YARD FORCES SHORT

Laborers Urgently Needed at Ship Plants.

APPEAL MAY GO OUT SOON

Professional and Clerical Men May Be Asked to Fill In for a Time. Shortage Tends to Hamper Construction.

With the shortage of laborers in the steel shipyards acute and with help needed by practically every shipyard on the river, Portland may have to appeal to the professions and clerical class to fill in for a few weeks. This was given yesterday as the opinion of plant heads, employment managers and others interested in the shipbuilding situation. Action may come today as a result of a conference of employment managers and W. F. Smith, state director of the Government employment service, with J. K. Kallcock, of the State Council of Defense, yesterday.

Results North Awaited.

A telegram was sent last night by the employment manager of the Northwest Steel Company to representatives in Seattle to ascertain results of the movement there. An answer is expected today. If a favorable reply is received immediate action may be taken to enlist Portland's business men in ship work here.

Need New Held Urgent.

"We could place 1000 laborers today," said Mr. Smith. "For the next three weeks the situation will be critical. Portland's business men may be called upon to help out. Next month 2500 fishermen, harvesters and other laboring men will be drifting back to Portland and relieve the situation to some extent, but the need is great just now."

The wooden shipyards have plenty of men, but the steel yards need help. The Columbia River Shipbuilding Corporation, it is said, will need 2500 men, mostly laborers, within the next month or two.

SHIPYARD BANDS TO PLAY

Members of G. A. R. to Be Given Treat by Big Organizations.

Two Grant Smith-Porter Company bands, one from Aberdeen and one from Portland, 80 pieces in all, will serenade members of the G. A. R. tonight. Forming at the Multnomah Hotel at 7 o'clock, the bands will play at the National G. A. R. headquarters. Accompanied by the baseball teams and many of the employees, the bands will parade through the downtown section to the Liberty Temple, where another concert for the G. A. R. will be given.

PAYMENTS DECLARED MADE

New Ship Gets Mascot.

Previous to the sailing of the Western Light some few days ago the members of the crew sent an appeal to the Red Cross Superintendency for a dog to be used as the ship mascot. Through Miss Helen Whitney the Red Cross Ship Cook the appeal was sent to the King Hill kennels. She gave them a handsome English bulldog called Rummy, who, according to recent reports, is rapidly becoming the most important member of the crew.

SEATTLE, Wash., Aug. 16.—(Special).—The Pacific Steamship Company today let the contract for the hull repair work to the Steamship Admiral Evans to the Wilson Building Company, which has arranged for the work at the Winslow plant of the D. W. Stewart Company at Sigsbee Harbor. The contract for the reconstruction of the vessel's superstructure has not yet been let. Advice reaching Seattle today announced that more than 800,000 cases of salmon already have been packed in the northern section of Southeastern Alaska this season, indicating the possibility of a record pack for that district.
