BY GERTRUDE P. CORBETT

YESTERDAY was notable for the card party and tea given at the residence of Mrs. James D. Honeyman for the benefit of the allied nations permanent blind relief fund. Fully 100 matrons and maids availed themselves of the splendid opportunity of assisting a most worthy work and at the same time spent a delightful afternoon. Forty tables were arranged for the cards, the entire lower part of the house being converted into a Spring garden with bouquets of fruit blossoms and a profusion of vividly colored flowers, lilacs and tulips predominating. Posters depicting the necessity for helping this organization in its work were displayed about the rooms.

Mrs. Charles T. Whitney and Mrs. Walter F. Barrell, chairman and vice-president, respectively, received with the hostesses.

At tea time a large number of matrons and maids joined the party. Assisting in receiving and serving were Misses Helen Honeyman, Loretta Hardy, Ruth Teal, V. Ona Guthrie, Kathryn Hoyt, Gretchen Kisterman, Anna Mundy, Virginia McDonough, Elizabeth Jacobs, Leila Guthrie, Isabel Clark and Jewel Shea. The artistically decorated tea table was presided over by Mrs. Gordon Voorhis, Mrs. George S. Young, Mrs. William H. Hall and Mrs. Joseph N. Teal.

The Girls' Motor Squad of Portland played an important part last night in the big vaudeville benefit arranged by Mrs. Robert Treat Platt for the knitting machines to be used in the firehouses around the city.

The auditorium was thronged with an appreciative and enthusiastic audience and the program was made up of acts donated by the various vaudeville houses in the city. The girls' motor squad conveyed the actors to and from and assisted in numerous ways during the entire evening.

The Catholic Women's League were hosts for the benefit card party last night, the regular play at the Baker Theater being the attraction. It was League night and all the friends of the organization rallied to their support and turned out in force to view the play and contribute their bit to the fund being raised to carry on the work of the league's lunchroom, the girls' clubroom and restrooms. A number of prominent folk were in the boxes as hosts for parties ranging from four to eight, and a great many line parties had as hosts the prominent men and women of the city. Following these affairs, groups of congenial friends made up parties for the supper and dance at the Multnomah Hotel.

WAR STAMPS

The National War Savings Stamp committee has asked that the "chain letter" plan of selling thrift stamps be discontinued.

In a letter to State Director C. S. Jackson, Federal Director E. C. Bradley says: "The matter of chain letters has given various state and county directors a great deal of trouble and you are hereby advised that the same has not the approval of the National War Savings Committee, and it is believed their circulation should be discouraged, based on the fact that they will probably do a good cause far more harm than good."

"Little girl, little boy," says Uncle Sam, "what are you doing with your weekly allowances?"

"Do you spend it on ice cream or picture shows, or candy, or do you lend it, or part of it, at least, to me, to help buy ammunition and war supplies with which to whip the Kaiser? Do you know that every time you lick a thrift stamp to stick it on your card you are striking one more blow at the Kaiser?"

"Do you belong to one of the war saving societies in your village, town or county? Do you have one in your own schoolhouse? If not, you are expected to have one, and you are even expected to have one right in your own schoolroom. If you have, surely you belong to it. And if you do not already belong, surely you will join when you have the price of admission—25 cents for one thrift stamp—and a promise to buy more stamps as soon as you can."

OREGON PLAN FAVORED
DENVER INTERESTED IN FRANK RILEY'S LECTURE TOUR.

Effort to be made to engage some one to boost Colorado in same manner throughout U. S.

The business men of Denver have been quick to realize the importance of the work done by the Pacific Northwest Tourist Association in sending Frank Branch Riley and Frank I. Jones through the country, pointing out the industrial and scenic advantages of the Pacific Northwest. The tourist and publicity bureau of the Denver Commercial Association has already discussed a plan to engage someone at $25,000 a year to interest himself in the Denver district.

W. J. Hofmann, who has managed the Frank Branch Riley and Frank I. Jones lecture tour for the Pacific Northwest Tourist Association, has received the following letter from Harry N. Burmans, executive secretary of the Denver tourist and publicity bureau: "Denver is certainly mighty proud and pleased to have had Frank Branch Riley with us last night. Despite the tremendous competition that we had with the holiday, finish of the liberty loan campaign and big meeting at the auditorium, the hall was just about full.

I echo the sentiment of the president of the Mountain Club when he said that Mr. Riley's lecture was just about the best thing that was ever pulled off by the Mountain Club. And I personally think that his lecture was one of the best that I have ever heard, and he puts it over in such a big way that I know everybody who heard him would be sold the Pacific Northwest.

Mr. Barnard, who is chairman of the entertainment committee, was just in the office and said that he and Mr. Brooks, the president of the Mountain Club, recommended that if we could get someone as good as Mr. Riley and pay him $25,000 a year, from a publicity standpoint it would be one of Colorado's greatest assets, and I most heartily agreed with him.

I will write you in detail relative to the Western Association of Tourist Bureaus' Conference Monday.

Spokane, Portland & Seattle Railway Company, in the courts of Columbia County.

The complaint recites that Geyer was permanently injured September 3, while employed by Porter Bros. Instead of seeking compensation through the Industrial Accident Commission, he filed suit against the railroad company, for whom Porter Bros. were then doing the tunnel work. The Spokane, Portland & Seattle has notified Porter Bros. that in case Geyer wins his suit in Columbia County Porter Bros. will be compelled to pay the damages.

Plaintiff company asserts that Geyer was in its employ instead of the Spokane, Portland & Seattle Railroad, as he has alleged, and for that reason, it asks that he be compelled to drop that suit and present his claims to the Oregon Industrial Accident Commission.
