

FALING WILL MADE IN 1911 PRODUCED

Attorney Logan's Coup Causes Consternation at Celebrated Contest.

DR. SMITH NOT MENTIONED

Invalvidating of 1915 Will, According to Attorneys, Will Give Estate to Beneficiaries of Former Instrument.

A bombshell was hurled into the camp of both the beneficiaries and contestant of the Xarifa Jane Faling estate yesterday when John P. Logan, chief counsel for the estate, introduced in evidence a will drawn and executed by Mrs. Faling on August 25, 1911. In this will Mrs. Faling bequeathed a greater share of her estate to charity.

In introducing a stenographer's transcript of the will, which Judge Harzwell permitted, Mr. Logan told the court that it was for the purpose of shutting off W. Tyler Smith, contestant, from any part of the estate for all time to come. Inasmuch as he is not named in the 1911 will, Mr. Smith cannot claim any portion of the estate under any condition, was the argument advanced by Mr. Logan.

Baby Home Beneficiary. On the other hand, should the courts hold that the will signed in 1915, and which is now the subject of litigation, was made while Mrs. Faling was mentally unsound, it will mean that neither C. Lewis Mead nor Thomas N. Strong, chief beneficiaries, shall receive any portion of the estate. The $600,000 fortune left by Mrs. Faling will then revert to those named in the 1911 will, it was admitted by the attorneys. The chief beneficiary under this 1911 will is the Baby Home.

"However, we still contend that Mrs. Faling was possessed of all her mental faculties and in every way capable of executing that will in 1915 which is now under contest," Mr. Logan declared. Testimony regarding the 1911 will was given by Miss Katherine O'Neill, who has been a stenographer in the law office of Thomas N. Strong for the past 23 years. Neither Mr. Strong nor Mr. Mead is named in the 1911 will, although Mr. Strong is named in the will of the executors. The testimony of Miss O'Neill likewise showed that there were six codicils to the 1911 will. Mr. Strong appears as executor.

Six Codicils Executed. The first codicil was made October 6, 1911, and names Addison A. Lindsey and William E. Metzger as executors in case of Mr. Strong's death. The second codicil was dated January 25, 1912, and removes Mr. Strong as executor and names W. N. Gatens, William E. Metzger and Addison A. Lindsey as executors. The third codicil, dated August 2, 1912, increases a legacy to Mr. Metzger from $500 to $10,000. The fourth codicil came October 4, 1912, and drops Judge Gatens as executor and names Mr. Metzger and Lot Q. Swetland as executors. The fifth codicil, dated September 30, 1912, drops Metzger and makes Judge Gatens and Mr. Swetland executors, with a bequest of $5000 to Mr. Swetland. The sixth codicil, dated June 5, 1914, increases Mr. Metzger's legacy from $10,000 to $5000 and names A. L. Mills as sole executor. Mrs. Faling's changing attitude toward Mr. Metzger, then a young man whom she was educating at the Oregon Agricultural College, is said to be explained by the fact that she learned when she learned that he was about to give up his education in order to be married. Other wills drawn by Mrs. Faling previous to the one of August 25, 1911, are said to have exhibited the same changing temper with reference to legacies and executors.

Dr. Smith Not Mentioned. In none of her wills and codicils did Mrs. Faling mention Dr. W. Tyler Smith, the first cousin who is contesting the last will, which ignored him and bequeathed her fortune to Mr. Mead and Mr. Strong. Attorneys for Mr. Mead and Mr. Strong said they introduced the contents of the will of August 25, 1911, to show that Mrs. Faling had no desire to see her cousin receive any part of her wealth. Miss O'Neill and Dr. P. J. Wiley were the only witnesses called by the beneficiaries yesterday. Dr. Wiley treated Mrs. Faling for a bad cold in 1912. Both he and Miss O'Neill said Mrs. Faling always impressed them as sane and as a sharp business woman. Hearing of the case will be resumed Monday.

ORPHEUM SHOW MOVES

WEEK'S BILL TO BE PLAYED AT ELEVENTH-STREET HOUSE.

Temporary Change Made Necessary by Engagement of Hellig Theater for Entire Week by Road Show.

Owing to rental of the Hellig Theater for the entire week by a road production the Orpheum show will be presented for three nights and four matinees at the Eleventh-street Playhouse next week. The first Orpheum show at the Eleventh-street theater will be staged tomorrow afternoon and the Orpheum show there will close on the Wednesday matinee. Season-ticket holders have been assigned seats in the Eleventh-street Playhouse corresponding with their seats at the Hellig. The Orpheum's move is only temporary as it will return to the Hellig Theater for the Madame Sarah Bernhardt engagement June 30, the closing show of the season. The seat sale for the entire Bernhardt engagement will be conducted from the Orpheum's box-office at the Eleventh-street Playhouse and the Orpheum will be open daily from 9 A. M. until 1 P. M. to accommodate patrons who desire to make reservations for the Bernhardt engagement.

The Orpheum shows Monday and Tuesday nights at the Eleventh-street Playhouse have been selected by the auxiliary of prominent corners downtown. The Orpheum will be open daily from 9 A. M. until 1 P. M. to accommodate patrons who desire to make reservations for the Bernhardt engagement. The Orpheum shows Monday and Tuesday nights at the Eleventh-street Playhouse have been selected by the auxiliary of prominent corners downtown. The Orpheum will be open daily from 9 A. M. until 1 P. M. to accommodate patrons who desire to make reservations for the Bernhardt engagement.

To assist the auxiliary in the sale of tickets the band of the C. M. Standifer Construction Corporation at Vancouver and North Portland has volunteered its services. The shipyard band will play at prominent corners downtown Monday and Tuesday nights in behalf of the auxiliary's Orpheum benefit.
