

FRENCH DEFEATED, REICHSSTAG IS TOLD

General von Stein Says That Foch Reserve Army Exists No Longer.

HUN HOPES ARE BOLSTERED

Washington Officials Say German General Boasts to Encourage Country—Allied Commander Conserving Men for Blow.

AMSTERDAM, June 12.—"A great part of the French army has been beaten," General von Stein, the Prussian War Minister, declared in a speech to the Reichstag, according to Berlin advices.

The so-called Foch reserve army no longer exists, the Minister asserted. "The success of the Crown Prince's carefully prepared attacks against the French and British on the Chemin-des-Dames front on May 27 inflicted one of the gravest defeats the entente has suffered during the entire war."

General Talks Hostility. "The entente is beginning to admit heavy defeat. Voices already are making themselves heard in entente countries that Russian treachery is to blame for the entente's reverses. That is a gratification to a former ally which bled to death for England."

It was not the disintegration of Russia that was responsible for the entente's reverses, but rather the fact that the help of Russia, the crushing of which claimed a great part of our forces, hitherto has enabled the entente to resist militarily. "The entente is fully conscious of the seriousness of its position. It openly admits the melting away of its troops and comforts its people with having the help of America. The belief in American assistance is being systematically grafted into the French people to give them a false sense of endurance of ungratified bloodshed."

WASHINGTON, June 12.—Announcement by the Prussian War Minister to the Reichstag that "the so-called Foch reserve army no longer exists" is regarded by officials here as designed to encourage the German population.

Offensive Causes Change. "The actual situation at the front, they say, stands as a flat contradiction. Before the German attack was made the Supreme War Council at Versailles had worked out a programme for limited pooling of more troops from some 300,000 men, composed of 200,000 French, 200,000 British, 200,000 Americans and 200,000 Italians, which was to have been employed mainly to support offensive operations on fronts selected by the Versailles council."

The organization of this army was never completed, however, the emergency created by the German offensive causing a wholly new pooling agreement, under which General Foch became supreme commander. He now directs the employment of all active as well as reserve armies. No army now exists which could be called "the Foch reserve army" because as supreme commander that officer has under him all of the forces facing the German onslaught.

Foch Bides Time. The Prussian War Minister's statement, however, admittedly touches the very heart of the problem facing General Foch. The fact that, although under unceasing attack since March 21, the allied and American forces have not struck back in anything approaching a major operation is regarded as conclusive proof that the supreme commander, backed by the Supreme War Council, is striving by every means in his power to stem the German rush and exhaust its offensive power without depleting his own forces. It is a successful—and there is now every confidence both here and abroad that the battle is half won—officers here believe he can turn the tables on the enemy ultimately and use his reserves to crush German ambition finally.

Officers here highly tribute to the genius of General Foch because he has avoided the employment of his maximum power and has blocked the road to the Channel ports in such fashion that his antagonists have been compelled to seek diversion at other points. It is his reserves, standing ready along the vital sectors of his line, they say, that forced the enemy to attempt the movement on the Alsine front and the later efforts between Montdidier and Nogon.

BATTLE HANGS IN BALANCE

(Continued From First Page.) which is a most important point, as it commands the valley. Toward the center the enemy launched several attacks today, but the line held firmly, although some enemy detachments succeeded in filtering into the Matz Valley through the wooded country.

Enemy Gain Costly. Yard by yard the French fought while the Germans tried to push them back by sheer force of numbers. Eventually the enemy succeeded in gaining a little ground, but at the cost of a fearful sacrifice.

South of the River Oise and also south of the Aisne, the Germans showed much activity today, endeavoring to reduce the allied salient. The spirit of the allied infantrymen when they went forward in the counter attack yesterday was very high, although they knew the enemy facing

WARTIME RECIPE FOR GRAY HAIR

Actress Gives Simple, Inexpensive Recipe for Strained or Faded Gray Hair.

Mrs. Mackie, the well-known New York actress, now a grandmother, and whose hair is still dark, recently made the following statement: "Gray, streaked or faded hair can be immediately turned black, brown or light brown, whichever shade you desire, by the use of the following simple remedy that you can make at home: "Merely get a small box of Orlex powder at any drug store. It costs only 25 cents and no extras to buy. Dissolve it in one ounce of water and comb it through the hair. Full directions for use come in each box. "You need not hesitate to use Orlex, as a $100.00 gold bond comes in each box guaranteeing the user that Orlex powder does not contain silver, lead, zinc, sulphur, mercury, antine, caustic products or their derivatives. "It does not rub off, is not sticky or greasy, and leaves the hair fluffy. It will make a gray-haired person look many years younger."—Adv.

them was several times their superior in numbers. When the enemy was seen to be retreating, although still making a fierce fight in order to hold his gains made in the first days of the battle, the allies dashed forward with, if possible, augmented ardor.

German Attack Repulsed. The advantage gained by the allies yesterday was even greater than at first reported. Besides carrying out remarkably successful counter attacks, resulting in the restoration of some territory and the capture of many prisoners, they repulsed a very fierce German attack in the region of Bethancourt, Machedont and Chevencourt. The enemy, by employing large forces, was able to obtain a footing in Machedont and Bethancourt, but an immediate counter blow drove them from the latter, while they never reached Chevencourt.

French cannon and machine guns have rained a heavy toll on the enemy. An entire division of the famous Jaeger was cut to pieces at Reaons-sur-Matz, while a guards division lost a great proportion of its effectives. Other divisions, it is learned, suffered equally during the preparation for the attack and the advance to the narrow valleys, all the passes of which were dominated by the allied guns. Every prisoner taken seems horror stricken at the slaughter of his comrades.

Allied Attacks Succeeded. The allied troops yesterday showed the Germans they could not have it all their own way by executing a number of counter attacks which were invariably successful. Some important territory was won back and invaders even were made into the German positions. Tuesday was, in fact, a thoroughly good day for the allies, who, in addition to regaining ground, captured more than 1000 prisoners.

The principal counter-attack occurred between Domfront, Bubenecourt, and Waquemoulin, south of Belloy, a front of about 12 kilometers. Allied infantry supported by tanks advanced an advance averaging 500 meters. They retook Belloy, reached the edge of St. Maur, arrived north of Porte and Loge's farms and secured a foothold at Amfheil.

French Show Bravery. The French troops displayed remarkable courage and willingness to get at the foe, who appeared completely disconcerted by their dash. Horse teams could be seen galloping toward the save the guns and some of the Germans lost their heads completely. The battle was literally covered with German dead.

The counter-attack on the French left wing, which was the first carried out yesterday, formed the nucleus to the original lines as they stood Sunday. The allies also got beyond Mery during another assault, while a further French return blow drove them to reach the vicinity of St. Maur.

Details concerning the battle between Montdidier and the Oise show that on Sunday morning 14 German divisions (about 130,000 men) joined in the first onslaught. Of these five chosen divisions were detailed to march through the center of the French line. These included regiments of guards and Jaegers.

Boches Use Many Troops. All the units engaged here have been brought to fullest strength, having been reinforced after the March and May offensives. Since the beginning of the battle, the divisions have been thrown into the line.

The allies, who had suspected that an attack was about to begin, were spread in deep formations, the first line being just sufficiently manned to delay the enemy's rapid progress until the action developed, and in the meantime falling back, fighting to the real line of defense.

Owing to his great strength, the enemy succeeded in fighting his way through a depression forming the center of the allies' position, but the flanks held more firmly. The second day's fighting, for the first day were Tricot, Mery and Belloy. The last two they managed to capture on Monday after terrible fighting, but they held only temporarily for the French, with wonderful dash, came back yesterday and forced them to retire, sorely punished.

The second day's objective was Compiegne, but his arrival there was prevented, and he is still some distance away. The general impression that the battle will continue for some days, during which other slight fluctuations in the line are to be expected, is disappointing to the Germans, who, seeing themselves held here, may turn their attention elsewhere.

NEW FIRM PRICES AGREED ON

(Continued From First Page.) mum charges for carload shipments shall be $15 per car. The lumbermen proved to the satisfaction of the Railway Administration and the price-fixing committee that such a carload minimum would increase the rate of delivery from camps to mills approximately 100 per cent.

Consumer Not Affected. Much of the time during the last two weeks has been taken up in considering the "War Industries" Board's plan for fixing the price of lumber to the retail and wholesale trade without attempting to fix it to ultimate consumers. The lumbermen's plan, which will fix the price of lumber to the consumer, involving the regulating of distribution through approximately 75,000 wholesalers, jobbers and retailers.

It is understood that the West Coast Lumbermen's Association in accordance with prices fixed today, did so unconditionally as applying to Government requirements, but declined to accept the general application to the West Coast, unless the same regulations should be applied to Southern Pine, the manufacturers of which were before the price fixing committee today.

Commercial Woods Affected. Up to the present the Government regulation has only been applied to Douglas fir and Southern pine, which are the two principal commercial woods of the United States, and strongly competitive with each other. It is understood that the ultimate programme carries price fixing to all commercial woods, including about 30 varieties of hard woods.

The Southerners were to have been heard last week, but the Southern pine, after preparing the most elaborate data ever compiled in the lumber industry, abandoned it in favor of the West Coast plan of presentation, which was worked out by E. B. Hazen, of Portland, chairman of the east accounting committee of the West Coast Lumbermen's Association. He presented a complete reconstruction of the Southern cost accounting charts and tabulations and resulted in a postponement of the hearing today.

With the sudden and apparently satisfactory termination of the case, both lumbermen and loggers started West tonight, with the exception of Robert B. Allen, who will remain for several weeks in connection with certain large contracts which are likely to be awarded West Coast mills in the near future.
