THRUST OF HUNS LOSES MOMENTUM

French Repulse Enemy At All But One Point

RESERVES ARE IN ACTION

Entente Forces Retake Five Towns and Two Hills After Bitter Struggle.

ENEMY GAINS IN SOUTH

On Rheims-Dormans Front Allies Are Compelled to Retire From High Road.

(By the Associated Press.)

The strength of General Foch's reserves has been felt by the armies of the German Crown Prince in the "battle for Paris."

East of the line running from Soissons to Chateau Thierry, where the Germans, in a continuation of their mighty stroke, gained several additional villages and then attempted to proceed further westward, magnificent opposition was made by the newly strengthened lines and with terrific smashes the French forces recaptured Long Pont, Corcy, Faverolles, Champlat and Troenes, vantage points in the center of the line leading to the forest of Villers Coterets, which seems to be the present objective of the enemy. The French also recaptured Monte de Choisy and Hill 163.

River Not Crossed.

The Germans, however, still have in their possession the village of Vaurezis, west of Soissons, and further south Saconin-et-Breuil, Chaudun, Licy and Bouresches, the last named directly west of Chateau Thierry. A little to the southwest of Chateau Thierry the enemy has reached the Marne.

Nowhere has there been any attempt by the invaders to cross the river, and at all points east of Chateau Thierry they are hugging the northern bank of the stream. It is not improbable, however, that the tactics of the Germans have in view the fording of the river when the time is more propitious, for in the center of the line between Chateau Thierry and Rheims they have pushed back the allied forces across the river at the Dormans road between Elizy-Volaine and Ville-en-Tardenois and are pressing onward toward the Marne. This is the only point on their left wing, however, where the enemy has been able to make fresh gains.

Rheims May Be Isolated.

Having failed in all their efforts to conquer Rheims by direct assault, it now seems to be the intention of the Germans further to widen their occupation of the territory lying south of the Rheims-Dormans road and thereby outflank the cathedral city and bring about its capitulation.

Taken all in all, the seventh day of the new battle found the allied line from Soissons to Rheims, although it had been bent back at various points, not so hard-pressed as on previous days and seemingly more capable of resisting the enemy's onslaught.

Trench Raids Continue.

The British in the regions of Arras, Lens and Bethune are keeping up their trench raiding operations against the Germans.

As yet the expected great battle has not broken in the Italian theater.

PARIS, June 2.—The French troops in a counter-attack west of Nueilly-St.-Front drove back the Germans and also in an attack recaptured Hill 163 in this region, according to the French official communication issued this evening.

The village of Champlat also was recaptured and near Ville-en-Tardenois some ground was gained by the French troops.

Hun Attacks Crushed.

French troops last night smashed repeated German attacks of the greatest violence in the sector north of the river Aisne, between the Oise River and Soissons.

Mont de Choisy, after being attacked four times by forces of the German Crown Prince, was finally stormed, only to be lost again to the French at the point of the bayonet.

On the front between Soissons and Chateau Thierry the Germans occupied Long Pont, Corcy, Faverolles and Troesnes, but later were driven out of

MAN TRAP SET TO GET YANKEES FAILS

AMERICAN CORPORAL BARELY ESCAPES FIENDISH DEVICE.

Soldier Crawling in No Man's Land Sticks Cane Into Jaws of Snare Placed by the Germans.

PARIS, June 2.—The latest German barbarity consists of a man trap similar to a bear trap, discovered in No Man's Land by Corporal Leonardo Manser and Sergeant Victor L. Vaupel, United States engineers.

Corporal Manser, after bringing in the trophy to the trenches, told how he came to discover it. He said:

"We were in the trenches on the night of May 24 when Sergeant Vaupel and myself decided to go on a scouting party. We crept carefully over the top, making our way through the barbed wire entanglements and into one shell hole after another.

"After we got half way across No Man's Land my cane was jerked from my hand. Advancing a few steps, I stumbled on the trap, which had been released by the pressure of the cane. On examination I found the trap set to catch scouts, and chained to stakes in the ground. I loosened the chain and brought the trap to our trenches. The contrivance is three feet long and has jaws 18 inches wide with teeth two inches long. It is designed to give the victim great pain and make him call for help. This attracts his comrades, who become targets for a German machine gun's fusillade, which results in the annihilation of the entire party."

The trap is in the Paris Y. M. C. A. and will be shipped to America as a trophy.

REBELLION NEWS MEAGER

Wireless Message Tells of Scheme to Overthrow Government—Germanization of Finland Indicated in Stockholm Message.

(By the Associated Press.)

LONDON, June 2.—The discovery in Moscow and Petrograd of a large counter revolutionary plot which stretches through the whole of Russia is announced in a Russian wireless message received here tonight.

To this plot is attributable in part the mutiny of the Czecho-Slovak troops, which have captured important railway junctions and lines.

The soviet executive decided on May 29 to undertake the partial calling to arms of several classes of workmen and the poorer peasants in Petrograd and Moscow and the Kuban and Don regions.

Many Rebels Arrested.

At the same time Moscow has been declared in a state of siege. Counter revolutionaries have been arrested in considerable numbers and energetic measures have been taken against the press. These measures are necessary, it is announced, owing to the situation in which the Russian revolution has been placed.

The question dominating all others is that of supplying the people with bread, now that Russia has been deprived of the Ukraine granary. The Kuban and Don regions are, according to the Rusian scheme, menaced by a counter revolutioary band, which hopes by means of complications to provoke intervention by foreign powers and thus drive the Russian masses toward famine.

Flour Stocks Hidden.

In most regions the large owners are mobilizing the well-to-do peasants with the object of resisting the efforts of the government to commandeer the flour depots, and are trying to conceal their stocks for purposes of future speculation and finally agents of the counter revolution in the various cities throughout the country, says the statement, "are seeking to excite the starving masses against the soviet government."

LONDON, June 2.—A state of siege has been declared in Moscow, according to a Helsingfors telegram forwarded here by the correspondent at Copenhagen of the Exchange Telegraph Company.

GENERAL WOOD BIDS OFFICERS FAREWELL

89TH DIVISION REVIEWED BY ITS OLD COMMANDER.

"The Only Thing to Do," Says Disappointed Soldier, "Is to Do the Best We Can to Win the War."

AN AMERICAN CITY, June 2.—"These orders stand, and the only thing to do is to do the best we can—all of us—to win the war," were the words of Major-General Leonard Wood in a farewell address to the officers of his late command, the 89th division of the National Army, which he trained at Camp Funston for overseas service. General Wood had expected to go to France at the head of this division.

At the request of the troops, it was learned today, General Wood, before departing for Camp Funston, reviewed the division at an Army camp here.

"I will not say good-bye," he told the officers, and those who heard him said his voice trembled with emotion, "but consider it a temporary separation—at least I hope so. I have worked hard with you and you have done excellent work. I had hoped very much to take you over to the other side. In fact, I had no intimation, direct or indirect, of any change of orders, until we reached here the other night.

"The orders have been changed and I am to go back to Funston. I leave for there tomorrow morning. I wish you the best of luck and ask you to keep up the high standard of conduct and work you have in the past. There isn't anything to be said. The orders stand, and the only thing to do is to do the best we can—all of us—to win the war. That's what we are here for, that's what you have been trained for. I shall follow your career with the deepest interest; with just as much interest as though I were with you. Good luck and God bless you."

Those who witnessed the review said the troops were never more on their mettle, and gave an exhibition of perfect marching for the benefit of their former commander.

Dinner at Multnomah, With Excellent Programme, Is Followed by Parade Ending at Union Depot, Where Soldiers Entrain.

Portland last night witnessed another vivid picture of the somber seriousness of the present world conflict, when 403 men, composing the largest selective draft contingent called from the city at one time, marched through the streets to Union Station where they entrained for Fort McDowell, near San Francisco, on Angel Island.

Mothers, wives, sweethearts and relatives called to their own as they passed by in review and then hurried to the depot where they bade their loved ones a final farewell. Several mothers and sisters marched in the line with the men. Thousands of the Sunday evening crowd lined the curbings to speed the men on their way, cheering and shouting approval as the men marched by.

200 Girls March in Line.

The future fighters marched through the streets with military stride, gained, by many, through previous military training. Directly ahead of the men marched 200 girls, clad in white dresses, representing the Portland Flying Squadron Division of the National League for Woman's Service.

The men assembled in the parade by groups, each division representing a draft board. With each group marched the officials of the draft board and one man designated as "leader," who will have charge of his quota until the men reach the training cantonment.

Eleven draft boards of Portland were represented, and an additional 37 stalwart sons of Yamhill County were seen in the line of the march. These men were also guests at the "send-off" dinner, staged at the Multnomah Hotel.

Multnomah Guard Band Plays.

Military air was added to the picture by the appearance in the line of march of the Multnomah Guard band of 50 pieces, the men clad in the khaki uniform of the Guard. The official colors of the Police Department, exhibited only on extraordinary occasions, was carried in the parade by a cordon of police sergeants.

Leading the parade, in a small automobile, was Chief of Police Johnson. Police Captains Moore and Jenkins also rode in the leading machine. A platoon of police followed, and immediately behind marched Acting Mayor Bigelow and officials of civic organizations and clubs. Officials of the National League for Woman's Service were also in the parade.

MEDIATION REFUSED BY WESTERN UNION

Request of War Labor Board Declined.

TAFT CENSURES THE COMPANY

Operators Must Choose Between Union and Jobs.

CORPORATION ISSUES EDICT

President Carlton, of Telegraph Company, Uncompromising in Attitude, Declining to Submit to Jurisdiction of Board.

(By the Associated Press.)

NEW YORK, June 2.—The Western Union Telegraph Company has declined to submit to the jurisdiction of the National War Labor Board, which sought to adjust the differences between the company and those of its employes who are members of the Commercial Telegraphers' Union of America.

The Western Union Telegraph Company's decision became known when the report of an executive session of the War Board held here yesterday was made public tonight. It embodied a report by William H. Taft and Frank P. Walsh, joint chairmen of the board, who conferred with Newcomb Carlton, president of the Western Union, in an effort to compose the difficulties between the company and those of its employes who have been dismissed, it was charged, because they joined the Commercial Telegraphers' Union.

Compromise Is Suggested.

Complaint against the company's action was taken to the War Board and Mr. Taft and Mr. Walsh made an investigation. They then submitted a proposition in the nature of a compromise based on the principles underlying the work of the War Board. This platform recognizes the right of men to organize and holds that they should not be discharged for membership in trades unions or for legitimate trade-union activities.

This compromise proposal, under which the Western Union was not required to recognize the union and by which the union was bound not to use the strike as a weapon, was submitted to Mr. Carlton, but he declined positively to permit employes of his company to join the union unless a referendum of all the company's workers showed that a majority of them favored such a step.

Further Effort Useless.

Correspondence between Mr. Taft and Mr. Carlton followed, with the result that the joint chairmen ended their report to the board yesterday with this statement:

"In view of the correspondence it does not seem useful further to prolong the mediation. The construction of principles as set forth in Mr. Taft's telegram to Mr. Carlton leads to the conclusion that the Western Union Company should accept this compromise. . . . It declines, however, to do so, or to submit to the jurisdiction of this board, and no further action of the board is, therefore, recommended, except the publication of this report and the vote of this board upon the report."

Taft's Appeal Turned Down.

In his final letter to Mr. Carlton Mr. Taft wrote:

"I ask you to consider again this proposal before a final rejection. Of
