

LINNTON WILL BUY

Solution of Transportation Problem Suggested.

PURCHASE OF LINE TALKED

United Railways Will Not Operate Old Track and Will Not Reconstruct Portion Torn Up. Will Sell to the City.

Acquisition of the old United Railways line to a point three miles south of the former city of Linnton by the city through the issuance of public utility certificates may be the solution of the transportation problem which has confronted the residents and industries in that vicinity since the old railway ceased operation a few years ago.

At a conference held yesterday, business men of Linnton told members of the Council that the people living in Linnton would be willing to buy the certificates in the event that the city would institute service.

Judge C. H. Carey appeared, representing the United Railways, and told the Council that his company would not operate a line to Linnton, nor would the three miles from Olton and Linnton be reconstructed, but that the company was willing to co-operate in any other way with the city in serving the people of Linnton with transportation.

Railway Property Investigated. The United Railways has presented an inventory to the City Council giving a valuation of $232,000 on the line as railroad property. This price does not include equipment.

Mr. Cousin told the Council that it would cost the city approximately $150,000 to place the road in operation, this price including the cost of constructing the tracks or tracks which have been torn up.

Cars, he said, could be bought from the transportation company in Spokane for $8800 each. These cars, he said, were of a lighter type than the cars used formerly on the line by the United Railways.

Mr. Cousin said it would cost the city about $25 a day for power and about $40 a day for labor, figuring on 30 trains a day.

Burden Placed on Utility. Commissioner Kellaher, who proposed the issuance of public utility certificates bearing 4 per cent interest, said that by so doing, the city would not be placing additional financial burden upon the general taxpayers, but instead the certificates placed the burden on the utility itself.

If the people of Linnton are willing to purchase the certificates, Mayor Baker said he would be willing to favor the issuance of the certificates. He appointed Commissioners Mann and Kellaher a committee to meet with Judge Carey of the railway company and Linnton business men in a conference and later to report to the Council.

It was virtually agreed that should the city be able to reach an agreement with the company at the price and definite assurance was given that the Linnton people would care for the certificates, that the city would purchase the line and begin operation.

Other Service Discussed. Improved streetcar service for the shipbuilding plants came before the council for discussion, but other business prevented reaching any conclusions as to what must be done.

Mr. Cousin outlined a plan broached some weeks ago instituting service on the West Side by operating trains over the Southern Pacific tracks to the shipyards in South Portland and a steam train from St. Johns for the East Side yards.

The council will meet this morning to discuss this plan and confer with representatives of the railway and shipyards in connection with the plan.

TALKS ON CHEESE TODAY. FOUR DEMONSTRATIONS WILL BE GIVEN BY MRS. DAVIS.

Campaign to Popularize Dairy Product as Food Will Be Brought to End Tomorrow.

Cheese experts from Oregon Agricultural College and the United States Department of Agriculture will give lectures and demonstrations today as follows:

At 10 A. M. Mrs. H. K. Davis will give a demonstration of the making of cottage cheese in the rooms of the Board of Health at the city hall. This demonstration is designed primarily for persons selling cheese on the public market, but invitation is extended to all others interested.

At 3 P. M. in Meier & Frank's auditorium, on the sixth floor, Mrs. Davis, assisted by Miss Louise Holbrook, will give the last public demonstration of preparing and serving cottage cheese.

Mrs. Davis will also give an address on cottage cheese at a noon luncheon at the Y. W. C. A. and at a 6 o'clock dinner at the Y. M. C. A.

Through co-operation with Mrs. F. S. Myers, of the Food Administration, the Liberty Temple will be open all day to those seeking recipes or information pertaining to cottage cheese.

The meeting at the Liberty Temple on yesterday afternoon, where the methods of making cottage cheese in the home were shown, was largely attended. Creamery men report an increased demand for cottage cheese, and some are installing additional equipment.

The campaign will close Saturday noon. Experts can be consulted until that hour at the Liberty Temple.

OREGON CITY, Or., July 25.—(Special.)—Upon telegraphic advice from the selective service officials at La Grande, Sheriff Wilson today took William Charles into custody and confined him in the county jail on a charge of being a slacker. The amusement company had another man who was arrested as a slacker, but he had a card to show that he had filled out his questionnaire.
