German Fortress Crumbles.

The capture of Montfaucon by the Americans was an achievement accom-panied with such stupendous difficulpanied with such stupendous difficulties that the credit due the troops can hardly be appreciated without a personal inspection of the heights they had to storm and the roads over which they had to march, the strategical disadvantags with which they were opposed and the minimum support of artillery.

The claim of the Germans that they had evacuated Monffaucon because of the danger of being surrounded perhaps is technically true, since they had sanger of envelopment. The latter village.

The claim of the Germans that they had evacuated Monffaucon because of the danger of being surrounded perhaps is technically true, since they continued to advance. After fighting in the western outskirts of Masnieres and Les Rues Vertes, they captured both of these villages and carried the defonsive system covering Rumilly, reaching the western outskirts of the latter village.

The movement, which had been prepared for some days, was carried out according to plan and was not disturbed by the enemy.

Engineers' Work Remarkable. It was perhaps fortunate that the ground is so rocky, for it served well the purpose of the engineers who had to be on the scene almost before the Infantry, preparing the way for supplies, ammunition trains and artillery. Hardly had the first wave proceeded in the wake of the retreating Germans than wake of the retreating Germans than thousands of men were on hand, digging feverishly and re-ballasting the roads. The engineers, like the infantry, quickly accomplished the seemingly impossible in making out of a solid belt of devastation nearly five miles wide, at least a passable road, over which anything from a mule cart to a five-ton truck might pass, carrying support to the fighting men ahead.

Mr. Harry L. Seaver of 69 Union street, Lynn, Mass., a carpenter, was subject to rheumatic attacks, and his experience will interest others who ffer in that way. Mr. Seaver says: "I had rheumatism off and on for twenty years. My work at one time kept me out in all kinds of weather, and dampness and exposure caused my affliction. I had dull aching pains in the left shoulder and in the right knee. They were so severe at times that they made it impossible for me to rest at night. I suffered with headache, had dizzy spells and was nervous. My stomach was out of order. I learned of a person who had used Dr. Williams' Pink Pills as a treatment for rheumatism, and this decided me to try them. They helped me and relieved me of pain. They have never failed in my case and I have recommended
