President and Regents Meet
to Devise Means for Disposing of Problems.

FEDERAL SERVICE ASSURED

Technical Training of All Army Conscripts Sent to College Will Be Provided For— Arrangements Well Under Way.

OREGON AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE, Corvallis, June 2.—(Special).—Devotion of the facilities of the Oregon Agricultural College to the pressing war-time needs of the country was the keynote sounded at a meeting of the board of regents, held in the office of President Kerr Saturday afternoon. Dr. Kerr gave a most comprehensive survey of the war problems which the college purposes to meet at once without additional expense to the Government.

Means for accomplishing these ends effectively, without interfering with the regular college activities were considered by the regents. "Urgent calls of the Government must be met promptly and in every detail," said President Kerr, and in response the regents placed at his disposal every available means.

Within the next few days a number of drafted men will be sent to the campus for a period of technical training. Some time ago it was announced that 250 men would be detailed for special training at the institution, but now the college is asked to prepare for double that number. Also the college is asked if it can continue to handle future detachments of drafted men. The Government wants as many men as possible trained at the college during the period of the war.

Problems Confront Regents.

Providing a laboratory and classroom space and equipment for instructional force and housing facilities will be one of the problems before the regents. To handle this number of enlisted men during the summer vacation was considered an easy task, but to continue this service without interfering with regular work presents difficulties that will have to be met.

The first contingent assigned to the college will arrive June 15. The men will be quartered in the men's gymnasium and will receive their meals at Waldo Hall. These men will complete their course on August 15, at which time a second unit of 500 will be received.

To care for this latter detachment the regents have arranged to quarter 200 soldiers permanently in one wing of the men's gymnasium and to erect barracks to accommodate the remaining 300. The construction of a mess hall to accommodate the men 500 also will be required. With the assistance the institution will receive from the War Department it is expected that the college will be able to care for these men and all additional units that will come.

Many War Courses Given.

During the past year a large number of special war courses were given, requiring additional equipment and teaching force. This work will be continued and enlarged to take care of the increasing demand.

Additional work due to war activities was not the only serious problem which confronted the college authorities. Statistics presented by President Kerr showed that since the beginning of the war the cost of heating has increased from $11,000 to more than $30,000 yearly. During the year the cost of janitor service has leaped from $10,000 to $17,000 per year; light and power from $4,000 to $9,000; campus maintenance, including wages and various sundry items, from $4,000 to nearly $8,000. These advances, together with the adjustment of salaries of the college staff, made the budget for the ensuing year, approved Saturday, a most difficult one.

The technical courses offered by the college naturally lend themselves to Government needs in war emergencies and the demand for college specialists has been extraordinary. The college has in 195 resignations during the year. These have not affected the character of the work done, but in many instances it has been necessary to increase salaries to fill vacancies and to prevent others.

Efficient Staff Imperative.

In placing this matter before the regents President Kerr stressed it vitally necessary to the institution at this time to have an efficient, contented and enthusiastic staff. With the increase in living expenses and the demands offered by industrial and commercial enterprises it would be impossible to retain in the service of the college the specialists whose work is the most important without providing a reasonable increase in salaries. An increase averaging about 7 per cent was approved. President Kerr, however, refused to accept an increase in his salary voted at a previous meeting of the board, stating that he would accept this at a time like the present.

Another feature of the president's report dealt with statistics relative to enrollment during the year just closing. Including the regular short courses, registration for the year totaled 3453 students. These represent 39 different states besides Oregon, every county of Oregon and eight foreign countries. The two upper classes have decreased as a result of enlistments in various phases of war work. The college now has 1235 men in military service and of this number about 40 per cent are commissioned or non-commissioned officers. O. A. C. men hold every grade of military office from corporal to Colonel. In addition to the number noted as actual in the service, nearly 200 others are now in the summer training camps.

TAG SALE SUCCESS

Total of $2300 Is Raised for Sanitary Train.

SURPLUS TO BE DONATED

Council of Defense Will Be Asked to Invest $750 of Amount in Thrift Stamps for Red Cross or Other War Agency.

The tag sale held on Saturday for the benefit of the athletic fund of the 16th Sanitary Train, 91st Division, Camp Lewis, resulted in the raising of $2300. At the suggestion of Sergeant Glenn A. Laidlaw, who had charge of the sale, the State Council of Defense will be requested to invest about $750 of the proceeds in thrift stamps and to donate the thrift stamps to the Red Cross or some other patriotic agency.

This suggestion is in line with the rule laid down by the co-ordinating committee of the State Council of Defense, which provides that applications for permits to solicit funds for patriotic purposes shall be approved solely on the understanding that the solicitation will be limited to the collection of a definite sum and an additional amount not exceeding 10 per cent thereof to cover expenses and unpaid pledges.

In the present case Sergeant Laidlaw, acting under authority conferred by Major Stanley P. Berry, athletic director of the 16th Sanitary Train, made application for a permit to raise $1500 by public solicitation. After deducting this amount and a small sum for necessary expenditures from the total amount raised, there remains about $750. It is this balance that Sergeant Laidlaw suggests should be invested in thrift stamps.

Benefit Dance Nets $362.

In addition to the $1500 resulting from Saturday's tag sale, the athletic fund of the 16th Train will receive $362 as a donation from the Rose City Park Club. This contribution represents the proceeds of the sale of tickets for a benefit dance given by the club last Friday. The club's president, Dr. A. Laidlaw, is a brother of Sergeant Laidlaw.

Among the women who assisted in making the dance a success and who also aided in the tag sale were Mrs. J. H. Lothrop, Mrs. H. M. Higbee, Mrs. W. R. Boyle, Mrs. A. Laidlaw, Mrs. L. E. Youniss, Mrs. C. A. Millman, Mrs. E. W. Dingman and Mrs. R. W. Blackwood. Others who helped the tag sale were Mrs. Richard Mott, Mrs. George T. Carlson, Miss Vera Powell, Miss Nadyne Baker and Miss Viola Garretson.

But for the active co-operation of the teachers and pupils from some of the city schools, the tag sale would not have yielded the amount solicited. Among the teachers particularly active in behalf of the cause were Miss Jessie McGregor, Miss Viola Orschmidt and Miss Winifred Dennis. The schools participating in the sale, which had the approval of Superintendent Alderman and Dr. Alan Welch Smith, president of the school board, were the Couch, Ladd, Failing, Shattuck, Davis, Sellwood and Holladay.

BOOZER GOES TO BREWERS
TO GET THE BARLEY

Barley Not the Only Essential
Product Wasted in Manufacture of Liquor.

SUGAR SACRIFICE IS HUGE

Beer-maker's Furnace Still Gets Coal, Freight Cars Carry His Product and 150,000 Men
Are Dodging Duty.

GRANTS PASS, Or., June 2.—(Special).—There was no mistaking the attitude of the vast majority of the great congregation that gathered to listen to L. M. Boozer last night in his lecture, "The Hun Behind the Bunk," in which he answered criticisms of his recent stand on the matter of food conservation.

Mr. Boozer took his text from the food gospel according to Hoover: "We must attack the nonessential uses of foodstuffs." In opening Mr. Boozer paid splendid tribute to the patriotic and self-denying service of the entire food administration and methods of conservation. "There is no personal issue present in this controversy," he said. "It is the duty of the citizen to pursue that which deserves health and friendly criticism."

Brewers' Barley Invaluable.

"For two months we are requested by the food administration to refrain from the use of wheat flour, but when the private citizen asks the grocer for flour he finds that the request is mandatory," said Mr. Boozer. "We recognize the crisis and are ready to do more. During these two months of enforced self-denial we are led to believe that for lack of authority the same officers cannot put their hands into the brewers' barley bins and take for a needy people the one and a half million bushels of food grains that will be wasted by them during that period."

At headquarters, 533 Pittcock block, a careful check was kept on all tags sold or returned and an expert bookkeeper supervised the accounting. A similar check was kept at the Central Library by Miss Jessie McGregor and at Park and Alder streets by Miss Viola Orschmidt.

Although it is not generally known, a majority of the 925 members of the 16th Sanitary Train at Camp Lewis are Oregon boys, many of them from Portland. The entire membership of two field hospital corps and of one ambulance company is made up of Oregon volunteers. The entire sanitary train is to leave in the near future for France and, as military regulations prohibit the transportation of athletic equipment overseas, the tag-sale plan of last Saturday was adopted as an emergency measure to raise funds for the purchase of the necessary equipment when the train arrives in France.

Trains Carrying War Products.

"Freight is congested, ship only essentials and buy home products." We are with you, but we look with dismay on the 2000 freight trains of 60 cars each that thunder loaded with the product of our wasted food grains and sugar.

"Every man to some useful work to aid in winning the war." Present, sir, every man of us, except about 150,000 privileged citizens who are engaged in wasting our precious foodstuffs and supply men who belong, sir, with the rats you mention.

"I do not ask wartime prohibition today. It is coming, but with the food shortage impossible to estimate, with every loyal citizen willing to aid in the conservation of food, anything else you ask, not only will I not resist, but I will be glad to do my part in the degree now in force in Oregon, Montana, Texas and Idaho, all minor states in point of population, and in every other state of the Union. Do let us to eat the barley so the brewer cannot get it, but get the barley from the grocer, where you have allowed it to be locked up, and give us a chance at it."

Brewers' Funeral Is Coming.

"I will not quibble with you over the cost of a barrel of wheat or a bushel of corn, but I will say that the wheat and barley, corn, rye and sugar used in fermented liquors, and after harvest, or after distillation, the waste shall let the brewer resume if you wish. We will arrange his funeral later. A National crisis demands National-wide measures. Make it a wheatless Nation and a barleyless brewer until harvest."

DOCTOR'S DEATH MOURNED

William Lockwood Parker Prominent in Baker Section.

BAKER, Or., June 2.—(Special).—The passing of Dr. William Lockwood Parker, who died at Portland Friday after a long illness, is deeply mourned in Baker, where he had lived for 20 years.

Dr. Parker was born in Barnesville, Ohio, and was 48 years old. He came to Baker in 1898, where he was a member of several railway surveying parties in this section. Later he lived in Oregon and finally entered the medical school of the University of Oregon from which he graduated and served as an interne at the Good Samaritan Hospital at Portland.

Dr. Parker was affiliated with the various fraternal branches of Elks and other orders. He was a member of St. Stephens Episcopal Church and a vestryman of the parish for many years. Besides his widow, Dorothy M. Parker, he leaves a daughter, Elizabeth, his father and two brothers survive.

Kelso Man on Sunken Transport.

KELSO, Wash., June 2.—(Special).—John Bodine, son of Mrs. Dan Hill, of this place, was member of the crew of the United States transport President Lincoln, reported sunk. Bodine existed in the water for nearly a year ago and had been aboard the President Lincoln on several trips. When a letter to his mother, which arrived in Kelso, was written, he was still aboard that ship. Friends are anxiously awaiting word of his safety.

Haines Slayer Is Indicted.

BAKER, Or., June 2.—(Special).—Charles Spearman, who a few weeks ago shot and killed his father-in-law, William Spearman, on the Oregon coast, was indicted yesterday by the grand jury on a charge of second degree murder. Twelve indictments were returned, all others being unimportant cases.

JUST A FEW AMONG MANY REASONS WHY

Grocers Sell Merchandise Advertised in Newspapers.

These are taken from statements made by proprietors and clerks in neighborhood and downtown grocery stores. They give good reasons why you, the consumer, should read food advertising carefully, why every retailer should favor advertised brands, and why you, the wholesaler and manufacturer of food products, may well consider seriously the trend of the times to advertised food products and household accessories. Names of stores are on file at the office of The Newspaper Representatives' Association of Chicago.

"Because we think advertised goods must uphold their quality, or the advertisement would be wasted. Therefore we think advertised goods are quality goods."

"Because our clerks waste no time in explaining the quality and content of advertised goods, as the advertisement has already done so."

"Goods of known quality and reputation sell readily and allow merchants to turn stock and capital often, thereby insuring a fresh, clean stock."

"Because advertised goods have increased our business 100 per cent in the past year. The increase in business means more money to us."

"Advertised goods are usually packed in attractive packages, easy to handle and easy to sell. Less time is consumed in convincing the purchaser of its merits."

"Consumer is familiar with quality of advertised goods, and the grocer gains the confidence of the public through the handling of high-grade goods."

"Advertised goods represent a higher standard of quality, and each sale carries with it a guaranteed profit."

"Goods put on the market to stay are always advertised."

"For sanitary reasons an advertised article is brought more into the notice of the public. Its place of manufacture and methods of conducting same are always open to public inspection, thereby necessitating more sanitary methods of handling goods. Where and how an unadvertised article is handled sometimes even the dealer himself does not know."

"Ease in selling well-advertised articles—no need of yards of explanations to a customer as to grade of goods, who makes them, and how to use same."

"Satisfied customers and an ever increasing list of them, as I can prove by my rapidly increasing business."

"Buying and selling advertised merchandise, the merchant is continually receiving help to move his stock, which means greater profit."

"It is much easier to sell advertised products because the public is getting educated to the fact that advertised goods have greatest merit."

"The manufacturer shows his confidence in his goods and our confidence follows, consequently we push it."

"Because manufacturers of advertised brands keep their goods in a constant state of quality, thereby causing less complaint from customers. At the same time less time is taken in making sales, thereby making for higher efficiency in present day merchandising."

"Because advertised merchandise has a usual standard of quality."

"Goods well advertised are half sold. For instance, if a customer enters a store to purchase an article that is consistently advertised in the newspaper he or she knows what it is and what it is used for, and just simply asks for it. The clerk makes a sale so much more quickly than he has to answer a dozen questions about the merits or demerits of something 'just as good.'"

NEW STATUTE INVOKED

FRED LOWERY ACCUSED OF ANARCHY IN WASHINGTON COURT.

Case Is Probably First of Its Kind Tried in United States and Is Attracting Much Attention.

RAYMOND, Wash., June 2.—(Special).—Attention of the Superior Court at Seattle was attracted last week in the trial of Fred Lowery, who is charged with criminal anarchy. This is the first case of its kind in the state of Washington.

The Lowery case is being prosecuted under what is known as the Criminal Anarchy statute, which defines criminal anarchy as follows:

"Criminal anarchy is the doctrine that organized government should be overthrown by force of violence, or by any unlawful means." "Every person who by word of mouth or writing shall advocate, teach or advise the duty, necessity or propriety of overturning or overthrowing organized government by force or violence, or by any unlawful means; or who shall organize or help to organize, or become a member of or voluntarily assemble with any society, group or assembly of persons formed to teach or advocate such doctrines (the doctrine of criminal anarchy), shall be punished, etc."

Prosecutor O'Phelan had proceeded against various members of the I. W. W. on vagrancy charges and found he did not accomplish the end he had in view and, therefore, he invoked the statute above mentioned, and charged the defendant with making disloyal, seditious and anarchistic statements.

Judge Hewen, in ruling on the admission of certain testimony, said that the Government might be overturned peaceably, at the polls or otherwise, without subjecting the ones initiating such innovation to any prosecution; he also ruled that private property might be abolished legally without in any way subjecting those initiating that doctrine to punishment.

The defendant has not as yet taken the stand.

The case is attracting much atten-

Patriotism Wins Prisoner's Freedom; Saves Him $40.

George K. Smith Pummels Disloyal Man Lodged in Same Cell.

IT PAYS to be a patriotic citizen even when a person is in jail. At least that is what George K. Smith, who was arrested Saturday night charged with being drunk, thinks, for he profited to the amount of $40 by it.

Smith and Antonio Kontoyant, who was arrested by Officer John Price Saturday night charged with violating the draft registration law, were in the same cell Sunday morning when Officer Price came to question the man he had arrested.

Kontoyant was able to show a draft registration card, but was unable to produce a classification card. "Would you fight for the United States if you had the chance?" asked Officer Price.

"What?" broke in Smith. "You mean to say you wouldn't fight for the United States?"

"No," said Kontoyant again, and with the result that Smith proceeded to pummel him. The police interfered before much damage was done, and after placing the two where iron bars kept them apart, departed. They returned soon afterward, however, with the news that Smith's bail had been reduced from $50 to $10, and the patriotic prisoner was released until Monday morning, when he will have a hearing in Judge Rossman's court.

FOR A CLEAR COMPLEXION

Nothing worries a schoolgirl more than pimples and eruptions, but most girls of that age have them.

The blemishes may be due to indigestion resulting from improper diet. If so they will quickly disappear when the proper food is adhered to. If they are accompanied by pallor and listlessness you must look to the condition of the blood.

Because these eruptions on the faces of schoolgirls are so common they seldom receive the attention from parents that they require. When they indicate this blood or anemia there is a ready remedy in Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. These tonic pills, free from harmful drugs, are pretty sure to help growing girls because they build up the blood at a time when the demand on it is great. As the blood is made rich and red, fickle appetites become normal, lassitude gives way to vigor, the cheeks and lips show the glow of health and the whole system is toned up and purified.

There has been no increase in the price of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Fifty cents per box, six boxes $2.50, at your druggist or direct from the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y. The pamphlet, "Building Up the Blood," is free on request.—Adv.
