MORE CONTRACTS FOR ARMY TAINTED

Frauds in Filling of Orders for Shoes, Shirts and Leggings for Army Are Disclosed.

RAINCOAT MEN CONFESS

"Dallas Patriots" May be Weeded Out as Result of Scandal; War Department in Statement Exonerates Officers.

WASHINGTON, July 24.—The trail of graft has passed on from Army raincoat production to contracts for shoes, shirts, leggings and other supplies and equipment for soldiers. Army intelligence and Department of Justice agents were responsible for this statement today.

Information shedding light on methods by which manufacturers were able to pass inferior articles to fill Government contracts is understood to have been gathered from new confessions of some of the 18 raincoat contractors under arrest in New York.

It is charged that certain companies have been able through personal contact with officers in the Quartermasters Corps to dictate specifications and other details of contracts.

Another reform being worked out is the gradual elimination of men assisting the Government from the nominal pay or "dollar-a-year" basis, and the payment of adequate salaries on which they can live without resorting to compensation from special interests.

Officers Not Involved.

A formal statement from the War Department today denounced as entirely unfounded any inferences tending to involve Army officers in accusations of wrongdoing in connection with the contracts for Army raincoats. The statement follows:

"Robert J. Thorne, assistant to the acting Quartermaster-General, after a preliminary investigation in regard to the raincoat inspection scandal in New York, says that any suspicion of the integrity of the Army officers is apparently without a shred of evidence to substantiate the statements. The entire situation has been greatly magnified to the extent that a grave injustice is being done to the reputation of the Army officers.

"It is impossible to meet the emergency of suddenly equipping the Army without a few sporadic instances of dishonesty coming to the surface, but it is an outrage to have such instances magnified into an unjust accusation of Army officers. Fortunately, the integrity of the Army officers is so generally understood by the public that very few people give credence to these unfounded accusations.

Many Civilians Appointed.

"The investigation of the raincoat inspection system was made at the instigation of the Quartermaster Corps, which realized that with thousands of new civilian inspectors obtained through the Civil Service Commission, here and there a dishonest one would be taken on. It is firmly believed by the department that the final inspection conducted at the depot will detect all raincoats not properly fabricated."

Department of Justice officials, in announcing the discovery of frauds in connection with raincoat production, indicated that only a few Army officers were under suspicion of irregular conduct with contractors.

They did not imply corruption among any large proportion of Army officers, most of whom, it was recognized, have demonstrated their honesty. Most inspectors involved in the corruption disclosed by the Department of Justice in New York are civilians.

NEW YORK, July 24.—Four employes of the C. Kenyon Company, of Brooklyn, one of the country's largest rubber manufacturers, were taken into custody today charged with attempting to pass off on the Government Army raincoats which had been previously rejected as defective by Army inspectors.

DECISION IS DUE TODAY

SECRETARY BAKER TO GIVE HIS ANSWER TO MAGNATES.

Belief Held by Club Owners That Time for Making Work-or-Fight Order Will Be Extended.

WASHINGTON, July 24.—Secretary Baker late today postponed until tomorrow his decision on extending the effective time of the work-or-fight regulations as they apply to professional baseball players.

Provost Marshal-General Crowder was ready to lay his recommendations before the secretary after receiving a brief from the National Baseball Commission, but the Secretary was unable to take up the matter.

Secretary Baker said he would consider the brief and General Crowder's recommendations tonight and expected to announce his decision in the morning.

National and American League officials and club owners who were here today expressed hope that Mr. Baker would extend the time of putting the order into effect until the end of the season.

They based this hope upon the Secretary's previous statement that it was not certain that the baseball industry would be disrupted by operation of the order and their belief that they had presented facts that would convince him that professional leagues would have to suspend unless the order is modified.

OTTAWA, Ont., July 24.—Today's casualty list contains the name of J. R. Bell, Seattle, Wash., wounded.

CORVALLIS, Or., July 24.—Arthur E. Holgate, mentioned in dispatches as being wounded, is a Corvallis boy, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Holgate. This is the second time he has been hit, the other time being about six weeks ago he was sent to a hospital. The wound was a slight one in the arm. He wrote to his mother from the hospital. He was a graduate of O. A. C. and a member of Company K, with which he left this city. About two months ago he was transferred to Company I, 28th division. His parents are in Newport. He has a sister, Mrs. Knight Pearcy, in Salem.

HILLSBORO, Or., July 24.—(Special.)—Mrs. George Tompkins, of Hillsboro, was notified by the War Department today that her son, Herbert L. Miller, had been wounded severely in action May 28. She previously had received three letters from her son, the last written on June 9, saying he was in a hospital with a machine-gun bullet in his head and shrapnel wound in leg, but was recovering rapidly. Young Miller enlisted in Company B, 162d Infantry, in 1917, with other members of the high school class. Shortly before being wounded he was transferred to a regular Army regiment.

SLAV ARMY FORMING

General Mobilization Said to Have Started July 17.

HUNGER REVOLUTION BEGUN

Revolt Reported in Four Cities. Helfferich Appointed German Diplomatic Agent at Moscow. Troops Will Guard Him.

AMSTERDAM, July 24.—General mobilization of the Russian army began on July 17, according to Moscow advices received here.

Soviet troops have definitely abandoned Orenburg, capital of the Russian province of the same name. A new government has been formed under the leadership of General Detoff.

A hunger revolution has broken out in the cities of Jaroslav, Rybinsk, Ljubin and Unglitch, according to Moscow papers received here.

Alexis Romanoff, the former heir apparent to the Russian throne, died from exposure a few days after his father, the former Emperor, was executed, says a dispatch from Moscow to the Berlin Lokal Anzeiger.

WASHINGTON, July 24.—The mobilization of the Russian army as announced in reports today from Moscow via Amsterdam, is not regarded as a matter of serious moment by State Department officials. In some quarters it is believed to be simply another effort to raise the draft army which Leon Trotzky, Bolshevik Minister of War, declared to be the only solution to the military chaos in Russia.

The suggestion was made that the Russian government might send its new army to drive out the allied and American forces in the Mourmanski peninsula, but it was explained that this would be almost impossible, as it would mean the transportation of an army 800 miles over extremely difficult territory and without means of supply.

LONDON, July 24.—Dr. Karl Helfferich, former German Imperial Vice-Chancellor, has been appointed Germany's diplomatic representative at Moscow, according to a Reuter dispatch from Amsterdam.

An Amsterdam dispatch to the Wireless Press says that Dr. Helfferich will take two battalions of German troops to guard the German Embassy.

TALENT BONDS MAY ISSUE

Senator McNary Succeeds in His Appeal for Irrigation Company.

OREGONIAN NEWS BUREAU, Washington, July 24.—Upon the plea of Senator McNary, who hastened back to Washington for the purpose of arguing the question, the capitalization commission today reversed the decision of the local board at San Francisco disapproving the $100,000 bond issue of the Talent Irrigation Company.

This will permit the immediate raising of funds with which to construct a dam to provide water for 18,000 acres of land. The total issue of bonds will be $600,000 but only $100,000 is asked for this year.

I. W. W. AGAIN ARE ACTIVE

"Shall Mooney Hang?" Placards Posted in Conspicuous Places.

I. W. W. activities appeared in the foreground yesterday when large placards bearing the words "Shall Mooney Hang?" were posted on fences and in conspicuous places adjacent to several shipyards throughout Portland. A large number of the placards thrown inside the yards were turned over to the police.

This action is believed by the authorities to be an aftermath of the activities of J. W. Smith, alias J. D. Kidwell, and Kate Smith, alias Kate Kidwell, who were arrested last week by inspectors Coleman and Morack on the East Side and who are now being held at the County Jail for investigation.

The I. W. W. meeting scheduled for last night was broken up with the appearance of the officers, who arrived shortly after the meeting was called to order. No arrests were made.

TRIANGULAR FIGHT NEAR

A. E. SMITH CHOICE OF SARATOGA DEMOCRATS FOR GOVERNOR.

Hearst and Osborn May Become Candidates for Nomination Despite Convention's Action.

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N. Y., July 24.—Subsequent to recommending a full state ticket, headed by Alfred E. Smith of New York, Democrats of the state in formal convention today paved the way for party harmony after the primaries.

As a result of the recommendation they faced a three-cornered primary fight, unless one or both of the announced independent Democratic candidates—William Church Osborn and William Randolph Hearst—withdraws his candidacy.

Both have signified their intention of remaining in the contest.

The movement looking to party harmony was led by Ex-Justice Samuel Seabury, who was responsible for the only discordant notes of the convention after Mr. Smith had been indorsed. He pressed to unanimous passage his motion that if Mr. Smith was successful in the primaries it would be the sense of the convention that the New Yorker receive the united support of the party in the election campaign.

Mr. Seabury, who yesterday threw the convention into confusion when he introduced a resolution against "truck-lers," voted for Mr. Osborne, as, he added, he wanted to see the party's candidate "one entirely free from the influence of Tammany and William R. Hearst."

Mr. Osborne had requested his name be not put before the convention.

When the convention named Mr. Smith, as the party organization's choice for nomination as Governor, Putnam County, the home of William Church Osborne, was recorded as "not voting."

Mr. Smith is president of the New York City Board of Aldermen.

WIFE IS BADLY BEATEN

Mrs. Joe Paulovitch in Hospital and Spouse Is in Jail.

Mrs. Joe Paulovitch was beaten by her husband last night in their home at Linnton. She was found later by Officer Burri, of St. Johns, lying unconscious on the floor. Her chest was caved in and several ribs were broken, where her infuriated spouse had jumped upon her body after knocking her to the floor. The injured woman was taken to the Good Samaritan Hospital and Paulovitch was arrested and locked up in the police station at St. Johns.

Paulovitch has been in trouble for wife beating before, according to the police. The two small children of Mr. and Mrs. Paulovitch were taken in charge last night by the matron at the City Jail and were turned over to the county detention home today pending settlement of the trouble.

PORTLAND CARMEN BEFORE WAR BOARD

Local Street Railway System Highly Complimented by Counsel for Employes.

WAGES PAID ARE HIGHEST

Shipyard Scale Quoted as Reason Why Increase to Sixty Cents Per Hour Requested Should Be Granted.

OREGONIAN NEWS BUREAU, Washington, D. C., July 24.—(Special.)—That the working conditions of street railway employes in Portland are better than in any other place in the United States, and that in Portland he has found for the first time in his life street railway carmen who were paid for all the work they do, were compliments paid to the Portland street railway system by J. H. Vahey, general counsel of the Amalgamated Street Railway Employes of America, in the hearing before the War Labor Board on the subject of wages.

These were incidental features of Mr. Vahey's argument for the increase in wages asked by railway employes. He conceded the facts asserted by Franklin T. Griffith for the company, that Portland street railway employes are now receiving the highest wages paid similar employes anywhere in the world, and insisted that because of the high cost of living and the high wages men can get in shipbuilding and other industries in the Pacific Northwest the wages should be increased to 60 cents per hour maximum as requested.

Resistance against the increase was based by Mr. Griffith on the assertion that the operating revenues have not paid dividends for several years and if the increase amounting to about $58,000 per month be granted, the company cannot pay interest on its indebtedness.

Griffith denied that the cost of living is higher in Portland than in other Northern cities.

It is intimated the War Labor Board will decide the Portland and thirty other street railway wage cases this week and will base its decisions largely on evidence as to the cost of living gathered by the Board itself independently of either side to the controversies.

Today Mr. Griffith stipulated that the request of employes on the interurban lines of his company for increased wage scales shall be considered and decided in connection with the city railway case. Conductors are asking for a flat rate of 79 cents per hour and motormen 73 cents.

AUTO USED BY CONVICTS

Escaped Prisoners Rode to Portland in Stolen Car, Police Believe.

With the finding of an automobile bearing license No. 1499 at East Thirty-fifth and Knott streets late yesterday, by Officer Nelson, which had been stolen from W. H. Steusloff, of Salem, last Monday, the same day that Wynter Willis and Albert Jennings, two convicts, escaped from the State Penitentiary at Salem, it is believed that the two jail breakers made their way to Portland in the stolen machine.

The car was found near the home of Willis who is a confirmed automobile thief. The crime for which he was sentenced to the Penitentiary was for stealing automobiles.

Although a state-wide search is being made they have not been located as yet. The car was taken to police headquarters and will be returned to the owner at Salem tomorrow.

YANKEES HELD CRUSADERS

American Army Likened in Newspaper Article to Knight in Helmet and Breastplate Come to Avenge Great Wrongs.

WASHINGTON, July 24.—Italian writers who have visited the American Army in France are deeply impressed, not only by the spirit of the soldiers themselves, but by the gigantic preparations that have been made for their transport and supply. American terminals have been built at Mediterranean as well as Atlantic ports of France and are being constantly enlarged.

The Americans are hailed as "crusaders for the holy war," in an article published in the Il Secolo XIX of Genoa and written by a correspondent of the Giornale d'Italia of Rome. The article, as translated and made public today by the State Department, says:

"The American intervention is not a formula, a hope, a promise; it is a reality, in all its forms.

Vast Work Progresses.

"The organization for the transporting and receiving of the great army is already complete for the actual needs and is being completed for those of the future. The building of maritime bases, of railways, immense stores of arms, food, munitions, coal, medicines, petrol, etc., is in some cases finished and in others nearing completion.

"The organization is gradually broadening out; from the ocean it has today passed to the Mediterranean, to the south of France and along the coast other works are being begun.

"Summing up in few words my impressions I would say:

"'I did not believe that the Americans could have done so much, but after having seen it I am able to believe that they will do much more and will obtain their aims.'

Army's Attitude Surprises.

"I would define the American Army as a revealing phenomenon. The speeches, the thoughts of the officers and soldiers are surprising; it is not simply an army which goes into line, not merely soldiers who make ready to fight; it is a people in arms which lands from across the ocean; sure of its own thought, confident in its own deeds, like a knight in helmet and breast plate approaching to study the magic of an enchanted island.

"They believe! They come with the psychology of the crusaders, conscious of a great task, decided to accomplish it to avenge wrongs and right them.

"The French cry aloud, 'Oh, the Boches, we shall have them.'

"'The Americans repeat quietly: 'We will destroy them.' And they do not raise their voices.

National Pride Evident.

"They believe! They have faith. For them it is a question of time. This persuasion is nourished by the faith which they have in their own country; it is a pride; they feel that they are a great people, in its great hour; they are sure of having all gold, means, leaders, raw materials, organizers."

THE GREAT LEADER OF OUR ALLIES

Our boys are now following the great leader of our Allies "over there," fighting the battle of the United States, fighting without thought of being heroes—but fighting that men, women and children may not be tortured, burned and mutilated. Fighting against the bestial foe of America and mankind. No greater heroes nor braver men ever fought on the battle-fields of France than our "Sammies." Men with dauntless spirits—men of red blood, courage, energy, vim and vigor are needed every day behind the lines as well as behind the guns. You need iron in the blood! Every healthy man or woman should have about as much iron in his or her body as there is in an ordinary "tenpenny" nail. To gain this iron, the best way is to take an iron-tonic, called "Iron-tic," a combination of iron in its most soluble form, discovered by Dr. Pierce and experimented with by his physicians at the Surgical Institute in Buffalo, N. Y. "Iron-tic" is a form of iron readily taken up by the blood, the blood-cells get round, rich-red in color, the cheeks are pink, the appetite improves, and one feels full of "snap"—"pep"—"vigor"—instead of tired before the day is half done. The eyes take on a luster and the body feels that tingle which one gets from a cold bath. If you want to try this new "Iron-tic" Tablet send 10 cents to the Surgical Institute in Buffalo, N. Y., and obtain a trial package. This 20th-century Iron tonic is sure to do you good. Druggists sell "Iron-tic" for sixty cents.
