

OBJECTION MADE TO PROPOSED CAR LOOP

Company Contends Alteration Is War Measure.

SHIPWORKERS WOULD GAIN

Ex-Senator Mulkey, as a Property Owner, and Gerlinger Interests, Oppose Yamhill Street Use.

Whether an application of the Portland Railway, Light & Power Company for permission to lay a third rail on Yamhill street, between First and Second, so that, during the busy hours, some of the cars crossing the Hawthorne-avenue bridge can be routed via Yamhill instead of Alder street, is a war measure, because the change is in the interest of shipworkers in South Portland plants, is to be decided by the Commission of Public Docks.

There was a hearing held yesterday afternoon beginning at 2 o'clock and at the conclusion the testimony of Commissioner Knapp moved the matter be referred to the chairman and secretary to investigate and report at their next session and that another hearing would be held after that time. It was said by O. B. Caldwell, general superintendent of the Portland Railway, Light & Power Company, that the facilities on Yamhill street were desired by the Emergency Fleet Corporation.

Property Owner Objects.

Ex-Senator F. W. Mulkey, owner of property at Second and Morrison streets, said the same step was attempted three years ago by the Portland Railway, Light & Power Company and that it was changed from the Alder-street loop, and took occasion to refer to Traffic Expert West, of the Emergency Fleet Corporation, as a former employee of the company. That was refuted by Mr. Beckett, who said he was not the present application was the result of a conference between officials of the Fleet Corporation and that Mr. West was acting in the best of faith in the matter.

Judge Wallace McCamant, appearing for L. Gerlinger, owner of the Gerlinger building at Second and Alder streets, and the Odessa building at Second and Alder streets, also objected to the Yamhill-street loop being allowed, saying that while there was an estimate that probably 25 cars would be routed that way, there was nothing in the ordinance to prevent the company sending all of its cars via Yamhill street. On behalf of Mr. Gerlinger he said the original cost of the Gerlinger building was $180,000, and that it netted only 3 per cent now while, if the looping of cars was changed, owing to so much depending on its value because of the proximity to the transfer point, it would not be worth $50,000.

WOODS CALL FOR MEN

ONE HUNDRED AND FIFTY TO GO TO SPRUCE DIVISION.

Apportionments Made for Oregon Divisions to Entrain for Vancouver On or About Oct. 14.

Apportionments were made yesterday by the State Selective Service Bureau under a new call which will take 150 limited service men from Oregon divisions and place them in the Spruce Division of the Army. It is stipulated that the men inducted must have no physical defects which will prevent them from doing work in the woods.

PRECINCT WORKERS READY

SERVICES IN HOUSING SURVEY ARE VOLUNTEERED.

Theaters, Churches, Merchants and Children Will Assist in Important Underfaking.

Fully 90 per cent of the precinct workers of Portland have volunteered their services to aid in securing a complete emergency survey of the city's available rooms, apartments and dwellings, and do everything possible on October 14 and 15 to make the survey a success. Letters were sent to the 4000 precinct officials, asking whether they would donate their services, and the response was highly gratifying.

Sydney B. Vincent, publicity manager, placed an order for 125,000 cards yesterday, and these are to be distributed by merchants. Drawings are being made for a series of posters, similar to those used in Liberty loan campaigns, while the theaters are to be asked to project publicity slides at each performance. All posters will be requested to present the importance of the survey to their congregations next Sunday. School children, also, are being enlisted for the undertaking, on which largely will depend Portland's future prosperity.

The committee in charge will meet this afternoon to further perfect plans, and precinct workers will receive instructions Friday evening at meetings to be held in Lincoln, Washington and Jefferson high schools.

Theatrical Review.

Pantages.

Diverting, and of excellent entertaining merit, is Pantages new bill, opening yesterday with Sinclair and Dixon, a pair of clever comedians of the spontaneous variety, featured in the musical comedy called "Olives." "Olives" is a sort of pasword in the romance the two young chaps are following up with a lively lass who used to add the little green pickles. So these two men ask every fair maid they meet if she cares for "olives." Don't sound like much on which to build an entire musical show in several acts with a dozen song specialties and chorus changes, but it suffices nobly and with fine comedy effects.

Cliff Dixon has a capital voice which he uses in great style to get the best out of several songs he offers.

Frank Sinclair is a fast, snappy worker in comedy, and his pantomime is a show in itself.

All the girls, six of them, are shapely and sing nicely with a lot of pretty costume changes. The heroine is Myrtle Lawler, who has a delightful singing voice and expressive dancing feet.

Of the many specialties in the "Olives" one stands out for the pleasant memories it recalls of a number of musical shows of other days. There's a Florida specialty, a Yama Yama number, one from the "Merry Widow," one from the "Prince of Denmark" and Lotta Faust's celebrated "Sammie" song. All of these are done cleverly and interwoven into a song by Dixon called "Waiting for a Girl." He passes 'em all up, even a Winter Garden doll, and picks out a simple, modest little waltz who sits on the doorstep and waits for him.

Of the other acts Britt Wood, billed as a bob, and looking it, is the cleverest sort of an entertainer. Britt just saunters in and twangs a guitar while he sings lazily and then gets into musical and dance action with his harmonica. He is in a class with Britt Wood, and has every one yelling for more.

Octavia Handworth and Gordon De Maine offer a brilliant little sketch called "Twice a Week," in which a devoted widower and a devoted widow meet at their departed partners' graves and exchange revelations. Despite its unusual atmosphere, the sketch is a riot, full of fun and humor, and is delightfully enacted. P. J. Murphy as a sexton is a joy.

The Pollis sisters, plus Nat Le Roy, offer gay songs and quick-fire dances with novel eccentric touches and a happy development of original ideas in entrances and exits.

A sextet of red-white-and-blue-clad lassies are the "Over the Top" girls, who sing up-to-the-minute patriotic songs pleasingly. Ruth Roland is still being applauded by the Indian ladies in the seventh episode of "Hands Up."

HOLD WHEAT, SAYS HOOVER

FARMERS ADVISED NOT TO SELL UNDER FEDERAL PRICE.

Food Administration Declares That All Grain Will Be Moved After Present Emergency Ceases.

All wheat at tidewater and that in the country within the demands of the Government will be taken care of and consigned to the market as soon as needed in France and in other countries where combatant forces are operating, but for the present, vessels expected to be assigned to the movement of cereal have been pressed into service for moving actual war munitions, troops and the like.

Assurances that there is no occasion for the concern of growers have been received by Max H. Houser, vice-president of the Food Administration Grain Corporation. Houser yesterday was informed of the true situation in a message from Food Administrator Hoover as follows:

Enlarged demands by General Pershing for material for the fighting front, has necessitated temporary diversion of grain ships to his service. This Corporation has been advised that the movement of cereal has been pressed into service for moving actual war munitions, troops and the like.

Reported that some farmers have become panicky and are selling wheat at a price below the market. It is pointed out for this. If holders will have a little patience wheat will all be moved and full price secured by every grower.

The new inductees of this call, No. 1380, will be entrained for Vancouver on or about October 14. The reservoir of limited and special service registrants from old classifications is fast being depleted in Oregon and, presumably, in other states.

PEASE TO BE TRIED NOV. 20

Demurrer of Alleged Enemy of Red Cross Overruled.

Federal Judge Bean yesterday overruled the demurrer in the case of A. A. Pease, who was arrested on a charge of making derogatory statements about the Red Cross and the case was set for trial November 20.

In the case of Nels Lund the court took its decision on the demurrer under advisement. Lund, who is house physician at St. Vincent's Hospital, is alleged to have written a letter containing disloyal statements to a friend in China.

YANKS BEGIN NEW DRIVE, SAYS BERLIN

Assault Started Toward Dark East of Argonne Forest.

CAMBRAI SECTOR IS QUIET

Germans Admit Retiring to Positions on Aisne and Sulppe, and Say Allies Are on Heels.

BERLIN, via London, Oct. 7.—The Americans this evening began an attack against the Germans between the Argonne forest and the Meuse, according to the German official communication issued tonight. The German statement issued this morning reads: "Flanders.—In front of Cambrai the day was quiet. North of St. Quentin heavy fighting has been kept up almost uninterruptedly since the middle of September. In spite of repeatedly bringing fresh formations into action, the enemy has not been able to obtain any successes here worth mentioning up to the present."

"Yesterday, also, his attacks, which developed in the forenoon northeast of Le Cateau and on both sides of Essegny-Le Petit, were repulsed north of St. Quentin, broke down. Repulse of Allies Alleged.

"The enemy, who first gained ground from the Somme Canal in the direction of Essegny-Le Petit, was pressed back as far as Renaucourt by successful counter-attacks and nocturnal raids."

"The enemy followed us closely toward our new positions on the Aisne and the Sulppe, between Pontavert and Bazancourt, and frequently launched attacks against them. Near Pontavert and Berry-au-Lac, on both sides of the Rheims-Neufchatel road and near Bazancourt, the enemy was repulsed everywhere."

"At isolated points small detachments maintained a hold on the north bank of the Sulppe. The enemy attacked with strong forces on the Arnes and west of St. Etienne. Here also his attacks met with no success owing to counter-attacks by the Germans."

"On the battle front in Champagne there was a lull in the fighting yesterday after 10 days of bitter combat. East of St. Etienne, near Orfeuil and Autry, partial attacks by the enemy broke out. Strong reconnoitering thrusts on the rest of the front were repulsed."

Americans Give No Rest to Foe.

"Between the Argonne and the Meuse the Americans continued their violent attacks. The center of gravity of the enemy's attacks yesterday lay on both sides of the road leading from Charpeny to Romagne."

AMSTERDAM, Oct. 7.—The Berlin Tageblatt's correspondent, Hageler, writing from Montmedy, October 1, describes the attack made by the Americans in the Argonne forest during a dense fog, in which American small, fast tanks, like phantoms, suddenly coming out of the depths, took part and fell upon the Germans in the rear.

"The result," says the correspondent, "naturally was wild confusion. They got right into our artillery positions. Before the fog lifted, and that was late in the afternoon, we had some anxious hours. Contact between the regiments and with the higher command was broken, except for carrier pigeons and runners, as all wires were down and heliographing was impossible."

"About midday the weather cleared. We found a break through had failed, but the enemy held the line of Dannevoire-Montmedy. Pressing forward beyond Malmedy, the Americans very nearly captured the whole of a regimental staff. The staff was released by our counter attack."

TWO SITES ARE OFFERED. LOCATIONS FOR HOMES HEAD-QUARTERS ARE CONSIDERED. Work on Building 2000 Cottages by January 1 to Start When Office Building Is Arranged. In response to the call issued Saturday by Vice-President Powers, of the housing committee, John Clark, owner of the lot at the northwest corner of Fourth and Stark streets, tendered the use of that tract of land for use of the committee in erecting a building to be used as headquarters for the Homes Corporation and its various departments. The lot in question is located near the heart of the business section and but a short distance from the old Almsworth National Bank building, in which headquarters of the Placement Bureau are located. Acceptance has not been voted by the committee, but it was announced yesterday that advantage would undoubtedly be taken of Mr. Clark's offer unless a more suitable site were offered. Harry Hamlet, owner of a vacant lot at Eleventh and Davis streets, offered the use of that tract to the committee, and it is being considered also as a possible headquarters for the Homes Corporation. At its meeting yesterday afternoon.
