SAVE SHOES, IS PLEA

Cerise-Colored Boots Doomed, Say Dealers.

STANDARD LAST IS REMOTE

Government Decides That Women Will Have to Worry Along With Five Varieties of Shoes Until War is Closed.

Women, hang on to your fancy shoes. When the secondhand man calls for old leather, don't hand out your cerise colored boots under the misguided idea that you can replace them in the Fall. Because you can't. There aren't going to be any cerise colored shoes in the Fall, or any taupe kid boots, or any champagne pumps. So if you want any of these attractive shades of shoe leather, you had better save your supply for this Fall ends the making of colored shoes, other than gray, white and two shades, black and brown. The Government has decided that women will have to worry along with these five varieties of shoes until the war is over." said W. B. Roblin, Portland shoe dealer and secretary of the newly organized Oregon Retail Shoe Dealers Association.

The Oregon Association has been formed as a branch of the National Association to cooperate with the Government to conserve leather. While conserving leather, however, the association will see to it that no standardized shoe is adopted until the need for it is imperative. In England, there is but one kind of shoe for everyone, and the suggestion has been made that shoes of C, D, and E widths be the only ones manufactured in America.

For men, the Government has declared that there shall be but two kinds of shoes made next Fall, black and dark brown. Sole leather on women's shoes will be what is known as "five and six iron," which is very light. Men's shoes will be "seven and eight iron." The only way to get heavier soles will be to insert an extra sole in the shoe.

This season's shoes will be in style next year for there are to be no new lasts.

War Correspondent Lectures.

TENINO, Wash., June 28.—(Special)—German atrocities in the war zone and what can be done to help the men in the trenches was the subject of a lecture delivered in Tenino Monday night by Dr. H. G. Lorenz, who spent six months on the western front as a war correspondent. The lecture made a deep impression on Dr. Lorenz' audience, which packed the theater in which it was held.

HOPPE INVADERS MOVIES

GREAT BILLIARDIST FINDS NEW WORLDS TO CONQUER.

Cue Marvel Will do Swimming Stunts, Play Billiards, Pilot Racing Cars and Figure in Rôle of Actor.

William F. Hoppe, the world's greatest exponent of the real art of billiard playing, has gone into the movies. The balking champion, with his cue put away for the Summer, does not intend to remain idle during his off season and has accepted an offer to become a reel actor.

This will be the champion's first appearance in the role of a screen entertainer. He has been an actor since youth, performing before thousands. He is entering upon a new work, but that field has been so clearly mapped out for him that he should have no trouble making good in his new endeavor.

There is a plot to the play in which he will be featured. William will be seen in billiard championship matches, exhibition matches, swimming, acrobatic stunts and an elopement.

He is in Philadelphia at present, where he announced his entering the motion picture field, and will soon move to New York, where he will stay until September, when he will again make his annual tour of the United States. Hoppe's personality has been as great an asset to him as his billiard art. Hoppe is a character in sports and the greatest in his profession. It is claimed by many experts that he is the greatest billiardist who ever lived, and this includes the late Jake Schaefer and Frank Ives.

He is the recognized master of balk-line billiards, but his showing at three previous seasons leaves little doubt that he could be the king of that style if he decided to devote himself exclusively to it. In an exhibition match in San Francisco last winter he made a world's record run of 25 three cushion billiards, bettering the best previous mark by 8 points.

SKETCHES OF YOUNG OFFICERS JUST PROMOTED ARE GIVEN.

Youthful Careers of Men Who Win Commissions at the Presidio First Training Camp Reviewed.

Listed among the 55 officers of the 165th Depot Brigade, whose promotions to higher positions were announced at Camp Lewis Thursday, are five Portland boys: Ernest Alfred Wyld, Cyril Lawrence Meyers, Thomas Walter Gillard, Earl Eliason Grant and Frank McGarland.

Ernest Alfred Wyld is the son of E. A. Wyld, vice-president and cashier of the First National Bank of Portland, where he was employed before going to the first officers' training camp at the Presidio. He received a commission as Second Lieutenant and took up active work at Camp Lewis in August, 1917. He has been at that cantonment ever since, connected with the depot brigade. Before enlistment, he had resided in Portland 17 years. He received part of his education at Victoria, B. C., and part at Washington High School. Cyril Lawrence Meyers is a graduate of Washington High School and Oregon Agricultural College. He was prominent in athletics of all kinds while attending both of these institutions. Soon after his graduation from college, he went to the first officers' training camp at the Presidio, where he won a commission as a Second Lieutenant. For the past six weeks he has been studying musketry at Camp Terry, Ohio. He recently received orders to proceed to Camp Lewis to act as inspector. Lieutenant Meyers is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Meyers, of 695 Millwaukie avenue. While attending school in Portland he carried an Oregonian route for five years. He has also worked in this city for the Sellwood Oil Company and for the Inman-Poulsen Lumber Company.

Thomas Walter Gillard is widely known among the younger set in Portland where he was very popular. He is a member of the Oregon bar and was for several years secretary of the University of Oregon Law School when that institute had its headquarters in Portland, and later was attached to the School Board. Lieutenant Gillard was one of the first applicants from Portland for the first officers' training camp and received his commission as Second Lieutenant with flying colors. The news of his promotion was welcomed here.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., June 28.—John Poole of Washington, D. C., "dark horse" candidate, today was elected president of the International Association of Rotary Clubs on the second ballot. He received 273 votes, but his election later was made unanimous.

For this disorder you will find nothing quite equal to Chamberlain's Tablets. When the proper dose is taken you can hardly realize that the effect is not natural instead of having been produced by medicine.
