The second games of the second half of the Columbia Willamette Shipbuilders' League season will get under way on the various Shipbuilders' diamonds tomorrow afternoon. The closest game for the Portland followers of the National pastime will be at the St. Johns ball park where the Peninsula Ship-builders will clash with the fast Corn-foot aggregation.

"Buck" Keith, manager of the Pen insula team, has made a good start this season with his team and will try and keep his outfit up in the first division throughout the entire schedule. This Sunday they should play a better game as Nick Williams and three of his Spokane Indians will be in the lineup. They have been ineligible before tomorrow, because of the six-day work ruling of the Shipbullders' League. Williams will hold down first base for Peninsula from now on and should prove a tower Pearl Casey now has the Cornfoot team well in hand and is ready for
