EGG DEALERS MISTAKEN

MISREADING OF STORAGE RULES ENDANGERS SUPPLY. Retailers Who Store Own Eggs Entitled to Profits Aggregating 21 Per Cent, Says W. K. Newell.

Reports are being received at the Federal Food Administration offices that retail merchants in various sections, through a misunderstanding of the cold storage regulations, have decided not to store their usual stocks of eggs this season.

"I am told that these retailers have been discouraged by a misinterpretation of the rules," said W. K. Newell, assistant Federal Food Administrator, last night. "If merchants will turn to the section governing the handling and sale of cold storage eggs by retailers, they will see that, as retailers, they are entitled to another profit of 15 per cent over cost. In other words, any retailer who stores his own eggs is regarded not only as a retailer, but as a cold storage man also, and he is entitled, first, to the cold storage man's profit of 8 per cent, and when he sells the stored product later, he may also take the retailer's profit of 15 per cent."

THIS misunderstanding is regretted, said Mr. Newell, "as the Food Administration desires that eggs and all other foods be stored and conserved in every practical way and to the greatest extent possible. Every practicable means of increasing and conserving our food supply should be employed, because we must not only provide enough to meet our own needs and those of our Army and Navy, but for the armies and the civilian people of the allies as well. Retail merchants and all others who can advantageously store eggs are urged to do so."

I. W. W. PLANS MISCHIEF. ENEMY ALIENS SCHEME TO HELP FELLOW IS FOILED. Harris Allman, Paul Tynk and Fritz Schiller to Be Interned for Period of War.

In their efforts to assist Paul Seidler, a "fellow worker," to secure his release from jail, Harris Allman, Paul Tynk and Fritz Schiller, alien enemies and members of the I. W. W., were being held in the county jail under investigation by Federal authorities, hastened their own internment during the war.

Seidler, an I. W. W. organizer, was taken to Vancouver Barracks Wednesday on orders from Washington that he be detained until the end of the war. Army intelligence officers, upon searching Seidler, found sewed in his coat lining the following note, written in jail a few days before he was taken to the barracks: "We, the undersigned, hereby declare that fellow worker Paul Seidler, a member of the Portland branch of Industrial Union No. 572, has received our consent to use all any means, except those that would implicate any member or member of the I. W. W., to relieve himself from jail. Fellow Worker Seidler, with our consent, is prepared to denounce the principles of the I. W. W. before the authorities, but only for the previously mentioned end."

The joint authors of the note, before Assistant United States Attorney Rankin yesterday, denied having affixed their signatures. Satisfied of their guilt, however, Mr. Rankin last night wired the department at Washington for instructions immediately to intern Allman, Tynk and Schiller.

THE WAR is making men practical. Styles are plainer—more military. There is an absence of fripperies—cuffs on the sleeves, belts, plaits.

Good fabrics are scarce; prices on the increase. Men realize as never before the practical economy of good quality. And they are beginning to realize that twenty-five dollars is the minimum price for clothes at this time, with every indication of its being raised.

ROSEBURG AUTOS IN CRASH. Small Machine Comes Out Second Best in Accident; No One Hurt. ROSEBURG, Or., April 12.—(Special.)—Danny Campbell, at the wheel of a small car, accompanied by the owner of the machine, Ray Campbell, two youthful auto enthusiasts of this city, while ascending the Court-street hill at a rapid pace, crossed the bow of a larger machine, driven by Mrs. Clyde Adair. The woman was driving slowly, but not being able to see the bug, was unable to stop her car in time and the two cars struck. The impact threw the bug around and it dove into a telephone pole with such force that the car rebounded and then made another drive at the telephone pole, but was brought to a standstill. Mrs. Adair's car was uninjured and none of the occupants of the machines were hurt.
