

CITY EMPLOYEES TO RECEIVE INCREASE

Council Will Begin Revision of Salaries Latter Part of Present Week.

NEW MEASURES IN EFFECT

Official Count of Votes Cast at Friday's Special Election Will Begin Today—City Forces Badly Depleted.

The official count of the election returns of the special city election held last Friday will begin tomorrow. City Auditor Funk will begin the canvass of votes in the presence of Mayor Baker, and following the count an official proclamation of the results will be made.

The new laws created by the passage of the charter amendments at the election are in force by date, although it is not yet officially known what measures carried.

The City Council will begin revision of salaries the latter part of this week. This task will take considerable time, as during the last month hundreds of applications for increases have been filed with the council by city employees.

It is probable that the council will adopt its original plan of granting increases on the following plan: All employees receiving less than $100 monthly shall receive 15 per cent increase; those receiving between $100 and $125 monthly will be given an increase of 10 per cent, with the provision that none in this class be given more than $125 a month.

Employees receiving between $125 and $150 a month will not be increased except in cases where an employee has received a bona fide offer from the outside, and it is absolutely essential to grant an increase in order to hold the employee, or in the event that the particular employee cannot be replaced by the city unless more wages are paid than are sought in the petition under consideration.

The increased salaries were made necessary because of the great draft for men and women from city services into other industries and work. The police, fire and street-cleaning bureaus have been hit hardest, and the loss of men in these three departments alone have been large enough to cripple the efficiency of the departments. In other departments, however, as the work has been difficult to hold men or to replace them. With the 1-mill tax measure in effect this problem is believed solved for the period of the war.

WAR STAMPS

SALES OF WAR SAVINGS STAMPS IN THE PORTLAND PUBLIC SCHOOLS FOR THE WEEK ENDING MAY 10 AMOUNTED TO $28,478.52, ACCORDING TO REPORTS COMPILED BY "GENERAL" SAMUEL S. BRATTON, OF THE SCHOOL ARMY OF THIRTY.

When the school children of the city first got into the war stamp game in an organized way under Mr. Bratton, City Superintendent L. R. Alderman and his assistants, D. A. Grant and C. A. Rice, $20,000 was set as the weekly goal for the little "warrior" stamps. As plans for regular war stamp reporting stations during the summer months are being considered.

Total sales in the Portland schools to date are bested by last week's sales of $305,951.46, a per capita of $9.94, or nearly one dollar per child, per capita of $20 to be attained by January 1, 1919.

Gregory Heights school has the largest per capita sale, the 64 pupils of the school being marked up with total sales of $2796. In second place is Irvington school with a per capita of $10.93, the sales amounting to $29,216 for the 275 pupils enrolled. Irvington's total sales are the largest to date and were also the largest for the last week, amounting to $4659.

Other schools having passed the required $20 quota are Alsworth, $34,044; Couch, $26,177, and Glenhaven, $24,147.

JURORS CALLED ON CARPET

Alleged Drinking of Evidence Subject of Grand Jury Probe.

The grand jury will be asked to make an investigation of the conduct of two jurors who served on a case before Municipal Judge Rosman last week, when, it is alleged, they drank of a bottle of whisky after it had been submitted as evidence in the case. Mr. Toomey and J. P. Mouldie.

Taking issue with statements made had appeared repeatedly in the past. Toomey issued a statement, which in part follows: "I was not the first or last juror that left the courtroom, and I did not hear a reprimand from Judge Rosman regarding the amount of liquor taken from the pint bottle. If Judge Rosman man dares, I am anxious for grand jury investigation."

A SHAMPOO WORTH TRYING

It is not necessary to shampoo your hair so frequently if it is entirely and properly cleansed each time by the use of a really good shampoo. The easiest use and quickest drying shampoo that we can recommend to our readers is one that brings out all the natural beauty of the hair and may be enjoyed at very little expense, by dissolving a teaspoonful of Canthrox, which can be obtained from any druggists, in a cup of hot water. This makes a full cup of shampoo liquid, enough so it is easy to apply it to all the hair instead of just to the top of the head. This, when rubbed into the scalp and onto every strand of hair, chemically dissolves all impurities. It is very soothing and cooling in its action, as well as beneficial to both scalp and hair. After rinsing out the lather so created, you will find the scalp is fresh, clean and free from dandruff, while the hair dries quickly and evenly, developing a bright luster and a soft fluffiness that makes it seem very heavy.—Adv.

EUGENE, Or., May 15.—Kindly publish at your earliest convenience a good recipe for a nice light yeast bread made without wheat. Thanking you, Mrs. E. H. S.

R really list and very porous bread cannot be made without wheat, on account of the lack of gluten in the other cereals. From now until harvest, however, the need for wheat saving is so great, that we should be willing to suffer a little personal inconvenience in the making and eating of our food, and to take cheerfully the less acceptable breads, when bread is needed, at the same time arranging our meals as far as possible to eliminate the need for much bread of any kind.

Mush or porridge and milk with a little fat is really a more wholesome meal than toast and coffee.

Potatoes can be served three times a day in various forms so as to reduce the need for bread. Plenty of vegetables and substantial desserts made with rice or other cereals. Light steamed wheatless puddings, and plain wheatless pastry, and shortcakes with fruit also will help to make breadless meals easy.

A number of different quick breads, wheatless muffins and hot cakes and crackers have been given in this column. These may be used to a certain extent in place of yeast bread. Some yeast bread recipes also have been given, but none of them can be described as "nice and light" exactly, though quite wholesome and good as change from quick breads and muffins.

Wheatless yeast bread with eggs—Three cups hot, smooth-riced potato, 1 cup hot milk or potato water, 2 tablespoons shortening, 2 tablespoons salt, 3 tablespoons molasses or syrup (may be omitted), 1 yeast cake softened in 4 tablespoons water, 1 cup rice or corn flour, about 2 cups barley flour, one stiff beaten egg-white or 1 well-beaten whole egg. A mixture of equal parts barley, oat flour, and rice flour, shortening, salt and syrup with the hot milk and hot ricod potatoes beating smooth. Let cool to lukewarm, then add the yeast, beaten egg and barley to make a drop batter. Let rise then add the mixed flours sifted with 1/4 teaspoon soda to make a good

SMOOTH KNEADING DOUGH: knead thoroughly. Let rise, then shape into loaves. Let rise again and bake at least one hour. Brush with milk or wheat. Thanking you, Mrs. E. H. S.

This bread has proved one of the most satisfactory "substitute breads" that we have tried, and can be toasted if the slices are cut in advance so as to dry out the surface a little. All these substitute breads should be given thorough mastication. If well cooked and well chewed the substitute cereals are just as well digested as wheat.

Possibly some reader may have a better substitute bread.

Half the mixture given above, if mixed with another egg, 2 tablespoons more shortening, 2 tablespoons sugar or honey, a little spice (to taste) and a few raisins, can be baked as a coffee cake, either in sheet or "Swedish tearing" form, and sprinkled with a little cinnamon and sugar, it can be made to take the place of richer cakes, or to economize on butter or jam. The enriching ingredients are added to the risen sponge, so that part of the mixture could be used for coffee cake and the rest for plain bread. The enriched mixture should rise after the additional ingredients are added and again after being placed in the pan or formed into a "loaf-pan."
