

SHIP WORK GREAT

Figures Emphasize Expansion of Work in Portland. NOTABLE PROGRESS MADE

In 19 Months Number of Employees Increases Tenfold and Payroll 13 Times, While Ship Tonnage in Water Is Immense.

Figures that tell in short, vivid strokes of Portland's progress in shipbuilding in the past 19 months have been compiled by the Chamber of Commerce and are made the subject of a special column in this week's issue of "Portland Comment."
A tenfold increase in the number of employees, a monthly payroll 13 times as large, nearly 20 times as much wooden ship tonnage in the water, and a clear gain of more than 200,000 tons in steel ship tonnage—these are some of the facts made clear in a comparison of the ship business in Portland now and on December 10, 1916.

Figures Are Given. The article itself, which tells the rest of the surprising story, follows:

	Dec. 10, 1916.	July 9, 1918
Plants building steel ships	4	47
Plants building wooden ships	4	41
Number of employees	1,433	14,223
Monthly payroll	$302,400	$3,774,400
Steel cargo ships launched	0	20
Tonnage of steel ships launched	0	202,000
Wooden ships launched	4	209
Tonnage of wooden ships launched	18,500	349,300
Cargo ships on ways—launched	0	84
Tonnage of ships on ways—launched	0	210,000
Total amount of contracts	$22,250,000	$206,000,000

*Three under construction.

—The history of shipbuilding in Portland for the past 20 months is one of remarkable achievement. Almost unknown to the outside world in 1916, the city today occupies a pre-eminent position as a producer of both wood and steel vessels. Shortly after war was declared a new era dawned in the city as steel mills were placed with Portland constructors. So splendid was the Portland record that in a matter of a few months the city became known throughout the world as the center of the shipbuilding industry in the country.

On July 10 Oregon had produced 25 steel cargo vessels and 96 wood ships were being launched. Ships on the ways under construction awaiting launching, numbered 94, of which 11 are steel ships. Unfulfilled contracts on hand in the Portland district totaled 145 vessels, valued at $209,000,000. The development of the steel ship industry in Portland is worthy of special note. In Oregon, and directly tributary to Portland, the greatest lumber manufacturing city in the world, is a stand of commercial lumber officially estimated in the year 1916 at 200,000,000 feet, and yet Portland has in less than three years become one of the great steel shipbuilding centers of the country.

Table Is Compiled. The statistical bureau of the Chamber of Commerce has compiled the following table, which tells in figures just what has been accomplished in the shipbuilding industry in Oregon.

CHRONOMETER DEMAND HEAVY Eugene Merchant Sells Instruments in Stock for Many Years.

EUGENE, Or., July 14.—(Special.)—The United States Government is reaching out to jewelry stores throughout the country to acquire a supply of chronometers for use in equipping the large number of vessels which are being launched, as evidenced by the purchase of a chronometer from the Kreamer jewelry store in Eugene. The chronometer had been in the window of the store for many years and was used as an illustration of the course more to compare their watches. The supply of chronometers in the United States is said to be limited, necessitating the purchase from the Kreamer jewelry store wherever they are found. The Kreamer chronometer is of English manufacture and has been in constant use for over 60 years.

MARINE SCHOOL RUNS NIGHTS Tacoma Instruction Course Draws Experienced Fishermen.

TACOMA, Wash., July 14.—(Special.)—Enough students to occupy the call for the free navigation school in Tacoma to permit Professor C. D. Sharr, formerly of the University of California, to open a night school in addition to his day sessions. Many fishermen who have spent much time at sea are taking the course. More of them will enroll as soon as they return from the Alaska fishing banks. George Munro, of Tacoma, has finished the course. He will go to Alaska for the fishing season, and when he returns will take a berth on one of the Emergency Shipping Board's merchantmen.

Pacific Coast Shipping Notes. SAN FRANCISCO, July 14.—(Special.)—A steamship is expected to arrive at a Pacific port in the next few days, probably being the first of that line to come to America. Shortly after declaring war against Germany, taking her stand with the allies, the steamship lines over the ocean. She is expected to be the first of that line to come to America. RATE RISE IS ALLOWED Falls City Electric Company Receives Limited Permission.

SALISBURY, Or., July 14.—(Special.)—The Public Service Commission has granted the Falls City Electric Light Company a right to increase its rates, but not to such an extent as applied for by the company. The commission states there seemed to be no particular objection to the rates as applied for from the citizens and the city council, but they appeared unjust and discriminatory to the commission.

The commission in its order states that the unsystematic manner of handling the company's accounts makes it practically impossible to determine the status for 1917.

Today that lot is transformed into a veritable fair.
