

WINTER SPENT IN MOUNTAINS OF OREGON

Los Angeles Men and Their Wives Camp Near Summit of Cascade Mountains.

BEAR HUNTER SAVES LIVES

Oakridge Trapper, Repairing Forest Telephone Line, Gets Message From Snow-Imprisoned and Starving Party.

EUGENE, Or., May 20.—(Special).—A telephone message made possible by repairs of a forest telephone line by a bear hunter on his Spring trapping expedition brought the first news that a party of four persons, two men and two women, had spent the winter near the summit of the Cascade Mountains in the wildest and most desolate part of the state of Oregon. The message stated that the party's food supplies had been exhausted and asked that someone be sent to their relief with provisions.

The members of the party were Mr. and Mrs. C. H. McKean and Mr. and Mrs. Karl Ladewig, of Los Angeles, Cal. The trapper, who had repaired the phone line and carried food to the party was J. B. Hills, of Oakridge. He had met the Californians going into the mountains last fall, and had provisions from Bend, and advised them that no one had ever before attempted to spend the winter in that region and he said he did not believe it possible. He had forgotten them until Mr. McKean, by chance, succeeded in reaching him when he was trying to call another party.

Repaired Line Saves Lives.

The repairing of the telephone line came as a act of providence to the Californians. Several days before Ladewig had fallen down a hill. He was knocked unconscious for a time and his back was injured. He was confined to a bed with a high fever and collapsed soon after assistance reached the party. He is now in Brock's cabin, 15 miles above Oakridge. The other members of the party were nearing the point of exhaustion, and their food supply had been exhausted for two days.

Light Snow Fortunate.

The Californians made their camp last fall by building a cabin near the headwaters of the McKenzie River, three miles north of Paok Saddle Mountain. It is stated that snow from 40 to 50 feet deep is possible at that point during a severe winter. The winter this year was light and the greatest amount of snow standing on the ground at the time was 20 feet, according to Mr. McKean, who with Mrs. McKean arrived in Eugene today.

Courtesy to Solicitors Asked.

At the latter meeting the courtesy of Portland housewives was appealed to, that Red Cross solicitors may receive prompt and respectful attention when they call at the homes in their round of duty.

Two Report 200 Per Cent.

Various districts in Yamhill County have speedily attained their allotments, in the following order: Hopewell, Dayton Prairie, Happy Valley and Winters. The last two localities report 200 per cent subscriptions.

Yamhill County

The Dalles, with 5000 population, reports $8000 in Red Cross subscriptions, giving far past the city's allotment, while Baker boasts 21 subscribers whose total gifts reach $3255.

Young Men Agree to Be Host.

Dr. W. W. Youngson, district superintendent of the Methodist-Episcopal, is not only a veteran, but an inveterate campaigner, without whom no patriotic sortie is complete. Recently playing a lone hand, he extracted $250 from Portland pockets for the Red Cross, when Leighton's restaurant contributed one day's receipts on the opening of its Broadway branch. "We'll make it $500 this time," said Arthur Johnson, proprietor of Leighton's, when he renewed the offer yesterday to Dr. Youngson. So it was agreed that the parson, with his team-mates as waiters, and with Daughters of the American Revolution as "barkers," will play mine host at Leighton's Broadway branch on Thursday, the entire receipts going to the War Fund.

Message Is Everywhere.

When the shipping crowds enter down-town department stores this morning the message of the cause cannot escape them—on 7000 girls and women, employed in the big stores, will wear the headress of the Red Cross nurse, with laughing Portland one may not turn without finding the message, for it springs from posters, from show-windows, from automobiles and from every crevice of common, unescapable sources.

Spirit Permeates Portland.

In evidence of the spirit of giving that permeates Portland there are scores of early examples—such, for instance, as the gift of a diamond ring to the Red Cross section by Mrs. Elizabeth Buckner, of 575 Overton street, who writes on the accompanying card, in a thin, old-fashioned hand, "A True American." Mrs. Buckner is the mother of Phil Harris, Chief Deputy in the office of Henry E. Reed, County Assessor, who leads on the city campaign. The auction, at which Mrs. Buckner's cherished ring will be sold, is set for Thursday noon and will continue in the evening.

Credit Due to Women.

When Portland has cast up the city's final and triumphant total in Liberty Temple, not a small share of the credit will be due to the untiring and selfless labors of the volunteer office staff of young women who are serving without wage as clerks and stenographers.

Others planned the campaign, but to these volunteers fell the task, one of tremendous volume, of assembling and collecting the 30,000 donations, of which are the basis from which the city campaign operates. Red Cross officials are unending in their expressions of appreciation for this service, and for that of hundreds of other feminine volunteers who are enlisted for the period of the drive.

This morning, then, the Red Cross campaign begins in real earnest for Portland. Officially it was launched yesterday, and in the outer city the drive has one day's handicap over the city. But the local crusaders feel that the work to give is with them, and that the conquest of the city and its cause is to resemble an unconditional surrender.

"Wednesday night," is the confident chorus of the colonels, the captains, the lieutenants and their thousands of ready recruits.

MAYOR PROCLAIMS DRIVE

Chief Executive Urges Portland People to Give Liberally.

Portland people are urged to do their full duty in the Red Cross war fund campaign which is now in progress, by a proclamation issued by Mayor Baker, whose call to his fellow citizens is for an immediate response to the cause, and the maintenance of the city's pre-eminent record in other drives of patriotic purpose. The proclamation issued yesterday, is as follows:

"The American Red Cross today begins its second drive for funds to finance its work for the comfort, safety and well-being of our soldiers wherever they may be stationed, and for the relief of the world wherever suffering may exist. The city's quota in the second drive is $250,000 and the quota of Oregon is $500,000.

Portland and Oregon have been first in every patriotic move since the Nation entered the war and will continue to be first. As Mayor of the city, I urge all citizens to contribute liberally and put Portland "over the top" in the briefest time possible, thus maintaining the brilliant record heretofore established and recognized throughout the world.

There is no more important call and no more important service than that of the American Red Cross, and it is the duty of every person with the interest of the country at heart to contribute.

Quit Raffle Off for $100—Boy Scout Holds Lucky Number.

SKAMANIA, Wash., May 20.—(Special).—Skamania is again 100 per cent and more. The Skamania Red Cross Auxiliary raffled off a quilt Saturday, May 18, which brought $1000, free of expense. The lucky number was held by Clarence Runyon, a Boy Scout.

DOUGLAS CONTEST IS CLOSE

Edward Weaver Defeats H. P. Rice for County Commissioner.

ROSEBURG, Or., May 20.—(Special).—Practically complete returns from Douglas County show that Edward Weaver, of Myrtle Creek, was elected County Commissioner by probably 85 votes over H. P. Rice, James Sawyer, treasurer for 12 years, was renominated by nearly 200 votes over C. M. Myrland. George K. King, eight years Sheriff, was renominated by nearly two to one over Frank Baraga.

CAMAS IS ALREADY OVER TOP

First-Day Subscriptions on Quota of $1500 Total $3250.

CAMAS, Wash., May 20.—(Special).—Camas more than went over the top today in the Red Cross drive, fully 200 per cent over the quota of $1500. Already $3250 has been subscribed in the drive, and many outside districts have not reported.

POLK COUNTY BEGINS DRIVE

Huge County and Clock Will Record Progress of Campaign.

DALLAS, Or., May 20.—(Special).—The Red Cross war drive in Polk County is being conducted by the Council of Defense. All community and district chairmen were called together Saturday in the Dallas Commercial Club room, where Dr. A. B. Starbuck, county chairman of the Red Cross organiza-

Recipes That Will Help You Keep Your Food Conservation Pledge

By keeping your Food Conservation Pledge, you not only perform a patriotic duty, but economize and improve the health of your family by serving simple, wholesome and inexpensive foods.

Sweet Potato Muffins

Aid in the conservation of wheat and treat your family to a new delight by serving Sweet Potato Muffins. Easy to make and most delicious if prepared in accordance with the following recipe recommended by the U. S. Food Administration:

- 1 1/2 cups flour
- 1 cup sweet potatoes
- 4 teaspoons baking powder
- 1/2 cup sugar
- 1 egg
- 1 cup milk or water
- 2 tablespoons shortening

Sift together dry ingredients. Add the sweet potatoes, mashed or ricéd. Add the liquid slowly, mixing well. Then beat in the egg, which first has been beaten. Finally add the melted fat. Drop in a muffin pan and bake in a quick oven.

Dried Peas with Rice and Tomatoes

To eat less meat and more vegetables is not only patriotic and economical, but healthful as well. Dried peas with rice and tomatoes provide a most delicious dish that appeals to almost every one when prepared after the following recipe suggested by the U. S. Food Administration:

- 1 1/2 cups rice
- 2 cups dried peas
- 3 onions
- 1 tablespoon salt
- 1/2 teaspoon pepper
- 2 cups tomatoes—fresh or canned

Soak peas over night in 2 quarts water. Cook until tender in water in which they are soaked. Add rice, onions, tomato and seasoning and cook 20 minutes.

Cakes Baked Without Grease

No grease! No, houseful of smoke and smell if you use the "Wear-Ever" Griddle. It bakes your cakes thoroughly; turns them out light, flaky and wholesome—a pride to you and delight to those who eat them!

Try this recipe—suggested by the U. S. Food Administration:

- 1 cup milk
- 1 egg
- 1 tablespoon melted fat
- 1 1/2 cups cooked oatmeal
- 1/2 cup flour
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 4 teaspoons baking powder

Combine the milk, beaten egg, and melted fat. Beat this into the cooked oatmeal. Add the flour, salt, and baking powder, which have been sifted together.

Heat the griddle. (Some women place a bit of butter near the outer edge of Griddle. When butter browns, Griddle is hot enough to bake cakes.)

TURN DOWN THE FLAME—ABOUT ONE-HALF. SAVE FUEL! If flame is regulated properly—the cakes will not stick nor burn. They will be appetizing and healthful.

Delicious Prune Pudding

(Steamed)

Here is a dessert, inexpensive to make, that should be tried in every household. If you like pudding—and almost everyone does—you will be delighted with the delicious result that follows the use of this recipe suggested by the U. S. Food Administration:

- 1 1/2 cups pitted prunes
- 1 egg
- 3 tablespoons honey
- 1/2 cup flour
- 2 tablespoons melted butter
- 1 cup buttermilk
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1 teaspoon soda
- 1/2 teaspoon almond extract
- 1 cup rolled oats or bread crumbs

Mix all together and pour into a pudding pan, place in roaster and steam 2 1/2 hours. Serve with whipped cream or hard sauce. (A whole meal may be prepared at one time over one burner in the "Wear-Ever" Roaster while pudding is steaming.)

Cheaper Cuts of Meat Made Tender

A neck piece roasted on top of the stove over one burner can be made as tender and delicious as the most expensive roast can be made in the oven; and neck meat costs eight or ten cents a pound less—saving in a year enough to buy at least two Thrift Certificates.

Roasting Method

Heat "Wear-Ever" Windsor Kettle over a low flame; sear the roast on all sides; then turn down the fire to a flicker. Turn the meat when half done.

A half hour before the roast is done, put potatoes in the beef juice. If fire is correctly regulated, the roast will require no attention and will be nicely browned, tender and of delicious flavor.

"Wear-Ever" Aluminum Cooking Utensils

Help you to

- Save fuel. Turn flame to usual height until food begins to boil. Then TURN FLAME DOWN ONE-THIRD TO ONE-HALF. If using coal or wood, CLOSE THE DRAFT.
- Save time. Turn flame down until food is necessary and because less time is required to cook food.
- Save money and metal. By saving the waste in the cost of continually replacing utensils that wear out. Think of the enormous waste represented by the vast quantity of cooking utensils discarded each year. Did you ever see a "Wear-Ever" Utensil on a junk heap?
- Make war on fuel-waste, on food-waste, on time-waste, on money-waste!
