Cremation Is Forever Satisfactory

Like other methods which have out-lived their time earth burial passes because of the expansion of cities and the building up of the country side. The automobile and the electric train are breaking down the seclusion of the country outside of cities, and as we live today there is no room for a graveyard. For that reason as much as any, Cremation takes its place as the satisfactory method of placing away the departed. It is the one method which forever insures a beautiful resting place for the earthly remains.
