

TOOTHACHE GRIPS EMPEROR WILHELM

18-Mile Ride to Potsdam Is Taken Before Breakfast; Dentist Summoned Early.

KAISER'S TALK MEMORABLE

American Dentist Listens to Prussian Despot Boast of Victory Over Italians When 300,000 Prisoners Were Taken.

(Continued From First Page.)

rider carrying the bugle whose distinctive notes only the Kaiser may use. It was a matter of only 15 minutes to the palace, but the weather was foggy and we traveled at a comparatively slow pace, traversing at one point a road which had been built especially for the Kaiser's use, and it was nearly 8 o'clock when we arrived at the garden gates, where two armed sentries were stationed.

While the Shell-Room and other state rooms were accessible to visitors before the war, no one was ever permitted to visit the private apartments of the Kaiser upstairs.

On this occasion, however, I was guided right through the Shell-Room through a door opening on the left and up a wide staircase to the Kaiser's Garderobe, or dressing room.

Royal Breakfast Served Dentist. There on found breakfast ready for me. It consisted of real coffee, real white bread, butter, marmalade, sugar, cream and cold meats. It was the first food of the kind I had eaten for some time and practically no one in Germany outside of the royal family and the Junkers was any better off than I in that respect.

I disposed of every morsel of the meal except one slice of bread, which led Schultz, the Kaiser's head body-servant who conversed with me while I breakfasted, to remark that I had better eat that, too.

Even here," he suggested, "we don't get any too much of that," and I followed his advice. Spurious venkelt!

Schultz volunteered the information that the Kaiser had suffered pain in the greater part of the night, and advanced the opinion that his condition was all due to the wait. As a matter of fact, however, when I came to examine him, I found him to be suffering from an affection which, while extremely painful, was common enough—an inflamed pulp, which would have resulted in a swelling and an abscess unless promptly treated, but which could hardly have been attributed to the course of war, no matter how heavily they may have weighed on the Kaiser's mind.

While I was breakfasting, the Kaiser was dressing. His valet entered several times, I noticed, to take out articles of clothing from the massive wardrobes which lined the room. I had just completed my meal when I received word that my patient was ready to receive me.

Kaiser Looks Regard. As I entered the Kaiser's bedroom, he was standing in the center of the room, fully attired in an army gray uniform, but without his sword. He looked more haggard than I had ever seen him, except once in 1915. Lack of sleep and physical pain were two things which he admitted, but his mental persistence, and they certainly showed their effects very plainly.

"In all my life, Davis," he said, "I have never suffered such a pain. I expressed my sorrow and started to improvise a dental chair out of an upholstered arm-chair on which I placed several pillows, and, as the Kaiser sat down, he laughingly remarked: "Look here, Davis, you've got to do something for me. I can't fight the whole world, you know, and have a toothache!"

I employed neither a general nor a local anesthetic. At various times since the Kaiser had been my patient I had suggested that I could save him pain by the use of an anesthetic, but he had always refused it.

"The ladies like an anesthetic, no doubt, Davis," he said, "but I cannot stand without. Go ahead!" and I may say, at this point, that in all my experience, I never observed him to wince while in the chair. He was the best patient in that respect I had ever treated. It often occurred to me, after the war started, that in his own opinion, he was in pain to the point of his regard for the pain and suffering he caused in others.

My work on this occasion occupied, perhaps, twenty minutes. When I was through and the Kaiser's pain relieved, he insisted on me to receive appreciably, and he explained why it was he was so anxious to have his tooth trouble removed as quickly as possible.

Italians Caught Napping. "I must go down to Italy, Davis," he said, "to see what my noble troops have accomplished. My gracious, what we have done! We have taken there! Our offensive at Riga was just a faint. We had advertised our intended offensive in Italy so thoroughly that the Italians knew we could possibly intend to carry it through. For three months it was common talk in Germany, you remember, that the great offensive would start in October, and so the Italians believed it was all a bluff and when we advanced on Riga they were sure of it. They thought we were so occupied there that we could pay no attention to them, and so we caught them napping."

The Kaiser's face fairly beamed as he dwelt on the successful outcome of their Italian campaign. "For months Italy had been engaged in planting her big guns on the mountain-tops and gathering mountains of ammunition and supplies and food and hospital supplies in the valleys below, in preparation for their twelfth Isonzo offensive."

ARMY DISCIPLINE'S WHOLESOPE BRING

Regulations Build Instead of Wreck Character, Says W. G. MacRae.

MILITARY POLICE ON JOB

Officers Courteous Lot but Very Determined, and Boys Soon Come to Know That Orders Are for Their Own Interest.

BY WILL G. MACRAE.

(Mr. MacRae, recently returned from France, where, for six months, he was associated as The Oregonian correspondent with the Pacific Northwest region, and is the first of a series of articles by Mr. MacRae.)

Among the many general orders issued by General Pershing to the A. E. F. in France was one granting to all American soldiers the privilege of drinking light wines and beer.

This simple statement of fact will, without doubt, make members of the "bone-dry" set stand up as straight that they will fall backward. To these people I will say they have failed to get the psychology of this situation. It is not a case of the commander-in-chief. They have failed to see that in granting this privilege every soldier was placed on his honor and a certain subtle thing prevented him from making a beast of himself.

Beneath Kept at Distance. In the first place, there is a quirk in all of us, something that we do not see in ourselves, something that we do not see in others, something that we do not see in the things we take a strange delight in doing the things which the law says we shall not do. I have seen how order works out and I say without fear of contradiction that as a result of that order, speaking now of the American soldier in France, in my opinion, he is not abusing the privilege recorded by that order. To the undisciplined mind army orders are the inquisitions conceived by his satanic majesty, but real soldiers in the making take special joy in obeying them.

In France, yes, and in America, there are many things which a soldier may not do. Most of them are the things which he will not do, whether he is in the Army or out of it.

Soldiers Are Safeguarded. There is no chance for the sons of Uncle Sam to overplay the drinking game, no chance for being lured away from the narrow path by mademoiselle. There is a general order which reads that American troops are not to be billeted with courtesans or whores, but that they may sleep in rooms in which kings and queens once slept, but more often the soldier finds himself billeted with the cows and chickens. Chances are he will be compelled to do a day's housecleaning before he makes his billet.

There is no chance for the sons of Uncle Sam to overplay the drinking game, no chance for being lured away from the narrow path by mademoiselle. There is a general order which reads that American troops are not to be billeted with courtesans or whores, but that they may sleep in rooms in which kings and queens once slept, but more often the soldier finds himself billeted with the cows and chickens. Chances are he will be compelled to do a day's housecleaning before he makes his billet.

There is no chance for the sons of Uncle Sam to overplay the drinking game, no chance for being lured away from the narrow path by mademoiselle. There is a general order which reads that American troops are not to be billeted with courtesans or whores, but that they may sleep in rooms in which kings and queens once slept, but more often the soldier finds himself billeted with the cows and chickens. Chances are he will be compelled to do a day's housecleaning before he makes his billet.

There is no chance for the sons of Uncle Sam to overplay the drinking game, no chance for being lured away from the narrow path by mademoiselle. There is a general order which reads that American troops are not to be billeted with courtesans or whores, but that they may sleep in rooms in which kings and queens once slept, but more often the soldier finds himself billeted with the cows and chickens. Chances are he will be compelled to do a day's housecleaning before he makes his billet.

There is no chance for the sons of Uncle Sam to overplay the drinking game, no chance for being lured away from the narrow path by mademoiselle. There is a general order which reads that American troops are not to be billeted with courtesans or whores, but that they may sleep in rooms in which kings and queens once slept, but more often the soldier finds himself billeted with the cows and chickens. Chances are he will be compelled to do a day's housecleaning before he makes his billet.

There is no chance for the sons of Uncle Sam to overplay the drinking game, no chance for being lured away from the narrow path by mademoiselle. There is a general order which reads that American troops are not to be billeted with courtesans or whores, but that they may sleep in rooms in which kings and queens once slept, but more often the soldier finds himself billeted with the cows and chickens. Chances are he will be compelled to do a day's housecleaning before he makes his billet.

There is no chance for the sons of Uncle Sam to overplay the drinking game, no chance for being lured away from the narrow path by mademoiselle. There is a general order which reads that American troops are not to be billeted with courtesans or whores, but that they may sleep in rooms in which kings and queens once slept, but more often the soldier finds himself billeted with the cows and chickens. Chances are he will be compelled to do a day's housecleaning before he makes his billet.

There is no chance for the sons of Uncle Sam to overplay the drinking game, no chance for being lured away from the narrow path by mademoiselle. There is a general order which reads that American troops are not to be billeted with courtesans or whores, but that they may sleep in rooms in which kings and queens once slept, but more often the soldier finds himself billeted with the cows and chickens. Chances are he will be compelled to do a day's housecleaning before he makes his billet.

There is no chance for the sons of Uncle Sam to overplay the drinking game, no chance for being lured away from the narrow path by mademoiselle. There is a general order which reads that American troops are not to be billeted with courtesans or whores, but that they may sleep in rooms in which kings and queens once slept, but more often the soldier finds himself billeted with the cows and chickens. Chances are he will be compelled to do a day's housecleaning before he makes his billet.

There is no chance for the sons of Uncle Sam to overplay the drinking game, no chance for being lured away from the narrow path by mademoiselle. There is a general order which reads that American troops are not to be billeted with courtesans or whores, but that they may sleep in rooms in which kings and queens once slept, but more often the soldier finds himself billeted with the cows and chickens. Chances are he will be compelled to do a day's housecleaning before he makes his billet.

There is no chance for the sons of Uncle Sam to overplay the drinking game, no chance for being lured away from the narrow path by mademoiselle. There is a general order which reads that American troops are not to be billeted with courtesans or whores, but that they may sleep in rooms in which kings and queens once slept, but more often the soldier finds himself billeted with the cows and chickens. Chances are he will be compelled to do a day's housecleaning before he makes his billet.

There is no chance for the sons of Uncle Sam to overplay the drinking game, no chance for being lured away from the narrow path by mademoiselle. There is a general order which reads that American troops are not to be billeted with courtesans or whores, but that they may sleep in rooms in which kings and queens once slept, but more often the soldier finds himself billeted with the cows and chickens. Chances are he will be compelled to do a day's housecleaning before he makes his billet.

There is no chance for the sons of Uncle Sam to overplay the drinking game, no chance for being lured away from the narrow path by mademoiselle. There is a general order which reads that American troops are not to be billeted with courtesans or whores, but that they may sleep in rooms in which kings and queens once slept, but more often the soldier finds himself billeted with the cows and chickens. Chances are he will be compelled to do a day's housecleaning before he makes his billet.

There is no chance for the sons of Uncle Sam to overplay the drinking game, no chance for being lured away from the narrow path by mademoiselle. There is a general order which reads that American troops are not to be billeted with courtesans or whores, but that they may sleep in rooms in which kings and queens once slept, but more often the soldier finds himself billeted with the cows and chickens. Chances are he will be compelled to do a day's housecleaning before he makes his billet.

There is no chance for the sons of Uncle Sam to overplay the drinking game, no chance for being lured away from the narrow path by mademoiselle. There is a general order which reads that American troops are not to be billeted with courtesans or whores, but that they may sleep in rooms in which kings and queens once slept, but more often the soldier finds himself billeted with the cows and chickens. Chances are he will be compelled to do a day's housecleaning before he makes his billet.

DAVIS LETTERS READ

Parents of Wife of Kaiser's Dentist in Portland.

HOME IS ON 69TH STREET

Local Board Hastens Work to Meet New Men Available.

CASHIER SALESMAN TRIED

O. L. Hopsan Charged With Using U. S. Mails to Defraud.

TONIGHT

Tonight if you feel dull, stupid, bilious or constipated, take a dose of Chamberlain's Tablets, and you will be feeling fine tomorrow.

ZEROLENE

The Standard Oil for Motor Cars

The Popular Motor Oil

More ZEROLENE is used for automobiles on the Pacific Coast than all other oils combined.

Leading motor car distributors praise ZEROLENE, correctly refined from selected California asphalt-base crude, because it maintains its lubricating body at cylinder heat and gives perfect lubrication with less wear and less carbon deposit.

ZEROLENE forms and keeps a perfect lubricating film around the pistons and cylinder walls. It leaves less carbon because, being made from asphalt-base crude, it burns clean and goes out with exhaust.

ZEROLENE is the correct oil for all types of automobile engines. It is the correct oil for your automobile. Get our lubrication chart showing the correct consistency for your car.

At dealers everywhere and Standard Oil Service Stations.

STANDARD OIL COMPANY (CALIFORNIA)

DAVIS LETTERS READ

Parents of Wife of Kaiser's Dentist in Portland.

HOME IS ON 69TH STREET

Local Board Hastens Work to Meet New Men Available.

CASHIER SALESMAN TRIED

O. L. Hopsan Charged With Using U. S. Mails to Defraud.

TONIGHT

Tonight if you feel dull, stupid, bilious or constipated, take a dose of Chamberlain's Tablets, and you will be feeling fine tomorrow.

ARMY DISCIPLINE'S WHOLESOPE BRING

Regulations Build Instead of Wreck Character, Says W. G. MacRae.

MILITARY POLICE ON JOB

Officers Courteous Lot but Very Determined, and Boys Soon Come to Know That Orders Are for Their Own Interest.

BY WILL G. MACRAE.

(Mr. MacRae, recently returned from France, where, for six months, he was associated as The Oregonian correspondent with the Pacific Northwest region, and is the first of a series of articles by Mr. MacRae.)

Among the many general orders issued by General Pershing to the A. E. F. in France was one granting to all American soldiers the privilege of drinking light wines and beer.

This simple statement of fact will, without doubt, make members of the "bone-dry" set stand up as straight that they will fall backward. To these people I will say they have failed to get the psychology of this situation. It is not a case of the commander-in-chief. They have failed to see that in granting this privilege every soldier was placed on his honor and a certain subtle thing prevented him from making a beast of himself.

Beneath Kept at Distance. In the first place, there is a quirk in all of us, something that we do not see in ourselves, something that we do not see in others, something that we do not see in the things we take a strange delight in doing the things which the law says we shall not do. I have seen how order works out and I say without fear of contradiction that as a result of that order, speaking now of the American soldier in France, in my opinion, he is not abusing the privilege recorded by that order. To the undisciplined mind army orders are the inquisitions conceived by his satanic majesty, but real soldiers in the making take special joy in obeying them.

In France, yes, and in America, there are many things which a soldier may not do. Most of them are the things which he will not do, whether he is in the Army or out of it.

Soldiers Are Safeguarded. There is no chance for the sons of Uncle Sam to overplay the drinking game, no chance for being lured away from the narrow path by mademoiselle. There is a general order which reads that American troops are not to be billeted with courtesans or whores, but that they may sleep in rooms in which kings and queens once slept, but more often the soldier finds himself billeted with the cows and chickens. Chances are he will be compelled to do a day's housecleaning before he makes his billet.

There is no chance for the sons of Uncle Sam to overplay the drinking game, no chance for being lured away from the narrow path by mademoiselle. There is a general order which reads that American troops are not to be billeted with courtesans or whores, but that they may sleep in rooms in which kings and queens once slept, but more often the soldier finds himself billeted with the cows and chickens. Chances are he will be compelled to do a day's housecleaning before he makes his billet.

There is no chance for the sons of Uncle Sam to overplay the drinking game, no chance for being lured away from the narrow path by mademoiselle. There is a general order which reads that American troops are not to be billeted with courtesans or whores, but that they may sleep in rooms in which kings and queens once slept, but more often the soldier finds himself billeted with the cows and chickens. Chances are he will be compelled to do a day's housecleaning before he makes his billet.

There is no chance for the sons of Uncle Sam to overplay the drinking game, no chance for being lured away from the narrow path by mademoiselle. There is a general order which reads that American troops are not to be billeted with courtesans or whores, but that they may sleep in rooms in which kings and queens once slept, but more often the soldier finds himself billeted with the cows and chickens. Chances are he will be compelled to do a day's housecleaning before he makes his billet.

There is no chance for the sons of Uncle Sam to overplay the drinking game, no chance for being lured away from the narrow path by mademoiselle. There is a general order which reads that American troops are not to be billeted with courtesans or whores, but that they may sleep in rooms in which kings and queens once slept, but more often the soldier finds himself billeted with the cows and chickens. Chances are he will be compelled to do a day's housecleaning before he makes his billet.

There is no chance for the sons of Uncle Sam to overplay the drinking game, no chance for being lured away from the narrow path by mademoiselle. There is a general order which reads that American troops are not to be billeted with courtesans or whores, but that they may sleep in rooms in which kings and queens once slept, but more often the soldier finds himself billeted with the cows and chickens. Chances are he will be compelled to do a day's housecleaning before he makes his billet.

There is no chance for the sons of Uncle Sam to overplay the drinking game, no chance for being lured away from the narrow path by mademoiselle. There is a general order which reads that American troops are not to be billeted with courtesans or whores, but that they may sleep in rooms in which kings and queens once slept, but more often the soldier finds himself billeted with the cows and chickens. Chances are he will be compelled to do a day's housecleaning before he makes his billet.

There is no chance for the sons of Uncle Sam to overplay the drinking game, no chance for being lured away from the narrow path by mademoiselle. There is a general order which reads that American troops are not to be billeted with courtesans or whores, but that they may sleep in rooms in which kings and queens once slept, but more often the soldier finds himself billeted with the cows and chickens. Chances are he will be compelled to do a day's housecleaning before he makes his billet.

There is no chance for the sons of Uncle Sam to overplay the drinking game, no chance for being lured away from the narrow path by mademoiselle. There is a general order which reads that American troops are not to be billeted with courtesans or whores, but that they may sleep in rooms in which kings and queens once slept, but more often the soldier finds himself billeted with the cows and chickens. Chances are he will be compelled to do a day's housecleaning before he makes his billet.

There is no chance for the sons of Uncle Sam to overplay the drinking game, no chance for being lured away from the narrow path by mademoiselle. There is a general order which reads that American troops are not to be billeted with courtesans or whores, but that they may sleep in rooms in which kings and queens once slept, but more often the soldier finds himself billeted with the cows and chickens. Chances are he will be compelled to do a day's housecleaning before he makes his billet.

There is no chance for the sons of Uncle Sam to overplay the drinking game, no chance for being lured away from the narrow path by mademoiselle. There is a general order which reads that American troops are not to be billeted with courtesans or whores, but that they may sleep in rooms in which kings and queens once slept, but more often the soldier finds himself billeted with the cows and chickens. Chances are he will be compelled to do a day's housecleaning before he makes his billet.

There is no chance for the sons of Uncle Sam to overplay the drinking game, no chance for being lured away from the narrow path by mademoiselle. There is a general order which reads that American troops are not to be billeted with courtesans or whores, but that they may sleep in rooms in which kings and queens once slept, but more often the soldier finds himself billeted with the cows and chickens. Chances are he will be compelled to do a day's housecleaning before he makes his billet.

There is no chance for the sons of Uncle Sam to overplay the drinking game, no chance for being lured away from the narrow path by mademoiselle. There is a general order which reads that American troops are not to be billeted with courtesans or whores, but that they may sleep in rooms in which kings and queens once slept, but more often the soldier finds himself billeted with the cows and chickens. Chances are he will be compelled to do a day's housecleaning before he makes his billet.

There is no chance for the sons of Uncle Sam to overplay the drinking game, no chance for being lured away from the narrow path by mademoiselle. There is a general order which reads that American troops are not to be billeted with courtesans or whores, but that they may sleep in rooms in which kings and queens once slept, but more often the soldier finds himself billeted with the cows and chickens. Chances are he will be compelled to do a day's housecleaning before he makes his billet.

There is no chance for the sons of Uncle Sam to overplay the drinking game, no chance for being lured away from the narrow path by mademoiselle. There is a general order which reads that American troops are not to be billeted with courtesans or whores, but that they may sleep in rooms in which kings and queens once slept, but more often the soldier finds himself billeted with the cows and chickens. Chances are he will be compelled to do a day's housecleaning before he makes his billet.

travelled over 6000 miles of rail and water to do.

Doctor's Call Frequent. Now for a brief insight into the orders he must obey. First of all, Uncle Sam sees to it that all of his troops are drilled and drilled and drilled in plenty of it. He has the best of shoes and clothing. Next, the soldier, every week of his life, has to stand a physical examination. It is not a case of merely standing up before the officer and being told to "stick out your tongue" or "How do you feel? The soldier does not appear at morning sick call.

The medical officer may happen at his billet at any time and announce a medical inspection. The company may have just come in from a long road hike, or they may have just returned from the rifle range, or they may be dripping with perspiration. This is the period when if a soldier has anything wrong it will show. If the soldier has a tooth or a corn or a little pain in his "tummy," on the sick report he goes and he is patched up. How different it is in 1918 or 1916.

No Malingerers Nowdays. The morning sick call was always a dread to the Army medic or the company commander. Malingers were the order of the day. In France one almost has to compel a soldier to report for duty. The reason for this: Dread that he may miss his chance when it comes to be sent to the front and dread of being sent to the base hospital he becomes lost to his organization. With him goes to the hospital his D and A card (description and assignment card), his rifle, gas mask, his barracks bag, in fact, all of his property. When he is discharged, he may drink, high wines and beer. The beer is 100 per cent more vile than near beer. Hence he does not drink much beer. The American soldier has a most decided sweet tooth. Most of the wine in France is a "dry" wine. The dryer it is the better the Frenchmen like it. The American, never having been a wine drinker, does not take to the French vin blanc or vin rouge, hence he does not drink much of it.

There's your answer to the prohibitionist who came near dying in a fit when he read that General Pershing decreed that the American soldier in France might have his wine and beer.

Lady Friends Are Eyed. Another thing the American soldier may not do when he is off duty is to loiter and talk with a woman of the street. All of the larger cities are zoned and the American soldier caught in any one of these zones is subject to arrest by the military police, night or day. If the soldier is caught out walking or talking to mademoiselle it is the duty of the M. P. to say: "Soldier, what organization are you attached to?" Then when he has given the answer, the M. P. will say: "Let me see your identification tag." The soldier's not through yet. There is also mademoiselle to be accounted for. "What is the name of your lady friend?"

Soldier's capture. Just as saying that she's a friend and you know her is not enough. The M. P. is most polite, but both some and wretchedly personal. He must know her name and address. Mademoiselle supplies this. The name of both the soldier and the girl are in the morning turned over to the Provost Marshal's office.

Provost Marshal Takes Hand. Here one would say is the place to drop the nonsense. Not so. The Provost Marshal, armed with the young woman's name and address, goes to the French police. All questionable women are registered with the French police. If the soldier has fibbed about the lady friend—and her name is on the police register—Mr. Soldier is either punished

FOUR SEEK DIVORCES

HUSBANDS' "CONTINUOUS SPREE" IS ONE WIFE'S REASON.

Extreme Cruelty Is Alleged by Two Women—Florence Campbell Mourns Her 1000.

It was one continuous "spree" for Sam La France from the day of their marriage, early this year, until the day he left her, June 3, last, asserts Mabel La France, in filing suit yesterday for a divorce. She says her husband remained in a continual state of intoxication from the day she made her mistake in marrying him.

ZEROLENE TRADE MARK

REG. U.S. PAT. OFF.

The Popular Motor Oil

More ZEROLENE is used for automobiles on the Pacific Coast than all other oils combined.

Leading motor car distributors praise ZEROLENE, correctly refined from selected California asphalt-base crude, because it maintains its lubricating body at cylinder heat and gives perfect lubrication with less wear and less carbon deposit.

ZEROLENE forms and keeps a perfect lubricating film around the pistons and cylinder walls. It leaves less carbon because, being made from asphalt-base crude, it burns clean and goes out with exhaust.

ZEROLENE is the correct oil for all types of automobile engines. It is the correct oil for your automobile. Get our lubrication chart showing the correct consistency for your car.

At dealers everywhere and Standard Oil Service Stations.

STANDARD OIL COMPANY (CALIFORNIA)

DAVIS LETTERS READ

Parents of Wife of Kaiser's Dentist in Portland.

HOME IS ON 69TH STREET

Local Board Hastens Work to Meet New Men Available.

CASHIER SALESMAN TRIED

O. L. Hopsan Charged With Using U. S. Mails to Defraud.

TONIGHT

Tonight if you feel dull, stupid, bilious or constipated, take a dose of Chamberlain's Tablets, and you will be feeling fine tomorrow.

DAVIS LETTERS READ

Parents of Wife of Kaiser's Dentist in Portland.

HOME IS ON 69TH STREET

Local Board Hastens Work to Meet New Men Available.

CASHIER SALESMAN TRIED

O. L. Hopsan Charged With Using U. S. Mails to Defraud.

TONIGHT

Tonight if you feel dull, stupid, bilious or constipated, take a dose of Chamberlain's Tablets, and you will be feeling fine tomorrow.