THEDA BARA IN Salome

The Supreme Theda Bara Super-Production

Her Blood Was Fire, Her Heart Was Ice, Her Soul the Devil's Own.

Many men feared Salome, yet many desired her.

Salome was the sinister queen of treachery, the incarnation of her time, who lived the luxury, the abandon of a barbaric age. Vibrant with the vigor and rebellion of youth, her type runs through eternity like a scarlet thread.

royal family and members of the nobility. The name of the film in which the unusual scenes will be included has not been announced, but Mr. Griffith is devoting his attention to preparing the films for the War Department.

To its double-bill program of the week the Sunset Theater added a special feature yesterday, opening a two-day screening of the new patriotic two-reel feature, "Fourth of July in Paris." This is a film recital of the manner in which Paris and the Yanks celebrated Independence day.

They say that Mary Miles Minter gets $120,000 a year for her picture work.

Anna Mae Walthall, sister of the well-known Henry, is cast for a prominent role with Harry Carey in his newest Universal special, "The Man Who Wouldn't Shoot."

Speaking of Eugene O'Brien, one funnier remarks: "No one will ever know how many lives Eugene has saved. He quit college and the study of medicine to become an actor."

Richard the Great, "the monkey that made a man of himself," has received an offer from the Universal Film Company to star in some one-reel comedies.

Charles Chaplin, like Sherlock Holmes, in his off moments plays the violin. He likes plaintive music, and his friends say he is practicing a love song and they are wondering why.

Enrollment in the grammar school is slightly above that of the first day last year, being 116. The high school, considering the fact that many of the boys are in the Army, makes a good showing, enrolling 61.

The student body has elected an editor-in-chief, Clarence Anderson, and an assistant, Homer Sarver, who will have charge for the first semester of the high school column in the News.

The annual reception for teachers will be held in the high school auditorium at 8 o'clock Friday evening.

With school opening next Monday morning, the Gaston school board faces a shortage of teachers on account of two resignations at the last minute. Bruns picking may keep out a few pupils the first week, but the prospects are for an average attendance.

general invitation to attend a mass meeting at the Central Library auditorium tomorrow night to hear expert dissection of the seductive service provisions as they affect and will affect men of this profession. The meeting has been arranged and called by the State Council of Defense. The call for the conference states, with reference to the Nation's man-power bill, that it will "correct any false ideas that may be gaining headway."

FEELS WELL FIRST TIME IN TWO YEARS. Had a Prejudice Against Medicines Until He Began Taking Tanlac.

James Ogle, a well-known resident of Aurora, where he conducts a large wholesale produce and commission business, was in the Owl Drug Co.'s store the other day and told an interesting story of his recent recovery through the use of Tanlac from a severe case of stomach trouble that had worried him for a long time. In giving his experience with the "Master Medicine" Mr. Ogle said:

"I always had a prejudice against all kinds of medicines and never would take them, but I've got to hand it to Tanlac, for it certainly fixed me up all right and I have so much faith in it that I want to get some to send to my mother."

"For two years," he continued, "I suffered terribly from indigestion of the worst kind. Everything I ate, it mattered not what or how light the diet, would lay in my like lead and give me an awful pain in the pit of my stomach, and the only way I could get rid of the pain was to get rid of the food. I got so I couldn't eat anything that I could digest and lived mostly on milk and eggs. I gradually got worse all the time and fell off from a hundred and sixty-five pounds till I got down to a hundred and thirty pounds. My whole system was dreadfully run-down. I lost my energy and was so restless at night that I got little sleep, and when I would get up in the morning I would feel almost as tired and worn-out as I did on going to bed. I was in such an awful fix that I knew something had to be done mighty quick if I wanted to keep going."

"I had been reading about Tanlac relieving others, and, although I had but little faith in it, I finally decided to try it. Soon after finishing my second bottle those awful pains stopped troubling me and I can now eat anything of anything and my food digests all right. I am feeling 100 per cent better than I have in two years and attribute my recovery to nothing but the Tanlac I have taken. I am regaining my strength and energy, I sleep like a log all night and am getting back to where I enjoy life again."

Tanlac is sold in Portland by the Owl Drug Co.—Adv.

NORMAL SCHOOLS PLEA

SUPERINTENDENT CHURCHILL SUPPORTS RE-ESTABLISHMENT. Eastern and Southern Oregon Again Seek to Have State Train Teachers in Their Sections.

SALEM, Or., Sept. 12.—(Special).—The need that stands second to the paramount one of winning the war, is the need of more and better teachers to train the youth of the land, in the mind of Superintendent J. A. Churchill, who yesterday issued a statement in support of the bill providing for normal schools in Eastern and Southern Oregon.

"When the war is over the world is going to be rebuilt," said Mr. Churchill. "The world is going to be the highest conception of men and women who have been spiritualized through sorrow, through suffering and through sacrifice. The present boys and girls who are being educated will be called upon for the leadership in all the necessary readjustments that are to come in this new and related world that is going to rise out of the ruins of the old. America will be at the head of the council table of nations and will be called upon to do more than ever before. All forms of public education must be maintained, the most important of which is the normal school, where teachers are trained for efficient rural school service.

The establishment of two more normal schools in Oregon will bring returns a thousand fold, as the generation educated now under trained teachers can give the service as citizens as the responsibilities resting upon the next generation will demand."

HAWLEY NOT RETURNING

Duties Will Keep Representative Away Until After Elections. SALEM, Or., Sept. 12.—(Special).—Ronald C. Glover, secretary to Representative Hawley, who returned from Washington recently, has opened offices here and will remain until Congress convenes in December. He states that Representative Hawley probably will not return to Oregon this fall, as his duties in connection with the ways and means committee may keep him until after the November elections, unless Congress adjourns. Mr. Glover also states that at Mr. Hawley's office here he will give special attention to allotments, allowances due to dependent men in service, pension matters and matters pertaining to public lands and postal affairs.
