Sergeant Wells Tells of Heroism of People of France.

HARDSHIPS BORNE

Former Acro Squadron Member Returns From Abroad With Rheumatism and Urges Every One to Help in Beating Huns.

"If it were possible for the Germans to cut off the right arm of every Frenchman, those same Frenchman would insist on fighting to the end with their left hands." That is the way Sergeant David Wells, son of Thomas H. Wells, of the tax department at the Courthouse, sums up the fighting spirit of the French.

Sergeant Wells, who formerly lived in San Francisco, recently returned from France after serving over there with the Fifth and Jist United States Aero Squadrons for more than six

Through work with the Army in France during a severe Winter, rheumatism developed in Mr. Wells' left leg, sending him to the hospital and finally causing his honorable discharge from the Army on the grounds that he was 75 per cent disabled. If it were possible, he said, he would re-enlist for service "over there" tomor-

"Since German propaganda has been going on for so long a time and so effectively in the United States, the American soldiers over there are beginning to wonder and often ask why it does not stop," said Sergeant Wells, in an interview yesterday. "When a spy is caught in France or when an alien enemy is found to be acting too seditiously, he is court martialed at the carliest possible moment, usually the same day on which he is caught, and is sentenced to death and shot im-mediately.

'The French people do not deal so mercifully with them as the Americans do. They do not put them in an internment camp with their friends and feed them three meals a day and give them a spring bed to sleep in. They are put to death just as they deserve to be. Such treatment would soon do away with German propaganda in

For that reason Mr. Wells is plan-ning a speaking tour of the United States in the near future, under the supervision of Fred Cameron, who is well known on the Pacific Coast.

In discussing the tour, Mr. Wells said: "I feel that if each word that I can say will do away with a word of German propaganda in the United States, each one of those words will be as effective in winning the war for the alibs as is each bullet which hits its mark 'over there.' In spite of the hardships which the French have gone through, their fighting blood is still as red as it was the day the Ger-

"The opinion prevails over there that it is impossible for Hindenburg to break through the lines and sever lines of communication between the British and French forces. Mr. Wells has witnessed several big air raids on Paris. The last one, he says, concluded in a battle in the skies between 25 German machines and 66 French. The "alert." which is a signal for the people to get in a safe place, was sounded at 11:20 P. M. Thirty-two thousand pounds of explosives were dropped upon the city. OREGONIAN NEWS BUREAU, Washington, May 9.—Representative Sinnott today called on the Car Service Commission and again urged that Western wool be scoured before shipment to Eastern markets.

He presented a telegram from the Oregon wool-scouring mills of Portland strongly advocating lokal scouring of wools and saying if this is done the 40,000,000 pounds of wool clipped this year in the Pacific Northwest can be reduced in bulk to 12,000,000 pounds. This reduction in volume and weight will save over $00 cars.
