Looking fresh as a lily and with a coat of tan that would do justice to a native of Waikiki Beach, Judge Mc-Credie, owner of the Portland baseball Credie, owner of the Portland baseball club, returned yesterday after having spent three weeks in the mountains in the vicinity of Oakridge, Or. where the famous McCredie Hot Springs are located.

The Portland baseball magnate forget all about the National pastime and added several pounds to his already retund appearance. The first inquiry McCredle made after setting his feet on Portland soil was whether Jack Farmer was still cavorting in a Cleve-land uniform.

Farmer was sold last Fall to the Cleveland Americans by Judge Mc-Credle on an optional agreement. Cleveland was to send McCredle or the Salt Lake Bees several capable ball-players. There were several little en-tanglements connected with the deal tanglements connected with the deal which did not suit Judge McCredie's nephew. Walter, and as a result Farmer was not sent to Cleveland until about six weeks ago. If Farmer makes good with the Indians, Judge McCredie is in line to receive a fat check for the former Beaver's services.

Although this time of the year is rather late for bear hunting, a number of the animals have been seen and one should not be surprised if he sees one of these monsters staring him in the

Close to Roseburg, on the Umpqua River, there is also good hunting. In the vicinity of Sutherlin, Douglas County, hunting has been exceptionally good and guides, with all necessary equip-ment, are plentiful. Many of the local hunters who found Douglas County a good hunting ground last year will re-turn there this Fall for a vacation. Drain and Tiller are also good hunt-ing grounds, but on account of being so far away from Portland, have seldom attracted many local sportsmen.

The McKenzie River district, like the Lower Rogue, is good for both hunting and fishing. The south fork of the McKenzie River is especially so.

important Matters to Be Considered at Meeting in Northwestern Bank Building Tomorrow Night.

The Oregon Field Trial Club will meet tomorrow night at 8 o'clock in the Northwestern Bank building. Dates for holding Oregon field trials will be fixed and other important club mat-ters will be disposed of. P. R. Whitesides has a string of 25.

He is working them at Harrisburg and expects to have them in fine trim. Mr. Whitesides is sweet on some of the prizes and his dogs will undoubtedly make a fine showing. He is said to be the possessor of one of the finest collections of canines on the Coast.
Mr. Kootz, veteran trainer from Callfornia, will also have a number of dogs entered. Mr. Kootz is a noted handler and has won many trophles in California.

Charles Murray, from Landers, B. C., another noted handler, will be on hand with a fine string of dogs. Mr. Murray is at present in British Columbia but will be here in time for the trials.

Members of the Oregon Field Trial Club expect this coming event to be the biggest ever held in the Northwest. Fine entries in both derby and all-age stakes are expected. ACTION ON TROPHY DELAYED
