

COMPUTER REVOLTS IN EAST STARTED

Milukoff and Guchkoff Said to Have Taken Leadership of Movement.

BOLSHEVIKI WEAK IN EAST

Twenty Thousand Released Prisoners Fighting in Ranks of Soviet Government—Order Maintained at Vladivostok.

AMSTERDAM, June 28.—Prof. Paul Milukoff, leader of the Russian constitutional democrats, and Alex J. Guchkoff, Octoberist leader, have arrived at Harbin, Manchuria, and placed themselves at the head of a counter-revolution movement, according to the Vossische Zeitung, which is quoted in a telegram from Berlin to the Dutch press.

LONDON, June 28.—That the Bolsheviks in Siberia could be overthrown easily but for the support of armed prisoners released by them is the contention of the Harbin correspondent of the Daily Mail. In a dispatch dated June 23 he says that of 20,000 prisoners fighting on the side of the Bolsheviks in Trans-Baikalia, 4000 are Magyars, who are the chief source of Bolshevik strength.

Two or three allied divisions, says the correspondent, could put down all opposition in Siberia. He adds: "The weakness of the Bolsheviks may be imagined from the fact that a few scattered Czech-Slovak forces are able to hold the Siberian railway from Tschibinsk to Nij-Udinsk, a distance of 1500 miles, and keep in touch with the counter-revolutionary movement in South-eastern Russia led by General Alexieff.

"Bolshevism is a living corpse. Allied intervention is vital not only to save the Russians from the Germans but to save the Russians themselves." The correspondent says there are 40,000 unarmed prisoners at Omsk, where a German Consul has just arrived. The Consul has received 250,000 rubles from the local Bolshevik government as an indemnity for the liquidation of German business, while representatives of British and American firms are being mulcted heavily, under threat of imprisonment.

Irkutsk Scene of Battle. The American Consul at Irkutsk reports the town is pockmarked with bullet and shell holes and that the Bolsheviks and Czechs are fighting there. Order is insured at Vladivostok, says the correspondent, by the presence of allied warships in the harbor and Japanese and British patrols in the streets.

WIFE SLURRED, SHE SAYS

BETTY TAUG ASKS DIVORCE FROM SPOUSE WHO CALLED HER UGLY.

C. G. Danielson Would Part From Effa M. Danielson, Whom He Accused of Dishwashing and Cooking.

That her husband continually complained that she was ugly and made other disparaging remarks about her is alleged by Betty Taug in a divorce suit filed yesterday against Hans Taug. She also says he refused to provide her with suitable or sufficient clothing. She demands a divorce, the custody of a minor child and $10 a month for the child's support.

Both jealousy and infidelity are charged against Cecil E. Adkins in the complaint of E. R. Adkins. They were married at Vancouver in March, 1917. Cruelty and infidelity are likewise alleged by C. G. Danielson, who wants a divorce from Effa M. Danielson, to whom he was married in Portland in 1910. He says she would not wash the dishes, cook his meals or make the beds.

After 21 years of married life, Della Wickham not only wants a divorce from Charles Wickham, but likewise wants her maiden name of Della Cox restored to her. They were married in 1887. She alleges cruelty. Cruelty is the complaint of Mary Doby, who seeks to divorce George Doby, a shipping clerk, to whom she was married at Oregon City in 1912. She wants the custody of a minor son and $45 in alimony and support money for herself and child.

RUSSIA HOME OF RIOTS, REBELS AND BLOODSHED FOR FULL YEAR

Scenes Not Unlike Those at Paris During French Revolution Enacted Ever Since Czar Abdicated, All Brought About Through German Intrigue.

It was on September 16, 1917, that Russia was proclaimed a republic by a pronouncement issued by Minister Kerensky, now deposed, and recently arrested in London, who will come to America via France within the next few weeks. From the time of the abdication of the Czar and the rise and fall of Kerensky, history in Russia was made rapidly. When the Emperor abdicated, his Ministry being swept from office, the Grand Duke Michael, younger brother of Nicholas, was named Regent. These events were preceded by three days of rioting in the streets of Petrograd, about 400,000 persons crowded the streets. The garrisons at Petrograd and Moscow wavered and then went over in a body to the revolutionaries. Pro-German revolutionaries were ousted. Many political prisoners were liberated, including a great horde which, freed from incarceration in Siberia, entered Petrograd and across the whole of Russia. The Duma leaders had brought all this about, having disregarded an order from the Emperor to disperse, and having voted a great provisional government. Other garrisons came in to strengthen the movement, and Russian troops at the front assured their support.

Grand Duke Abdicates. Grand Duke Michael abdicated the throne shortly after taking his seat. A provisional cabinet was organized with Prince George E. Lvov as Premier and Minister of the Interior, and Alexander Kerensky, later to become Premier, as Minister of War.

The new regime proclaimed policies which included amnesty for political prisoners, religious freedom, liberty of speech and universal suffrage. Even in the war capitals of the central powers it was conceded that the revolution had been accomplished under the guidance of Russia's war party, and some of the German newspapers dared to predict that the revolt would be far-reaching as a step toward the democratization of Europe. In England it was regarded as an entente triumph and a German disaster.

The United States, then neutral, was first to recognize the provisional government. A few days later Great Britain, France and Italy also recognized the new republic. America later sent diplomatic and railroad missions to aid Russia, and made financial loans. Eilhu Root, who headed the diplomatic body, assured the provisional government that the United States would stand by Russia and other members of the coalition. Confidence in the success of the new democracy, Jews throughout the world interpreted the Russian revolution as a stride toward universal freedom for their race.

Czar Made Prisoner. Meanwhile the deposed Emperor and Empress Alexandra were ordered arrested and they were made prisoners at Tsarskoye-Selo, later being removed with their entourage to Fortress St. Peter and St. Paul, at Petrograd. A plot to proclaim Grand Duke Michael Emperor failed in April last year. Nikolai Lenine, a noted revolutionary of the radical Socialist type, returned from exile in Switzerland and established himself at the palace of Madame Kshesinska, a famous dancer who had been a favorite of the ruler. With many followers, Lenine opposed the new regime by advocating peace. Suspected as pro-German agents, he and other radicals were arrested and confined several months later after they had done incalculable harm through their public and secret agitations. Subsequently he escaped.

Strikes, agrarian disorders, anti-government demonstrations at Kronstadt, Sebastopol and elsewhere, mutinies in the fleets and among entire regiments at the front, together with steps taken by Finland and the Ukraine to attain political independence, cast into uncertainty the success of the revolution. About mid-July progress was again under way. The revolution had been in progress for several months later after they had done incalculable harm through their public and secret agitations. Subsequently he escaped.

LANSING STATES POLICY

Germany and Bolshevik Government Reported to Have Agreed on Plan to Crush Aspirations of Poland.

WASHINGTON, June 28.—German and Austrian propaganda representing the United States as favoring the freedom of Poland without regard for what happens to the Czech-Slovak and the Jugo-Slav generally, led Secretary Lansing to issue a statement today definitely announcing that the position of the American Government is that all branches of the Slav race should be completely freed from German and Austrian rule.

The statement follows: "Since the issuance by this Government on May 29 of the statement regarding the nationalistic aspirations for freedom of the Czech-Slovak and Jugo-Slav, German and Austrian officials and sympathizers have sought to misinterpret and distort its manifest interpretation. "In order that there may be no misunderstanding concerning the meaning of the statement, the Secretary of State has today further announced the position of the United States Government to be that all branches of the Slav race should be completely freed from German and Austrian rule."

LONDON, June 28.—Germany and the Russian Bolshevik government in a secret convention regarding the future of Poland have virtually agreed to cooperate in crushing Polish nationalist aspirations. Details of the treaty had been printed

JULY 4 PLANS MADE

France Appropriates Natal Day of America.

CHAMBER VOTE UNANIMOUS

Impressive Scenes Mark Action by Deputies to Emphasize Feelings of Gratitude and Friendship.

PARIS, June 28.—Cheers and shouts of enthusiasm greeted the announcement made in the Chamber of Deputies this afternoon that the Fourth of July would be regarded as a legal French holiday. All party lines were obliterated and the plaudits were unanimous from all parts of the amphitheater. It was one of the most impressive demonstrations that have been seen in the French Chamber of Deputies since the beginning of the war.

Forewarned that the motion would occupy the first place in the order of the day, the Deputies had gathered in larger numbers than at any time since the beginning of hostilities, with possible exception of the assemblies on June 4 when Premier Clemenceau made his famous speech regarding the German offensive on the Chemin-Des-Dames.

French People to Unite. Maurice Damour, secretary of appropriations of the Chamber of Deputies, presented the resolution, asking that the French people unite in celebrating the American holiday. "It is the duty of France to tell her American friends: 'You celebrate your independence day on July 4. Henceforth, we shall likewise celebrate that date as a token of our fraternal and indissoluble friendship with the American people. We shall endeavor to refrain from holding a session July 4.'

Wilson's Name Cheered. Deputy Henry Franklin-Bouillon, chairman of the inter-allied parliamentary conference, said: "Henceforth, we shall likewise celebrate that date as a token of our fraternal and indissoluble friendship with the American people. We shall endeavor to refrain from holding a session July 4."
