

GERMANY MAKES UP TO BIG DEFEAT

Newspapers Finally Provide Public With News Approximating Real Facts.

GREAT PERIL ADMITTED

Interest Manifested in American Troops That Have Arrived at Front "More Quickly Than They Were Expected."

WASHINGTON, July 23.—An official dispatch today from Switzerland says the German newspapers not only admit that the German offensive has failed, but express fear that General Foch has built up an army of reserves that will enable him to wrest the offensive from the German high command.

The Frankfurter Zeitung asserts that the entire strategic plan of Hindenburg is compromised by the attack on the Als-Marne front.

"Something new appears in the strategic situation," says this paper. "General Foch has been able to form an important army of reserves. Foch's attack aims to deal a blow in the back of Hindenburg's army and should it be successful, it might compel this army to retreat under most unfavorable conditions. Foch's attack threatens the whole of Hindenburg's plans."

One Paper Perplexed.

The Strausburger Post says the public had in general attached too great hopes to the German offensive at Rheims and asked:

"From where do these troops come that the American transports have really brought more quickly than they were expected?"

The Munichener Neuesten Nachrichten says that France is still very strong; that America has more than half a million soldiers in France; and that the English army has been reconstructed and put into a perfect state. It adds that it will take weeks perhaps to wrest the initiative from General Foch.

AMSTERDAM, July 23.—The Cologne Gazette's war correspondent says that never before had the variegated enemy nationalities presented a more solid and compact front.

Final Phase Begun.

"The present clash of hostile forces," he adds, "is the most gigantic and terrible conflict of mental and physical energy ever seen. There is no room for platitudes. Now begins the final phase of the war."

He asks the people at home "to follow the development of this stupendous struggle with the gravest attention, for the enemy is now challenging us to put forth our very utmost efforts."

Other writers exhort the German people to remember Von Hindenburg's appeal for patience and his declaration that the battle plans must be allowed time to mature.

A favorite assertion is that the enemy forces have been sensibly weakened and that Von Hindenburg and Ludendorff will not allow the initiative to be wrested from their hands.

Militarists Still Bluffing.

The German public is being told by the German military experts that the French and American "ambitious attempt to break through" which, in Baron von Arnheim's words, "might have caused a decisive change in the military situation on the west front" has failed because of the famous German system of elastic defense.

Significant is Baron von Arnheim's admission that Chateau Thierry and Soissons were the two cornerstones of the German defense. The former has been lost to the foe, "who was aided by not inconsiderable American auxiliary forces."

LONDON, July 23.—Field Marshal von Hindenburg, chief of the German General Staff, is reported to have taken no part in military operations of the present year, according to information from Berlin, says a Central News dispatch from Rome today.

At great effort, the message adds, the Field Marshal was present at a few of the Imperial military exercises, but went through the functions without speaking. He is quite incapable of writing the advice he gives.

FEDERAL AGENTS ACTIVE

MEN OF DRAFT AGE ROUNDED UP AS SUSPECTED SLACKERS.

Classification Cards Should Be Carried If Annoyance of Being Arrested Is to Be Avoided.

Federal agents are active tonight rounding up young men of draft age as suspected slackers when they are unable to exhibit their classification cards. Nine such young men were taken into custody the night before, were questioned yesterday by Assistant United States Attorney Veatch. Two were held for further investigation, the other seven being able to furnish satisfactory proof of their registration for military service. On the day before 41 young men were picked up on the same account. Of that number only two were held.

"It is absolutely necessary for every young man within the draft age to have his classification card in his possession if he would avoid the annoyance of being arrested and brought before this office for explanation," said Mr. Veatch yesterday. "If the registrant is in class I, he is also required to have in his possession a card showing whether or not he has been called for service."

ROSE-HIP RECIPE GIVEN

Dainty Preserves May Be Made From Wild Rose Seed Pod.

varieties for canning and preserving will be interested in the recipe for preserved rose hips sent in to The Oregonian by Jesse A. Currey, Portland rose culturist and member of the executive committee of the American Rose Society. This recipe is one given him by Mrs. A. D. Charlton, one of the best-known rose growers on Portland Heights. The recipe follows:

"Take seeds from center of rose-hips, soak one hour or more in cold water, then cover with fresh water and boil for 15 minutes, pour off and measure cup for cup with sugar and boil to a thick syrup, then add the rose-hips and boil again until tender, put in jars the same as would be done with other preserves."

"The preserving of rose seed hips has been practiced quite extensively in England, France and other European countries," says Mr. Currey. "In England, where the dog rose flourishes, the seed pods are used for preserves in the rural districts and the sweetbrier rose is also used. The dog rose is used more generally on account of the larger fruit and the finer flavor. It grows in Oregon in meadows and damp places and inexperienced persons regard it as a sweetbrier. In preserving, the fruit is taken when it is ripening before it becomes soft and a brilliant scarlet in color."

WELL-KNOWN PORTLAND DOCTOR NOW IN FRANCE

Captain Fred Gullette, of Portland, now of the Medical Reserve Corps, has arrived safely in France, according to a cablegram received by his mother, Mrs. Mary W. Gullette, Captain Gullette enlisted in the Medical Corps and was sent to Camp Riley, Kan., and later to France.

The Strausburger Post says the public had in general attached too great hopes to the German offensive at Rheims and asked:

"From where do these troops come that the American transports have really brought more quickly than they were expected?"

The Munichener Neuesten Nachrichten says that France is still very strong; that America has more than half a million soldiers in France; and that the English army has been reconstructed and put into a perfect state. It adds that it will take weeks perhaps to wrest the initiative from General Foch.

SYNOD LISTENS TO PLEA OF COLLEGE

Albany Institute Appeals to Presbyterians of Oregon for Financial Aid.

PLANS IN DETAIL GIVEN

Report Rendered by Acting President and Chairman of Board of Trustees Optimistic in Tone and Hopeful of Future.

EUGENE, Or., July 23.—(Special).—Albany college, in a report by Dr. Wallace H. Lee, acting president of the institution, and William Fortmiller, chairman of the board of trustees, today outlined to the Presbyterian Synod of Oregon a plan to make secure $25,000 endowment funds and made an appeal to the synod to pledge the support of the Presbyterian churches in the state to the college.

The report also asks the synod to recommend that the board of education of the Presbyterian general assembly give the college support which has been withheld during the last two years to the amount of $250,000. The plan for making secure the endowment funds provides that $5000 which has been pledged at Albany, shall be collected by September, and that the college shall borrow $20,000 in Liberty Bonds to be used in lieu of endowment securities which had been given as collateral to Albany banks in securing loans negotiated by former President Crook.

Synod Asked to Approve.

The synod, which in resolutions adopted last year, declared these securities had been used in violation of the specific terms of $80,000 of the college endowment, is asked to approve this plan.

The report by the college is optimistic in its tone declaring that it has operated without adding a dollar of indebtedness during the last two years, despite the action of the educational board in withdrawing its support, and that after 52 years it is "coming into its own."

"Those who are able to help us are forcing us to run on a small margin, and then complaining because we are doing it," the report says.

The college last year received $2095 from the Hill income and full, according to the report, receive the full interest from the $20,000 fund beginning with the present year. A gift of $15,000 to the college from the Mann estate in Portland and the fact that "the college has been written into several other wills" was announced.

The report declares there is no debt of the college which may properly be called "pressing" in the sense that creditors are asking their money.

Special Committee Considers Report.

The report was referred to a special committee which met tonight. Rev. H. Shields, Burns; Rev. J. E. Blair, Coos Bay; Elder J. F. Ewing, Portland; and Elder C. D. Armstrong, McMinnville. Fifty-four ministers and 11 elders were in attendance at the sessions of the synod today, and it is expected the number of ministers will be increased to 75 by arrivals on night trains.

Rev. Charles W. Hayes, Sunday school missionary for the Portland district, was elected president of the synod, and Rev. W. W. Whittlessey, of Philomath, was elected moderator.

The Willamette Presbytery, at a meeting tonight, voted that Rev. O. B. Pershing, of the First Presbyterian Church at Albany, be permitted to engage in the ministry outside of the Presbytery district. Rev. Pershing said he had received a call from the Central Presbytery Church in Portland.

The synod declined to put Coos Bay Presbytery into the Willamette Presbytery district and ruled that changes in districts should be left to the initiative of the Presbyteries.

16,000 ACRES IN GRANT AND HARNEY COUNTIES INVOLVED.

State Land Board Charges Livestock Company With Fraud in Securing Title From State.

SALEM, Or., July 23.—(Special).—Attorney-General Brown today was instructed by the State Land Board to start suit to recover approximately 16,000 acres of land in Grant and Harney counties, now held by the Pacific Livestock Company, and which, it is alleged, were originally secured fraudulently from the state.

These famous land fraud cases were started several years ago under ex-Governor West and Attorney-General Crawford, but were allowed to lag along and when the present administration came in Attorney-General Brown contended that the suits could not be prosecuted successfully under the pleadings as filed. The cases were aired at length before the last Legislature, which declined to furnish funds to carry on the prosecution. Consequently the expenses of the litigation will be paid from interest in the school fund, on a promise made by that board at a meeting several months ago.

Attorney-General Brown has just received the report of P. Kyka, handwriting expert of San Francisco, in which he declares he has located a number of forgeries in connection with the suits on title held by the Pacific Livestock Company.

Assistant Secretary of Interior on Way to Capital.

E. G. Bradley, Assistant Secretary of the Interior, for several years Vice-President of the Telephone & Telegraph Company, spent yesterday in Portland as the guest of friends, while returning to Washington after a brief visit to the Pacific Coast.

Mr. Bradley is in charge of the extensive railroad projects of the Government in Alaska, and is a pronounced enthusiast over the development and possibilities of the Northern empire.

During the recent war savings stamp drive Mr. Bradley was Federal director of the campaign in the seven Pacific Coast states. He paid tribute to Oregon's uniform response to all patriotic calls.

CAPE COD CANAL TAKEN

Government Railroad Administration Will Operate Waterway.

WASHINGTON, July 23.—President Wilson today by proclamation assumed control of the Cape Cod Canal, meeting Cape Cod and Buzzards Bay, Mass., and directed the Railroad Administration to operate it. The canal will be taken over July 25.

Plans for taking control of the canal were hastened by the appearance of a German submarine which was reported to have been sighted near the canal last Sunday, when several coal barges were sunk.

Today's Dangers

Modern ways of living throw a heavier burden on the organs of digestion. A careless diet, hurried eating, insufficient exercise, concentrated foods—such are today's dangers.

The bowel system is an easy prey. And so comes Constipation and its host of resultant ills.

Up to now, harsh methods have been necessary as a relief—violent cathartics, often drug-laden. The bowels became dependent upon pills, purgative waters and similar cathartics, and a habit was formed.

Stanolax ends all old make-shifts, all old dangers. Unlike a hasty cathartic, Stanolax acts gently, but surely. It is an internal lubricant, purely mechanical in action, not a medicine. It is neither digested nor absorbed. It is tasteless, colorless, odorless.

Thousands have gained relief this better way. And so will you. Stanolax encourages natural and normal functions, by preventing congestion. One bottle is convincing. Buy it today.

RED CROSS DAY SOON

Biggest Cafeteria on Pacific Coast Will Be Operated.

10,000 PEOPLE TO BE FED

Ad Club to Sell Tickets—Rotary and Transportation Clubs Accept Responsibility for Dances and Other Concessions.

The operation of the biggest cafeteria on the Pacific Coast has been taken in charge jointly by the Portland Caterers' Association and the East Side Business Men's Club.

The cafeteria, which expects to feed 10,000 people within a few hours, will be one of the features of the Red Cross day at The Oaks Tuesday, August 6, where the entire receipts have been donated to the Red Cross, both from admissions by John P. Cordray, the manager, and from all concessions, by the owners and managers.

H. W. Kent assumed responsibility for the caterers and H. L. Camp for the East Siders.

Parties of Day Appointed.

The Red Cross committee, which has the day in charge, met yesterday in the office of Julius L. Meier, and after apportioning all the duties of the day adjourned to meet again next Monday afternoon at the Chamber of Commerce, when the members of all sub-committees are expected to meet with the central arrangement committee.

To the B. P. O. Elks was awarded the task of providing a gigantic entertainment programme, with the exception of the band features, which were assigned to a committee headed by F. Harneck, and Charles Ringler, exalted ruler, was named as chairman of the sub-committee to arrange the details.

Ad Club Will Sell Tickets.

Publicity automatically fell to the lot of the Ad Club, and so that the good oratorical material should not go to waste, Chairman Meier assigned to that club the duty of selling 10,000 admission tickets to The Oaks in advance, with the sale inside the grounds of concession tickets.

"He who gets by the corps of 50 of your workers," said Mr. Meier, addressing President McCrill, of the Ad Club, "will be either dumb, blind or penniless."

"If he's the first two, we'll rob him; if the last, we'll give him a ticket," replied Mr. McCrill.

The Rotary and Transportation clubs, represented by their presidents, Ellisworth Benham and C. E. Waters, have accepted responsibility for the dance-hall and all other concessions.

Wheels of chance and other "sure-things" investments will be left in the care of the Progressive Business Men's club, which was represented at the committee meeting by its president, Frank H. Hilton.
