

PRESIDENT ACTS IN TELEGRAPH FIGHT

Accept War Board's Findings, Suggestion of Wilson to Company Heads.

PATRIOTIC DUTY INDICATED

Mackay and Charlton Reminded That Interests of Nation Should Not Be Disturbed at Present by Labor Disputes.

WASHINGTON, June 14.—Evidences that President Wilson intends to see that the recommendations of the National War Labor Board are followed out to the letter was seen today in the text of his communication to the heads of the two great telegraph companies asking that they accept the board's findings in their controversy with their employees.

The President's letter to the telegraph heads made public today, reads: "My attention has been called to the fact that the National War Labor Board, after careful consideration of the questions at issue between the telegraph companies and their employees, have arrived at a decision.

The essential points are embraced in the following: "First—The employees have a right to join a union if they so desire and men discharged for joining the union should be reinstated.

"Second—The company should not be required to deal with the union or to recognize it.

"Third—Committees of employees should be recognized in presenting grievances.

"Fourth—Where employees and employers fail to agree, the question in dispute should be determined by the National War Labor Board.

"Fifth—The telegraphers' union should not initiate strikes or permit its members to initiate them, but should submit all grievances to the National War Labor Board.

"I am informed that the representatives of the union are willing to accept this decision, but that the representatives of the telegraph companies have not accepted it.

"I am informed that the representatives of the union are willing to accept this decision, but that the representatives of the telegraph companies have not accepted it.

"I am informed that the representatives of the union are willing to accept this decision, but that the representatives of the telegraph companies have not accepted it.

"I am informed that the representatives of the union are willing to accept this decision, but that the representatives of the telegraph companies have not accepted it.

"I am informed that the representatives of the union are willing to accept this decision, but that the representatives of the telegraph companies have not accepted it.

"I am informed that the representatives of the union are willing to accept this decision, but that the representatives of the telegraph companies have not accepted it.

"I am informed that the representatives of the union are willing to accept this decision, but that the representatives of the telegraph companies have not accepted it.

"I am informed that the representatives of the union are willing to accept this decision, but that the representatives of the telegraph companies have not accepted it.

"I am informed that the representatives of the union are willing to accept this decision, but that the representatives of the telegraph companies have not accepted it.

"I am informed that the representatives of the union are willing to accept this decision, but that the representatives of the telegraph companies have not accepted it.

"I am informed that the representatives of the union are willing to accept this decision, but that the representatives of the telegraph companies have not accepted it.

"I am informed that the representatives of the union are willing to accept this decision, but that the representatives of the telegraph companies have not accepted it.

"I am informed that the representatives of the union are willing to accept this decision, but that the representatives of the telegraph companies have not accepted it.

"I am informed that the representatives of the union are willing to accept this decision, but that the representatives of the telegraph companies have not accepted it.

"I am informed that the representatives of the union are willing to accept this decision, but that the representatives of the telegraph companies have not accepted it.

"I am informed that the representatives of the union are willing to accept this decision, but that the representatives of the telegraph companies have not accepted it.

"I am informed that the representatives of the union are willing to accept this decision, but that the representatives of the telegraph companies have not accepted it.

"I am informed that the representatives of the union are willing to accept this decision, but that the representatives of the telegraph companies have not accepted it.

"I am informed that the representatives of the union are willing to accept this decision, but that the representatives of the telegraph companies have not accepted it.

"I am informed that the representatives of the union are willing to accept this decision, but that the representatives of the telegraph companies have not accepted it.

"I am informed that the representatives of the union are willing to accept this decision, but that the representatives of the telegraph companies have not accepted it.

OFFICIAL CASUALTY LIST

WASHINGTON, June 14.—The Army casualty list today contained 119 names, divided as follows: Killed in action, 29; died of wounds, 5; died of accident, 3; died of disease, 6; wounded severely, 70; wounded, degree undetermined, 1; missing in action, 5.

The list includes Corporal George Bell, Winchester, Idaho, and Private John F. Kemler, Spalding, Idaho, killed in action.

The list follows: Killed in action—Captain Frank W. Hulst, Lewiston, Me.; Lieutenants Ernest Francis Sexton, Darton, Conn.; George Stone, New York City; Sergeant Michael A. Bovis, Cheboygan, Mich.; James L. Woodside, Stateville, N. C.; Corporals George Bell, Bluff, Mo.; James W. Brown, Phoenix City, Ala.; Richard R. Conover, East Greenfield, R. I.; Private Michael Dana Capshaw, Chicago; Joseph E. Carlson, Noble, Sweden; John C. Czyszak, Mont.; James C. Floyd, Rogersville, Tenn.; George D. Hutchins, Hickman, Ky.; Nicholas Jaworski, Chicago; Harold J. Johnson, Peon, Kan.; Y. Ira H. Justice, Trimble, Tenn.; John F. Waterford, N. Y.; Romulus Meshan, LaSalle, Ill.; Frank J. Michael, St. Louis; Raymond A. Noyd, Chicago; William E. O'Connell, Garden City, Kan.; Charles H. Reeder, Sioux City, Ia.; Samuel B. Rottenberg, New York City; Morris Sizer, Jersey City, N. J.; Nicholas Schneider, Southatch, Russia; Stewart, Mansfield, Ala.; Floyd Zittetz, Laona, Wis.

Died of wounds—Private Gordon Ward Bantz, Shelby, Mich.; John H. Corle, Brighton, Mass.; Frank E. Johnson, Peon, Kan.; Clyde Millard, Montpelier, Ind.; John W. O'Connell, Chicago; Private Willie Couch, Newnan, Ga.; James Dodds, Chattanooga, Tenn.; William E. O'Connell, Chicago; Wade Holden, Jefferson, O.; Clarence S. Partridge, La Crosse, Kan.; John W. Price, Council Bluffs, Ia.

Died of accident—Civilian H. C. Shaw, Chicago; Private George W. Gibson, Brooklyn; Charles H. McCarthy, Griffin, O.

Severely wounded—Lieutenant George C. Musco, Waterbury, Conn.; Sergeants Robert L. Collins, Bridgeport, Conn.; Oliver R. Day, Yorkers, N. Y.; Roy Dunbar, Chicago; Garet J. Finegan, New Brunswick, N. J.; Jeremiah Sheehy, Lyracorpman, Ireland; Joseph J. Kerkow, Minn.; Corporal Tony Britzak, Chicago; Leigh E. Hunter, South Charleston, O.; Earl Garney, Windsor, Ill.; Wilbur F. Hanson, Brooklyn, N. Y.; William Hetsel, Congress Park, Ill.; Paul Jones, Easton, Pa.; Jacob Kaufman, Brooklyn, N. Y.; John Lyden, Letter-track, Ireland; Carl Roche, Hudson, Mass.; J. J. Ryan, Easton, Pa.; John J. Stutz, Chicago; Harold G. Thompson, New Britain, Conn.; Private Merrill Barbee, Spiro, Okla.; Luther E. Bare, Mayville, Ky.; James C. Blackburn, Shawnee, Okla.; Leon Blitzer, Columbus, Grove, O.; Homer Brodette, North Adams, Mass.; Robert Cash-ings, Peon, Kan.; Morris Cohen, Milwaukee, Wis.; Frank Cunningham, Baltimore, Ireland; Johnnie Hanson, Fort Irwin, Calif.; Roy C. Gatewood, Paducah, Ky.; Roy M. Grew, Farley, Ia.; Andrew G. Williams, Wichita, Kan.; Giovanni, Italy; Paul Grimes, Green Castle, Ind.; Louis Guilbeau, Arundville, La.; Martin Hauser, Chicago; Lewis F. Hicks, Naples, Tex.; Stephen H. Hurlock, Bridgeport, Conn.; Thomas R. Jackson, Chicago; Albert H. Jester, Galveston, Tex.; Homer Jones, London, O.; William C. Kemp, Crump, Tenn.; William J. McComb, Sewastie, Pa.; John J. Malone, Philadelphia; George Mantas, Conn.; Private F. Marboe, Santa Barbara, Calif.; Isaac D. Miller, Denton, Tex.; Frank H. Mills, Millburn, N. J.; Alexander Woodhead, New York City; George L. Nugent, Silver Springs, N. Y.; Arthur Olson, Chicago; William H. Osborn, Troy, N. Y.; Fred P. Ernest, Ky.; Robert E. Lowel, Mass.; Rodney Ricketts, Sanders, Ky.; Joseph W. Rush, Bunker, Va.; Clarence Scran, Bay City, Mich.; Julius Schieler, North Waukesha, Wis.; Robert Sheveland, Scandinavia, Wis.; John Shustovich, New York City; Joseph Socha, Minnetonka, Minn.; Jack Brock, Youngstown, O.; Ernest Strickland, Center, Tex.; Martin Walsh, Richmond, Cal.; Joseph Washburn, Waukesha, Wis.; Luigi Solido, Pittsburgh, Pa.; Peter P. Wislowski, Chicago; Joseph Zubak, Ind. G.

Wounded, degree undetermined—Private Frederick Kreinberg, Brandon, Ia.

Missing in action—Corporal Frederick R. Hyda, Chester, Vt.; Privates Teodor Nowoski, Union City, Conn.; Edward S. Pope, Hardwick, Vt.; Clarence H. Riedle, Bristol, Conn.; Charles F. Surgenon, Bristol, Conn.; Prisoner, previously reported missing—Lieutenant Charles W. Maasson, Baltimore, Md.

A marine corps casualty list of 62 names, given out today, carries the first large number announced since the marines began to take an active part in the fighting in France. The marines have borne the brunt of heavy German attacks and have themselves attacked in force. It was thought the names carried in today's list were those of men who have been fighting for days in the region of Chateau Thierry.

The list issued today showed 62 names. Of these, eight were killed in action; six died of wounds and 48 were severely wounded.

Major Benjamin S. Berry, of New York City, and Captain Oscar R. Caldwell, of Crawfordsville, Ind., were among the severely wounded.

The list includes Private Bates Bryan, Montpelier, Ind., severely wounded.

The list follows: Killed in action—Corporal Francis Dock, South Boston, Mass.; George A. Mincey, Orange, Va.; Walter H. B. Boring, St. Paul; Corporal Oscar C. Alexander, Westport, N. Y.; Sergeant H. Westman, W. Va.; Private James B. Kellum, Mayville, Ky.; James B. Schall, Templeton, Md.; Corporal Elmer B. Davis, Green, Ky.

Died from wounds in action—Private Kenneth P. Leanders, Syracuse, N. Y.; William T. R. Budlong, Marinette, Wis.; Robert C. Gouge, Waterbury, Conn.; Edward E. Milliken, Colic, Corporal Louis Peters, Chicago; Private Aden Brown, Clyde, N. Y.; Oscar E. Caldwell, Crawfordsville, Ind.; Major Benjamin S. Berry, New York City; Private Frederick L. Dancy, Irvine, Mo.; Attilio J. Mignacco, San Francisco; First Lieutenant Hugh H. Gentry, San Francisco; Second Lieutenant Max D. Gilliland, St. Louis; First Lieutenant Shaler Wood, Chester, Mass.; Robert C. Burt, Richard R. Ross, Topeka, Kan.; Privates Bates Bryan, Montpelier, Ind.; Edward E. Cabel, Philadelphia; John Krivdo, Murray City, O.; William T. Hayden, Hermannville, Mo.; De Chas. Adams, N. Y.; Richard A. Powers, Jr., Cincinnati; Daniel H. Hunter, South Charleston, O.; Earl Garney, Windsor, Ill.; Wilbur F. Hanson, Brooklyn, N. Y.; William Hetsel, Congress Park, Ill.; Paul Jones, Easton, Pa.; Jacob Kaufman, Brooklyn, N. Y.; John Lyden, Letter-track, Ireland; Carl Roche, Hudson, Mass.; J. J. Ryan, Easton, Pa.; John J. Stutz, Chicago; Harold G. Thompson, New Britain, Conn.; Private Merrill Barbee, Spiro, Okla.; Luther E. Bare, Mayville, Ky.; James C. Blackburn, Shawnee, Okla.; Leon Blitzer, Columbus, Grove, O.; Homer Brodette, North Adams, Mass.; Robert Cashings, Peon, Kan.; Morris Cohen, Milwaukee, Wis.; Frank Cunningham, Baltimore, Ireland; Johnnie Hanson, Fort Irwin, Calif.; Roy C. Gatewood, Paducah, Ky.; Roy M. Grew, Farley, Ia.; Andrew G. Williams, Wichita, Kan.; Giovanni, Italy; Paul Grimes, Green Castle, Ind.; Louis Guilbeau, Arundville, La.; Martin Hauser, Chicago; Lewis F. Hicks, Naples, Tex.; Stephen H. Hurlock, Bridgeport, Conn.; Thomas R. Jackson, Chicago; Albert H. Jester, Galveston, Tex.; Homer Jones, London, O.; William C. Kemp, Crump, Tenn.; William J. McComb, Sewastie, Pa.; John J. Malone, Philadelphia; George Mantas, Conn.; Private F. Marboe, Santa Barbara, Calif.; Isaac D. Miller, Denton, Tex.; Frank H. Mills, Millburn, N. J.; Alexander Woodhead, New York City; George L. Nugent, Silver Springs, N. Y.; Arthur Olson, Chicago; William H. Osborn, Troy, N. Y.; Fred P. Ernest, Ky.; Robert E. Lowel, Mass.; Rodney Ricketts, Sanders, Ky.; Joseph W. Rush, Bunker, Va.; Clarence Scran, Bay City, Mich.; Julius Schieler, North Waukesha, Wis.; Robert Sheveland, Scandinavia, Wis.; John Shustovich, New York City; Joseph Socha, Minnetonka, Minn.; Jack Brock, Youngstown, O.; Ernest Strickland, Center, Tex.; Martin Walsh, Richmond, Cal.; Joseph Washburn, Waukesha, Wis.; Luigi Solido, Pittsburgh, Pa.; Peter P. Wislowski, Chicago; Joseph Zubak, Ind. G.

Officers killed or died from wounds, 231; men, 4218. Officers wounded or missing, 899; men, 28,928.

why no effort has been made to wrest the initiative from the enemy.

WASHINGTON, June 14.—Members of the House Military Committee, at their weekly War Department conference today, were told that the stream of Americans steadily moving to the front had resulted in a noticeable stiffening of the whole allied line. The Germans, it was said, apparently had encountered greater numerical strength than they expected to oppose their third great drive and had suffered heavier losses than they probably had anticipated.

Among other things disclosed was the fact that Major-General Hunter Liggett had been selected to become corps commander when the American forces reach that strength and to command the first American offensive when it is organized. He commands the forces in the field now.

General Pershing's reply to President Polk, received in official dispatches from France today, said: "Allow me, sir, to thank you for the kind message you sent me on the occasion of the anniversary. The enthusiastic reception which Paris gave us a year ago has been extended since then to the American Army by all your people. Today our armies are united in affection and resolution, full of confidence for the final success which will crown this long struggle for liberty and civilization."

General Pershing's reply to President Polk, received in official dispatches from France today, said: "Allow me, sir, to thank you for the kind message you sent me on the occasion of the anniversary. The enthusiastic reception which Paris gave us a year ago has been extended since then to the American Army by all your people. Today our armies are united in affection and resolution, full of confidence for the final success which will crown this long struggle for liberty and civilization."

General Pershing's reply to President Polk, received in official dispatches from France today, said: "Allow me, sir, to thank you for the kind message you sent me on the occasion of the anniversary. The enthusiastic reception which Paris gave us a year ago has been extended since then to the American Army by all your people. Today our armies are united in affection and resolution, full of confidence for the final success which will crown this long struggle for liberty and civilization."

General Pershing's reply to President Polk, received in official dispatches from France today, said: "Allow me, sir, to thank you for the kind message you sent me on the occasion of the anniversary. The enthusiastic reception which Paris gave us a year ago has been extended since then to the American Army by all your people. Today our armies are united in affection and resolution, full of confidence for the final success which will crown this long struggle for liberty and civilization."

General Pershing's reply to President Polk, received in official dispatches from France today, said: "Allow me, sir, to thank you for the kind message you sent me on the occasion of the anniversary. The enthusiastic reception which Paris gave us a year ago has been extended since then to the American Army by all your people. Today our armies are united in affection and resolution, full of confidence for the final success which will crown this long struggle for liberty and civilization."

U. S. IN WAR FOR VICTORIOUS PEACE

Wilson, in Note to Poincare, Reiterates Militant Policy of America.

AMPLE TROOPS PROMISED

President and Pershing Acknowledge French Messages Sent on Anniversary of Landing of Troops.

WASHINGTON, June 14.—The purpose of the United States to send men and materials to France until "any temporary inequality of force is entirely overcome" was reiterated by President Wilson today in replying to a message from President Poincare on the anniversary of the landing of the first American troops in Europe.

The President's cablegram, made public by the State Department, said: "Your telegram of yesterday was most certainly conceived in the highest and most generous spirit of friendship, and I am sure that I am expressing the feeling of the people of the United States as well as my own when I say that it is with increasing pride and gratification that they have seen their forces under General Pershing more and more actively co-operating with the forces of liberation on French soil.

Troops to Go Forward. "It is their fixed and unalterable purpose to send men and materials in steady and increasing volume until any temporary inequality of force is entirely overcome and the forces of freedom made overwhelming, for they are convinced that it is only by victory that peace can be achieved and the world's affairs settled upon a basis of enduring justice and right.

"It is a constant satisfaction to them to know that in this great enterprise they are in close and intimate co-operation with the people of France."

Messages of congratulation on the anniversary of his arrival in France, addressed to General Pershing, commander-in-chief of the American expeditionary forces, by President Raymond Poincare of France, Premier Clemenceau, General Foch and General Petain, were made public here today by General March, chief of staff.

Pershing Replies to Poincare. General Pershing's reply to President Poincare, received in official dispatches from France today, said: "Allow me, sir, to thank you for the kind message you sent me on the occasion of the anniversary. The enthusiastic reception which Paris gave us a year ago has been extended since then to the American Army by all your people. Today our armies are united in affection and resolution, full of confidence for the final success which will crown this long struggle for liberty and civilization."

General Pershing's reply to President Poincare, received in official dispatches from France today, said: "Allow me, sir, to thank you for the kind message you sent me on the occasion of the anniversary. The enthusiastic reception which Paris gave us a year ago has been extended since then to the American Army by all your people. Today our armies are united in affection and resolution, full of confidence for the final success which will crown this long struggle for liberty and civilization."

General Pershing's reply to President Poincare, received in official dispatches from France today, said: "Allow me, sir, to thank you for the kind message you sent me on the occasion of the anniversary. The enthusiastic reception which Paris gave us a year ago has been extended since then to the American Army by all your people. Today our armies are united in affection and resolution, full of confidence for the final success which will crown this long struggle for liberty and civilization."

General Pershing's reply to President Poincare, received in official dispatches from France today, said: "Allow me, sir, to thank you for the kind message you sent me on the occasion of the anniversary. The enthusiastic reception which Paris gave us a year ago has been extended since then to the American Army by all your people. Today our armies are united in affection and resolution, full of confidence for the final success which will crown this long struggle for liberty and civilization."

General Pershing's reply to President Poincare, received in official dispatches from France today, said: "Allow me, sir, to thank you for the kind message you sent me on the occasion of the anniversary. The enthusiastic reception which Paris gave us a year ago has been extended since then to the American Army by all your people. Today our armies are united in affection and resolution, full of confidence for the final success which will crown this long struggle for liberty and civilization."

General Pershing's reply to President Poincare, received in official dispatches from France today, said: "Allow me, sir, to thank you for the kind message you sent me on the occasion of the anniversary. The enthusiastic reception which Paris gave us a year ago has been extended since then to the American Army by all your people. Today our armies are united in affection and resolution, full of confidence for the final success which will crown this long struggle for liberty and civilization."

General Pershing's reply to President Poincare, received in official dispatches from France today, said: "Allow me, sir, to thank you for the kind message you sent me on the occasion of the anniversary. The enthusiastic reception which Paris gave us a year ago has been extended since then to the American Army by all your people. Today our armies are united in affection and resolution, full of confidence for the final success which will crown this long struggle for liberty and civilization."

General Pershing's reply to President Poincare, received in official dispatches from France today, said: "Allow me, sir, to thank you for the kind message you sent me on the occasion of the anniversary. The enthusiastic reception which Paris gave us a year ago has been extended since then to the American Army by all your people. Today our armies are united in affection and resolution, full of confidence for the final success which will crown this long struggle for liberty and civilization."

General Pershing's reply to President Poincare, received in official dispatches from France today, said: "Allow me, sir, to thank you for the kind message you sent me on the occasion of the anniversary. The enthusiastic reception which Paris gave us a year ago has been extended since then to the American Army by all your people. Today our armies are united in affection and resolution, full of confidence for the final success which will crown this long struggle for liberty and civilization."

General Pershing's reply to President Poincare, received in official dispatches from France today, said: "Allow me, sir, to thank you for the kind message you sent me on the occasion of the anniversary. The enthusiastic reception which Paris gave us a year ago has been extended since then to the American Army by all your people. Today our armies are united in affection and resolution, full of confidence for the final success which will crown this long struggle for liberty and civilization."

General Pershing's reply to President Poincare, received in official dispatches from France today, said: "Allow me, sir, to thank you for the kind message you sent me on the occasion of the anniversary. The enthusiastic reception which Paris gave us a year ago has been extended since then to the American Army by all your people. Today our armies are united in affection and resolution, full of confidence for the final success which will crown this long struggle for liberty and civilization."

General Pershing's reply to President Poincare, received in official dispatches from France today, said: "Allow me, sir, to thank you for the kind message you sent me on the occasion of the anniversary. The enthusiastic reception which Paris gave us a year ago has been extended since then to the American Army by all your people. Today our armies are united in affection and resolution, full of confidence for the final success which will crown this long struggle for liberty and civilization."

General Pershing's reply to President Poincare, received in official dispatches from France today, said: "Allow me, sir, to thank you for the kind message you sent me on the occasion of the anniversary. The enthusiastic reception which Paris gave us a year ago has been extended since then to the American Army by all your people. Today our armies are united in affection and resolution, full of confidence for the final success which will crown this long struggle for liberty and civilization."

General Pershing's reply to President Poincare, received in official dispatches from France today, said: "Allow me, sir, to thank you for the kind message you sent me on the occasion of the anniversary. The enthusiastic reception which Paris gave us a year ago has been extended since then to the American Army by all your people. Today our armies are united in affection and resolution, full of confidence for the final success which will crown this long struggle for liberty and civilization."

General Pershing's reply to President Poincare, received in official dispatches from France today, said: "Allow me, sir, to thank you for the kind message you sent me on the occasion of the anniversary. The enthusiastic reception which Paris gave us a year ago has been extended since then to the American Army by all your people. Today our armies are united in affection and resolution, full of confidence for the final success which will crown this long struggle for liberty and civilization."

General Pershing's reply to President Poincare, received in official dispatches from France today, said: "Allow me, sir, to thank you for the kind message you sent me on the occasion of the anniversary. The enthusiastic reception which Paris gave us a year ago has been extended since then to the American Army by all your people. Today our armies are united in affection and resolution, full of confidence for the final success which will crown this long struggle for liberty and civilization."

General Pershing's reply to President Poincare, received in official dispatches from France today, said: "Allow me, sir, to thank you for the kind message you sent me on the occasion of the anniversary. The enthusiastic reception which Paris gave us a year ago has been extended since then to the American Army by all your people. Today our armies are united in affection and resolution, full of confidence for the final success which will crown this long struggle for liberty and civilization."

General Pershing's reply to President Poincare, received in official dispatches from France today, said: "Allow me, sir, to thank you for the kind message you sent me on the occasion of the anniversary. The enthusiastic reception which Paris gave us a year ago has been extended since then to the American Army by all your people. Today our armies are united in affection and resolution, full of confidence for the final success which will crown this long struggle for liberty and civilization."

General Pershing's reply to President Poincare, received in official dispatches from France today, said: "Allow me, sir, to thank you for the kind message you sent me on the occasion of the anniversary. The enthusiastic reception which Paris gave us a year ago has been extended since then to the American Army by all your people. Today our armies are united in affection and resolution, full of confidence for the final success which will crown this long struggle for liberty and civilization."

General Pershing's reply to President Poincare, received in official dispatches from France today, said: "Allow me, sir, to thank you for the kind message you sent me on the occasion of the anniversary. The enthusiastic reception which Paris gave us a year ago has been extended since then to the American Army by all your people. Today our armies are united in affection and resolution, full of confidence for the final success which will crown this long struggle for liberty and civilization."

General Pershing's reply to President Poincare, received in official dispatches from France today, said: "Allow me, sir, to thank you for the kind message you sent me on the occasion of the anniversary. The enthusiastic reception which Paris gave us a year ago has been extended since then to the American Army by all your people. Today our armies are united in affection and resolution, full of confidence for the final success which will crown this long struggle for liberty and civilization."

U. S. IN WAR FOR VICTORIOUS PEACE

Wilson, in Note to Poincare, Reiterates Militant Policy of America.

AMPLE TROOPS PROMISED

President and Pershing Acknowledge French Messages Sent on Anniversary of Landing of Troops.

WASHINGTON, June 14.—The purpose of the United States to send men and materials to France until "any temporary inequality of force is entirely overcome" was reiterated by President Wilson today in replying to a message from President Poincare on the anniversary of the landing of the first American troops in Europe.

The President's cablegram, made public by the State Department, said: "Your telegram of yesterday was most certainly conceived in the highest and most generous spirit of friendship, and I am sure that I am expressing the feeling of the people of the United States as well as my own when I say that it is with increasing pride and gratification that they have seen their forces under General Pershing more and more actively co-operating with the forces of liberation on French soil.

Troops to Go Forward. "It is their fixed and unalterable purpose to send men and materials in steady and increasing volume until any temporary inequality of force is entirely overcome and the forces of freedom made overwhelming, for they are convinced that it is only by victory that peace can be achieved and the world's affairs settled upon a basis of enduring justice and right.

"It is a constant satisfaction to them to know that in this great enterprise they are in close and intimate co-operation with the people of France."

Messages of congratulation on the anniversary of his arrival in France, addressed to General Pershing, commander-in-chief of the American expeditionary forces, by President Raymond Poincare of France, Premier Clemenceau, General Foch and General Petain, were made public here today by General March, chief of staff.

Pershing Replies to Poincare. General Pershing's reply to President Poincare, received in official dispatches from France today, said: "Allow me, sir, to thank you for the kind message you sent me on the occasion of the anniversary. The enthusiastic reception which Paris gave us a year ago has been extended since then to the American Army by all your people. Today our armies are united in affection and resolution, full of confidence for the final success which will crown this long struggle for liberty and civilization."

General Pershing's reply to President Poincare, received in official dispatches from France today, said: "Allow me, sir, to thank you for the kind message you sent me on the occasion of the anniversary. The enthusiastic reception which Paris gave us a year ago has been extended since then to the American Army by all your people. Today our armies are united in affection and resolution, full of confidence for the final success which will crown this long struggle for liberty and civilization."

General Pershing's reply to President Poincare, received in official dispatches from France today, said: "Allow me, sir, to thank you for the kind message you sent me on the occasion of the anniversary. The enthusiastic reception which Paris gave us a year ago has been extended since then to the American Army by all your people. Today our armies are united in affection and resolution, full of confidence for the final success which will crown this long struggle for liberty and civilization."

General Pershing's reply to President Poincare, received in official dispatches from France today, said: "Allow me, sir, to thank you for the kind message you sent me on the occasion of the anniversary. The enthusiastic reception which Paris gave us a year ago has been extended since then to the American Army by all your people. Today our armies are united in affection and resolution, full of confidence for the final success which will crown this long struggle for liberty and civilization."

General Pershing's reply to President Poincare, received in official dispatches from France today, said: "Allow me, sir, to thank you for the kind message you sent me on the occasion of the anniversary. The enthusiastic reception which Paris gave us a year ago has been extended since then to the American Army by all your people. Today our armies are united in affection and resolution, full of confidence for the final success which will crown this long struggle for liberty and civilization."

General Pershing's reply to President Poincare, received in official dispatches from France today, said: "Allow me, sir, to thank you for the kind message you sent me on the occasion of the anniversary. The enthusiastic reception which Paris gave us a year ago has been extended since then to the American Army by all your people. Today our armies are united in affection and resolution, full of confidence for the final success which will crown this long struggle for liberty and civilization."

General Pershing's reply to President Poincare, received in official dispatches from France today, said: "Allow me, sir, to thank you for the kind message you sent me on the occasion of the anniversary. The enthusiastic reception which Paris gave us a year ago has been extended since then to the American Army by all your people. Today our armies are united in affection and resolution, full of confidence for the final success which will crown this long struggle for liberty and civilization."

General Pershing's reply to President Poincare, received in official dispatches from France today, said: "Allow me, sir, to thank you for the kind message you sent me on the occasion of the anniversary. The enthusiastic reception which Paris gave us a year ago has been extended since then to the American Army by all your people. Today our armies are united in affection and resolution, full of confidence for the final success which will crown this long struggle for liberty and civilization."

General Pershing's reply to President Poincare, received in official dispatches from France today, said: "Allow me, sir, to thank you for the kind message you sent me on the occasion of the anniversary. The enthusiastic reception which Paris gave us a year ago has been extended since then to the American Army by all your people. Today our armies are united in affection and resolution, full of confidence for the final success which will crown this long struggle for liberty and civilization."

General Pershing's reply to President Poincare, received in official dispatches from France today, said: "Allow me, sir, to thank you for the kind message you sent me on the occasion of the anniversary. The enthusiastic reception which Paris gave us a year ago has been extended since then to the American Army by all your people. Today our armies are united in affection and resolution, full of confidence for the final success which will crown this long struggle for liberty and civilization."

General Pershing's reply to President Poincare, received in official dispatches from France today, said: "Allow me, sir, to thank you for the kind message you sent me on the occasion of the anniversary. The enthusiastic reception which Paris gave us a year ago has been extended since then to the American Army by all your people. Today our armies are united in affection and resolution, full of confidence for the final success which will crown this long struggle for liberty and civilization."

General Pershing's reply to President Poincare, received in official dispatches from France today, said: "Allow me, sir, to thank you for the kind message you sent me on the occasion of the anniversary. The enthusiastic reception which Paris gave us a year ago has been extended since then to the American Army by all your people. Today our armies are united in affection and resolution, full of confidence for the final success which will crown this long struggle for liberty and civilization."

General Pershing's reply to President Poincare, received in official dispatches from France today, said: "Allow me, sir, to thank you for the kind message you sent me on the occasion of the anniversary. The enthusiastic reception which Paris gave us a year ago has been extended since then to the American Army by all your people. Today our armies are united in affection and resolution, full of confidence for the final success which will crown this long struggle for liberty and civilization."

General Pershing's reply to President Poincare, received in official dispatches from France today, said: "Allow me, sir, to thank you for the kind message you sent me on the occasion of the anniversary. The enthusiastic reception which Paris gave us a year ago has been extended since then to the American Army by all your people. Today our armies are united in affection and resolution, full of confidence for the final success which will crown this long struggle for liberty and civilization."

General Pershing's reply to President Poincare, received in official dispatches from France today, said: "Allow me, sir, to thank you for the kind message you sent me on the occasion of the anniversary. The enthusiastic reception which Paris gave us a year ago has been extended since then to the American Army by all your people. Today our armies are united in affection and resolution, full of confidence for the final success which will crown this long struggle for liberty and civilization."

General Pershing's reply to President Poincare, received in official dispatches from France today, said: "Allow me, sir, to thank you for the kind message you sent me on the occasion of the anniversary. The enthusiastic reception which Paris gave us a year ago has been extended since then to the American Army by all your people. Today our armies are united in affection and resolution, full of confidence for the final success which will crown this long struggle for liberty and civilization."

General Pershing's reply to President Poincare, received in official dispatches from France today, said: "Allow me, sir, to thank you for the kind message you sent me on the occasion of the anniversary. The enthusiastic reception which Paris gave us a year ago has been extended since then to the American Army by all your people. Today our armies are united in affection and resolution, full of confidence for the final success which will crown this long struggle for liberty and civilization."

General Pershing's reply to President Poincare, received in official dispatches from France today, said: "Allow me, sir, to thank you for the kind message you sent me on the occasion of the anniversary. The enthusiastic reception which Paris gave us a year ago has been extended since then to the American Army by all your people. Today our armies are united in affection and resolution, full of confidence for the final success which will crown this long struggle for liberty and civilization."

General Pershing's reply to President Poincare, received in official dispatches from France today, said: "Allow me, sir, to thank you for the kind message you sent me on the occasion of the anniversary. The enthusiastic reception which Paris gave us a year ago has been extended since then to the American Army by all your people. Today our armies are united in affection and resolution, full of confidence for the final success which will crown this long struggle for liberty and civilization."

General Pershing