abroad, we must have absolute unity at home. First, we will have that political peace that shows to the world that in this country there is one issue and one purpose to which all others are subordinated, and that is to win the war. There always "There is in the country today for More Volunteering Needed. "We must have such industrial peace as will make certain that every atom of brain, every ounce of brawn, goes where needed most to help the common cause. And that is not a charge on labor only. We must have less profi-teering and more volunteering in this country. The manufacturer who would take advantage of his country's emergency to profit unduly or force conces-sions unduly from labor is just as culpable as the laborer who would take advantage of his employer's emergency

"And we have among us the I. W. W., these lawless highwaymen. They are traitors to their country and should be treated as such. For the traitor there is one medicine only and it is taken standing against the wall. Let them take it take it. "The need of this country is not for less politics, but for more attention to politics by our citizens. To what party you belong is of less importance than eeking the truth and acting accordingly. I have no use for the man who says he is too busy or too indifferent to take an interest in politics. We can have good government and good candidates in office only when we take an interest in politics.

"Win War, and Win it Now" Plen. "Men and women, make it your busi-ness to win this war and win it now. Stand only for a peace gained by vic-tory and not a peace by compromise bargaining. We must put an end for-ever to the intolerable arrogance of the scientifically conceived brutality of
