Successor to Late Justice Eakin Desires to Return to Practice. Intention to Step Down Long Known.

SALEM, Or., May 20. - (Special.) Justice Wallace McCamant, of the Su-preme Court, contemplates resigning in the near future, and Governor Withy-combe will name whoever is the Republican nominee as his successor These facts developed today as ar aftermath of the primary election.

Justice AlcCamant is not certain as to just when he willabe able to descend from the bench. When asked today as "it is my desire to return to the practice of my profession, and I will do so as soon as the work of the court will permit. The condition of the work here recludes my resignation at the present ime, nor am I able to state just when can do so."

Contemplated Step Known

Contemplated Step Known.

This move on the part of Justice McCamant has been in contemplation for some time. In fact, several months prior to the primary election he let it be known that he desired to return to the active practice of law, and would probably wish to take the step before the expiration of his present term.

Candidates for the Supreme bench expressed themselves as having no desire to become factors in the race in the event it was the wish of Justice McCamant to be his own successor, and largely to clarify the atmosphere for largely to clarify the atmosphere for such candidates Justice McCamant let it be definitely known that he not only did not contemplate being a canonly did not contemplate being a candidate for re-election, but that he did not intend to serve out his entire term.

Justice McCamant was appointed as an Ansociate Justice of the Supreme Court early in 1917 by Governor Withycombe to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Justice Eakin. Since that time he has been one of the most active members on the bench, and it was generally conceded many months before the election that if he desired to be returned to the bench he probably be returned to the beach he probably could do so without opposition. The appointment of Judge McCamant met general approval not only among the members of the bar, but with the pub-

Confining Duties-Prompt Change. Confining work in connection with the routine duties of a Supreme Judge and also the fact that the emoluments attached to the position are much lower than those connected with Justice McCamant's practice, are understood to be the main reasons for his deciding do retire from public life for a continuation of his private practice.

When Governor Withycombe was in-formed today of the contemplated step of Justice McCamant, he said that it would be his intention to name the successful Republican candidate for the nomination to take Justice McCamant's place and ithis will assure a continuity of service on the bench.

While in his statement he makes no definite assertion as to when he will retire, it is believed that Justice Mc-camant will submit his resignation to camant will submit his resignation to the Governor as soon as the work now on his desk is cleaned up, which will probably be in the course of the next few weeks. It is likely that his res-ignation will not come any later than the beginning of the court's Summer vacation, in a month or two at the latest
