

FOUR DIE IN CRASH AT CASCADE LOCKS

Fast Livestock Train Plows Into Auto.

THREE INJURED RUSHED HERE

Earl Nunn, Mother and Brother and Wallace Price Dead.

ROMANCE ALSO SHATTERED

Driver of Auto Attempts to Cross Track After Freight Passes, Falling to Observe Oncoming Cattle Train.

Four persons were killed, and in the tragedy a family almost wiped out and a romance shattered; and three persons were injured yesterday afternoon at 5:20 o'clock, when O.-W. R. & N. fast livestock train No. 255, westbound, crashed into an automobile driven by Earl Nunn at the Government crossing at Cascade Locks on the Columbia River Highway.

The dead: EARL NUNN, aged 25, 1304 East Thirteenth street North. MRS. MARGARET NUNN, his mother, aged 46, same address. FRANK NUNN, aged 14, brother of Earl Nunn, same address. WALLACE PRICE, 57 years old, of Eugene, Or.

The injured: Miss Ruth Nunn, aged 11, sister of Earl Nunn, 1304 East Thirteenth street North. Miss Susie Staubb, fiancée of Earl Nunn, Thirty-third and Columbia boulevard. George Nunn, aged 9, 1304 East Thirteenth street North; injuries may be fatal.

Injured Rushed to Hospital. The bodies of those killed were taken in charge by the Coroner at Hood River. The injured, Ruth and George Nunn and Susie Staubb, were brought to Portland on O.-W. R. & N. train No. 17, which arrived at Cascade Locks shortly after the accident occurred. Two Red Cross ambulances met No. 17 at the Union Depot and the injured were taken to the St. Vincent's Hospital for treatment. George Nunn is critically hurt and may die, but Ruth Nunn and Miss Staubb are only slightly bruised and cut.

The accident happened at the Government crossing, about 140 feet west of the depot at Cascade Locks. An eastbound freight train was taking the siding at the depot and the yard at Cascade Locks, for train No. 255, a fast stock train, westbound. The automobile, containing seven occupants, arrived at the crossing just as the rear end of the eastbound freight had cleared the switch.

Hedge Hides Railroad. Fast freight No. 255 had arrived at the station in the meantime and, according to eyewitnesses, had rung the bell at the station and whistled for the crossing at the west end of the yard where the crash occurred. The view of the main line was obscured to the occupants of the automobile by a hedge, and the car arrived on the crossing and was crashed into by the fast freight.

The occupants of the car were scattered on both sides of the right-of-way. The car was thrown a distance of 50 feet by the force of the impact and reduced to wreckage. The train was brought to a stop as quickly as possible and first aid rendered to the injured by Dr. C. R. McClure, who arrived at the scene of the accident shortly after the collision.

Inquest to Be Held Today. The dead were taken in charge by the coroner at Hood River and an investigation and inquest will be held today, at Hood River by the county officials and representatives of the O.-W. R. & N. company.

B. C. Wilson, assistant general claim agent of the railway company, met train No. 17 at the Union depot at 7:25 o'clock when the injured arrived. Dr. R. A. J. Mackenzie, chief surgeon for the O.-W. R. & N., arrived with the Red Cross ambulances and the victims were taken to the St. Vincent's Hospital.

Engineer Sounds Warning. T. M. Leighter and T. J. Leighter, of the Nortonia Hotel, and Westley Smith, of 1190 Minnesota avenue, who witnessed the accident, reported to the railway company that train No. 255 sounded the bell at the depot and that the engineer blew the whistle for the railway crossing.

Leo H. Harms, of 399 Harrison street, reported that he witnessed the accident. It was said by officials of the O. W. R. & N. that No. 255 was going about 25 miles an hour when the collision occurred.

The automobile which was demolished in the collision is owned by Mr. Rudolph Schneider, of the Rose City Dairy.

Earl Nunn, who was killed in the accident was an employee of Mr. Schneider, and obtained the use of Mr. Schneider's machine for an outing on the Columbia River Highway. Miss Staubb is a sister of Mrs. Schneider, and she was engaged to Earl Nunn. Mrs. Margaret Nunn, the dead mother, was a sister of Mrs. Clara Roy Clarke, of 389 Going street, N. Nunn, of Portland, an employee of the Standifer shipyards in Vancouver, is a son. Her husband is a son.

BOILERMAKERS AT OAKLAND TO STRIKE

Shipyard Workers Dissatisfied With Pay.

3500 EMPLOYEES AFFECTED

Established Wage Scale Not Followed, Is Charge.

2 GRIEVANCES ARE CITED

Companies Alleged to Have Failed to Comply With Macey Agreement and to Have Refused to Pay Back Wages Due Workers.

OAKLAND, Cal., July 14.—Approximately 3500 boilermakers employed in shipyards on this side of San Francisco Bay, engaged in filling Government contracts, were ordered tonight not to return to work tomorrow because of the alleged failure of the shipbuilding companies to adhere to the scale of wages established by the Macey Wage Adjusting Commission.

The boilermakers, at the conclusion of a mass meeting held in the Municipal Auditorium attended by more than 2200 workers, voted not to return to work until the controversy with their employers had been adjusted satisfactorily.

The boilermakers say that they base their action on two specific grievances, and that they are in possession of facts tending to show that the shipyards, in 2000 instances, have failed to comply with provisions of the Macey wage scale, which governs the salaries to be paid all workers employed in shipyards on Government contracts.

One grievance, according to the boilermakers' representatives, is that many of the shipyards are not paying the Macey scale of wages, and the other is that companies paying this scale refuse to pay money due workers in back pay since the Macey scale became effective.

The scale which the boilermakers assert is not being adhered to was established by a Federal wage adjustment board of the United States Shipping Board, headed by V. Everitt Macey, which conducted a long investigation of wage scale conditions in San Francisco last winter.

WIFE ASKS DIVORCE AND HUSBAND'S JOB

COWLITZ COUNTY TREASURER FACES DOUBLE DRIVE.

Mrs. Faith Perry's Announcement Followed by One From Mr. Perry: He Will Not Seek Re-election.

KALAMA, Wash., July 14.—(Special.)—With the filing by Mrs. Faith Perry of an action for divorce against Lawrence Perry, the present Treasurer of Cowlitz County, alleging cruel and inhuman treatment and asking for the care, custody and control of three minor children and also for alimony and support money, another chapter is added to the political and marital drama which has been attracting the attention of the county for the past few weeks.

Last week Mrs. Perry, in the papers of the county, announced her intention of running for the office of County Treasurer to succeed her husband. Her announcement, which in itself is an interesting document, runs in part as follows:

"Owing to recent changes in my home, the responsibility for the maintenance of my three young children devolves upon myself.

"As my friends assure me that I am fully competent to assume the duties of the office of County Treasurer, and in view of the fact that the policy of the Government at present is to place women in office positions wherever they are capable of filling them, I wish to announce myself as a candidate for the nomination of County Treasurer on the Republican ticket, subject to the September primaries.

"I was a teacher for 10 years previous to my marriage. I have had some clerical experience, an acquaintance to the use of the typewriter, and am familiar with bookkeeping and the conduct of business. If elected, I shall employ a housekeeper to care for my children and will devote my time to the office, but will have the comfort of a closer oversight over my children than if I were forced to separate them from myself.

"As I am financially unable to conduct a personal campaign, I ask my friends to lend me their support."

Mr. Perry has also made an announcement. He will not run for re-election.

TSCHERNOFF AGAIN LOOMS UP IN RUSSIA

Leader With Kerensky Has Programme.

ENTENTE CO-OPERATION ASKED

Strong Man Stands Out From Throng of Visionaries.

LAND REFORM HIS HOBBY

Former Minister of Agriculture Advocates Resuming War Against Germany and Social Revolutionists Expect Peasants to Rally.

BY JAMES O'DONNELL BENNETT, (Special to the Chicago Tribune and The Oregonian.)

STOCKHOLM, July 14.—The man a year ago singled out from the throng of Russian visionaries as "the man with a programme" again begins to loom large on the horizon of that distracted land. He is M. Tschernoff, former leader with Kerensky and Goiz, of the Social Revolutionists, but, unlike them, leaning toward the extreme left, a tendency, however, which the tragic events of the recent months are believed to have caused him somewhat to modify.

Tschernoff was the Minister of Agriculture in the second and fourth revolutionary cabinets, and in both he fought valiantly for a programme of radical land reform, with which his name is more identified than any other Russian revolutionary statesman's.

Tschernoff Again to Front. Because his colleagues in the fourth cabinet shilly-shalied on land reform and delayed a sincere consideration of his measures, Tschernoff disgustingly left them last October; since when little has been heard about him.

But now again he comes forward, and for the identical reason that made him a man of mark before, namely, because he was the foremost representative of the proposition that there can be no stable order in Russia until a drastic land reform has been accomplished.

Many peasants are beginning to suspect the Bolsheviks under present conditions cannot accomplish such reforms. Therefore, the Social Revolutionist leaders believe the peasants will rally to Tschernoff's platform of actual land reform, thus simultaneously creating a nucleus for effective opposition to the Bolsheviks and for co-operation with the entente in re-establishing the Russian war front against Germany.

Programme Something Tangible. It is intensely characteristic of Tschernoff, the faculty for formulating a concrete programme and adhering to it, that already the Social Revolutionists flocking to him have been able to seize his programme as something tangible amid the chaos and

TOBACCO RATIONS LOOM IN AMERICA

GOVERNMENT MAY TAKE OVER "WEED" INDUSTRY.

Unless United States Is Able to Continue Shipments Allies' Allowance May Be Cut.

WASHINGTON, July 14.—Government control of the tobacco industry may result from the heavy requirements of the allies and the American military forces abroad. Rationing of the American population is believed to be a possibility.

Investigation has developed that the consumption of tobacco products in Great Britain is four pounds per capita; France, three and one-half pounds; Italy, two pounds, and that shipments from the United States must be kept up if the short rations in the allied countries are not to be still further reduced. The average per capita consumption of tobacco in this country is seven and one-half pounds per annum.

Taxes on tobacco in Great Britain have been materially increased and large increases in price are reported from France.

In the United States the price of leaf tobacco has advanced 50 per cent since 1914.

The crop of leaf tobacco in the United States in 1917 amounted to 1,196,000,000 pounds, of which 850,000,000 remain available for manufacture in 1918.

Tobacco issued to the military forces of England, France and Italy amounts to approximately 120,000,000 pounds a year, the War Industries Board said. England and France each allot 40 per cent of their entire consumption, while Italy allows her military forces 45 per cent.

The total yearly consumption of the entire populations of these countries, the board estimates at 287,000,000 pounds, or 41,000,000 more than this country is able to export.

Persons who pointed to possible Government control declared that it is more than probable that with the allied armies consuming between 40 and 45 per cent of the total consumption in allied countries, American forces would use more than 50 per cent of the total amount used in the United States.

FIRES NOW UNDER CONTROL

Heavy Rains in Montana Do Little Good in Idaho, However.

MISSOULA, Mont., July 4.—The forest fire fighters of Western Montana and Idaho now are holding their own against the flames, according to reports received at district headquarters here today.

Though heavy rains fell in the neighborhood of Missoula in the last 24 hours, local officials believe they were not of much assistance in Idaho, however, where the fires in the Clearwater Forest are the worst of any in the district.

One new fire was reported in that forest today, with reports of control from the Selway, Kaniksu and Pend Oreille forests.

ARCTIC EXPLORER TO REST

Vilhjalmur Stefansson Taken to Fort Yukon on Dog Sledge.

NEW YORK, July 14.—Vilhjalmur Stefansson, the Arctic explorer, struck on with fever last April at Herschel Island and taken to Fort Yukon on a dog sledge, will spend the Summer there in order to recover his strength, according to a letter from him received today by the Explorers' Club.

"I am able now to walk a mile," the letter said, "but only at the cost of becoming more tired than walking 40 at this time last year. The physician says it will take from three to six months' rest to get me in trim again. It seems likely, then, that I shall spend the Summer here."

French Girls Shower Flowers on Troops.

MANY NATIONS PARTICIPATE

American Expeditionary Force Second in Line.

ALL ALLIES REPRESENTED

Battalion of Belgians Followed by Grenadier Guards, Black Watch, Irish Guards, Canadians, New Zealanders and Highlanders.

PARIS, July 14.—Heroes distinguished during the war in all the entente allied armies participated in a monster parade through the streets of Paris today in celebration of Bastille day. American troops from the first and second divisions, recently cited in Army orders, represented the United States Army. One detachment took part in the capture of Cantigny; others were at Chateau Thierry.

All the American units had been in France more than a year. The American expeditionary forces were showered with flowers by French girls.

Poincare and Fershing Review. The parade was reviewed by President Poincare, who was accompanied by General Fershing. The Americans occupied second place in the column. All branches of the French army service were represented. The Alpine Chasseurs received an ovation while singing their Alsatian songs. Historic French regiments with battle flags of the Napoleonic campaigns as well as the present war, were cheered while girls threw flowers.

A battalion of Belgians followed the Americans. Then came the British contingents, including the Grenadier Guards, the Black Watch, Irish Guards, Canadians and New Zealanders. Bagpipers accompanied Highlanders, who came out of the trenches yesterday.

Polish Band Plays Sousa March. The Italian representation included Alpine units. A detachment of the Polish army was loudly cheered. A band played a Sousa march, while many Poles greeted American expeditionary soldiers lining the streets with "Hello, American boys."

Czecho-Slovaks who had fought on the Russian front carried the banner recently presented by President Poincare.

A Russian detachment of the foreign legion, officered by Russians, occupied a place in the parade. Greeks and Portuguese also were present.

Unfavorable weather with frequent rain did not prevent all viewing points being crowded. Many persons had taken up their positions the night before.

LONDON, July 14.—(Special.)—Major-General John Biddle, commanding American forces in the United Kingdom, was among the guests at the annual Anglo-French dinner organized by the Alsace-Lorraine patriotic League in London last night.

General Sir Francis Lloyd, replying to a toast said: "There can be no peace by negotiations and nothing but peace by the sword. Now that we have an indisputable asset which has come over to us across the western waves at a time we most needed it, we surely should carry through and attain the desired end."

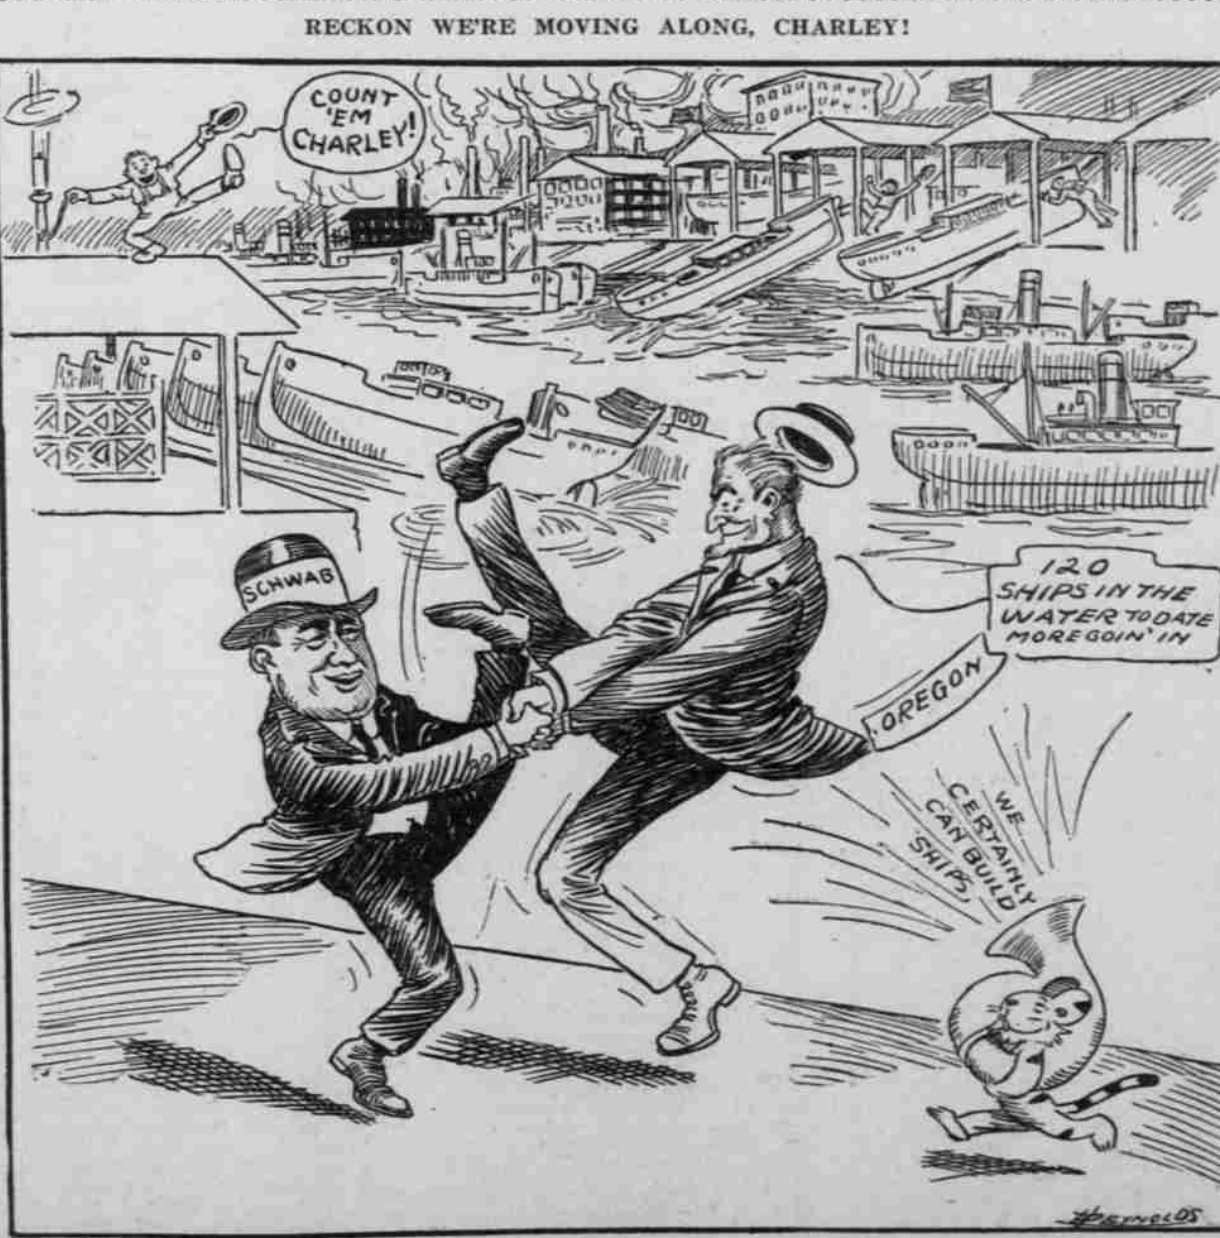

General Biddle read a message sent by Marshal Joffre to General Fershing.
